Members of 15 Unions to Get Wage Boost Plus Living Cost Adjustment

Washington, March 1 (AP)—The White House—beset by a labor revolt over wage controls—early today hammered out a pay settlement for 1,000,000 non-operating railroad workers.

The pact will give members of the 15 unions involved an immediate 12½ cent an hour wage boost, plus a cost of living adjustment every three months.

The non-operating employes—who include shop workers, clerks and machinists—now receive average pay of $1.48 an hour.

The first of the cost-of-living adjustment—due April 1—is expected to add four or five cents an hour.

The agreement, reached after an all-night session, also provides for so-called "productivity" raises starting July 1, 1952, if the government's stabilization program permits payments such as those spelled out in some auto workers' contracts.

It was the government's inability to win organized labor's support for a wage stablization formula that led to a decision by the United Labor Policy Committee last night to pull out of all participation in the mobilization program.

Free To Concentrate

Settlement of the non-operating union's wage fight after only four months of negotiations left rail mediators free to concentrate on efforts to bring about an agreement with the four big operating brotherhoods. Their two-year-old dispute finally led to government seizue of the railroads last fall.

Presidential Assistant John R. Steelman announced today's settlement at an early-morning news conference.

Auriol May Select All Party Setup

French President Tries to Solve New Crisis, Pave for Elections in June

Move Is Hailed

Laurens Says Auriol Is in Agreement With Idea

Paris, March 1 (AP)—President Vincent Auriol was reported today considering the appointment of an all-party national union cabinet in an attempt to solve the latest government crisis and pave the way for general elections next June.

The elections are scheduled now for next autumn, but Auriol was said to be planning to ask Parliament to move up the date.

The president conferred steadily with party leaders in an effort to find a new premier to replace Rene Pleven, who resigned last night in a squabble over proposed electoral changes.

Deputy Camille Laurens of the small Peasant party said after conferring with Auriol: "We believe a government of national union (taking in all parties) would permit rapid electoral reform and a return before the voters in June. The president seemed pretty much in agreement with that."

May Choose Bidault

Predictions were that Auriol would choose Georges Bidault of the Catholic, Popular Republican movement to head the cabinet. Bidault has served as premier twice before.

Auriol had asked Pleven to try to reform a cabinet, but the premier declined.

Emmanuel Temple, Independent deputy who also talked with Auriol, said he told the president of the need for a rapid solution of the crisis to avoid letting France make "a spectacle of incoherence and division at the moment when the president is due to leave for the United States."

Auriol plans to visit President Truman at the end of March.

A group of middle-of-the-road deputies, headed by Vincent De Moro-Giaferri already is backing a constitutional amendment in Parliament calling for a national referendum to let the voters decide for themselves on their electoral system.

Pleven and his three-party coalition cabinet resigned last night, after slightly more than seven months in office, when the National Assembly became hopelessly deadlocked on proposed electoral changes.

The national elections are scheduled for next fall. The changes must be made fairly soon to allow the authorities to arrange the ballots in time.

Voters Would Decide

The new proposal would let the voters decide whether their next Parliament would be chosen on a personal candidacy basis or by proportional representation, and whether the election would be only a single ballot or would include a runoff.

These issues caused the downfall of the Pleven government. The Assembly late yesterday voted down the single ballot system 311 to 295. Rather than ask for a vote of confidence on the runoff system, Pleven resigned after a behind-the-scenes count convinced him such a motion would be defeated.

Russia Will Meet In Paris March 5 For Big 4 Parley

Acceptance Is Handed to Ambasadors of 3 Nations; to Form Program

Moscow, March 1 (AP)—Russia agreed today to a western proposal for a Big Four deputy foreign ministers' meeting in Paris March 5 to lay the groundwork for a Big Four foreign ministers' meeting.

The Russian acceptance was handed to the ambassadors of the United States, Britain and France. They were called to the Soviet foreign office to receive a reply to parallel notes their governments sent Feb. 19 suggesting such a meeting.

The deputies will try to map out an agenda for a proposed Big Four council of foreign ministers meeting to discuss problems causing world tension.

To Meet at Palais Rose

The French foreign office yesterday announced that it had chosen the "Pink Palace" (Palais Rose) in Paris as the meeting place of the deputies.

If these preliminary talks can bring about a Big Four foreign ministers' conference, it will be the ninth since the Potsdam agreement of 1945 provided for such meetings. The last one was held in the fall of 1949, when the Big Four failed to agree on an independence treaty for occupied Austria.

Marines Win Heights From Chinese Troops

Other Marines Push Up Nearby Hills in Drive on 40,000 Man Force in Central Korea; Allied Planes Give Big Assist

Tokyo, March 1 (AP)—American Leathernecks wielding bayonets in hillside dugouts today won two key heights from the Chinese Reds near Hoengsong.

Other marines fought slowly up nearby hills in a renewed drive on the heart of a 40,000 man Communist force in central Korea.

The Reds counter-attacked fiercely at 3 p. m., southwest of Hoengsong.

Allied warplanes shot up enemy troops, vehicles, buildings and gun positions. The Fifth Air Force's score by late Thursday afternoon: 170 Reds killed or wounded; two tanks destroyed; and 69 other vehicles, 300 buildings; four gun positions and a supply dump destroyed or damaged.

Near Seoul, American troops invaded Sand Island in the Han river but withdrew after a five-hour fight. They had landed in assault boats on a mission to clear the way for tank crossings.

The main ground action was on the central front, in the sector where allied officers have predicted the Chinese would mount their expected counter-attacks.

'Greater Determination'

After the Reds struck southwest of Hoengsong, a frontline officer said the Communists were "showing a greater determination to remain in the areas where they are in contact with allied forces. They are fighting stronger delaying actions."

The sphearheading marines, veering from a northeasterly attack, struck due north in rugged fighting for vital hill positions around Hoengsong.

They seized the two main crests of Cloverleaf Hill, closest height to Hoengsong.

The main action at the center of the line sparked similar allied ad-

Comptroller Cites Huge Task, if Kefauver Got His Way

Albany, N. Y., March 1 (AP)—The state comptroller held out today for specific information on what legislative pay roll data is wanted by the U. S. Senate's Crime Investigating Committee.

J. Raymond McGovern said he had received a written request from the Kefauver committee's chief counsel, Rudolph Halley, for a copy of the Legislature's payroll.

McGovern said his office would "cooperate in every way." But he added that he had telephoned Halley, and had asked him to be more specific.

The comptroller said Halley told him he would "explore" the matter and confer with him later.

Dallas, March 1 (AP) — A youthful air force veteran, checking an unlatched door on a Pioneer Airlines plane, plunged 4,000 feet from the craft early today over the little town of Exell, Tex.

Around him were 20 sleeping United States airmen, unaware that the flier had fallen.

The plane was en route from Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, to Lowry Field, Denver.

Strandlund Names Dunham Member Of Finance Clique

Says R.F.C. Director Was Working With Young, Jacobs to Get Corporation

Washington, March 1 (AP)—Carl G. Strandlund accused an RFC director today of working with "financial wolves" he said had brought his Lustron prefabricated housing plant to financial ruin in efforts to enrich themselves.

He named RFC Director Walter L. Dunham, E. Merl Young, Washington insurance man, and Rex Jacobs, Detroit manufacturer, as leaders of "a small clique" bent on wresting from him control of the Lustron Corporation's big plant at Columbus, Ohio.

Strandlund told his story to a Senate Banking Subcommittee which is investigating charges the RFC, huge government lending agency, has yielded to political pressures.

Young, Wife in Focus

Much of the subcommittee's hearings, now in the second week, have centered about activities of Young, whose wife is a White House stenographer. There was testimony earlier this week that an attorney, interested in RFC loans, paid for a $9,540 mink coat Mrs. Young got from a New York furrier last fall. Young and the lawyer both said the payment was a loan to Young.

While Strandlund was testifying at the Capitol, reporters were asking President Truman at his news conference whether Mrs. Young would continue as a White House employe. The President said he had no comment.

Mr. Truman also brushed aside with a refusal to comment other questions about the RFC investigation. One question was whether he still regards as asinine a report the Senate subcommittee made to the Senate last month.

The report said the RFC had yielded to influence in making loans and named Young and White House aide Donald Dawson as among those who had influenced the big lending agency.

It's an Old Timer

Washington, March 1 (AP)—The navy said today the celestial object it first presumed to be a new "minor planet" now turns out to be an old timer. It's the asteroid, or minor planet "Thalia" which was first noted early in the 19th century. The Thalia every five years or so comes within 100,000,000 to 200,000,000 miles of the earth. It's about 50 miles in diameter. Navy Astronomer William Markowitz, who first noted photographic evidence of the object last Saturday night, said he thought it might be a new asteroid because it showed "unusual" characteristics of luminosity and speed. Also, it was noted in a part of the sky where asteroids are not commonly observed.

Gambling 'Take' Viewed As Costing More Than Clothes

Washington, March 1 (AP)—If organized gambling is taking in $20,000,000,000 a year in this country, the American people are putting more into bets than they are into clothing and shoes.

Furthermore, gambling outlays of that size are considerably larger than total retail expenditures for autos and parts plus gas and oil, or the aggregate prices of houses bought—and, indeed, nearly one-third as much as total retail spending on food and drink.

The Senate Crime Committee produced the whopping gambling figure in a report issued yesterday, but it didn't itemize or make clear just how it arrived at its estimate or what it was counting in the total.

"In all," the report said, "the committee figures, conservatively, that $20,000,000,000 changes hands every year in the United States as a result of organized, illegal gambling."

Committee staff sources expressed doubt that the report was "double counting"—that is, counting money once when taken in on bets and counting it again when paid out to winners and taking care of operating expenses.

One staff member suggested it was comparable to a merchant's sales or turnover—which would mean gross intake from the standpoint of a slot machine operator or horse race bookmaker, or total bet from the public's standpoint.

Staff members acknowledged the estimate necessarily had to be a "best guess," dealing as it did

Settlement Is Reported In Rails' Wage Dispute

Martha Beck Due To Die March 8

If Electrocution Occurs She Will Be 8th Woman to Go to Chair

Albany, N. Y., March 1 (AP)—Volatile, bosomy Martha Beck, condemned to electrocution a week from tonight, will be the eighth woman to die in the chair in New York state for murder. All could trace their doom to warped love or a lust for money.

Martha, now 31, and her balding lover, Raymond Fernandez, 36, have been sentenced for the "Lonely Hearts" killing of widowed Janet Fay of Albany in 1949.

Martha, who left her two children in Florida to live with Fernandez, was accused of helping him fleece lonely widows with his promises of marriage.

The first woman to die, in 1899, was Martha Place of Brooklyn, a large, raw-boned woman who killed her 16-year-old stepdaughter in a fit of jealous passion. She was electrocuted at Sing Sing prison.

The gray prison at Auburn was the scene of the second execution, in 1909, that of Mary Farmer, a poverty-stricken Irish native who married a farmer near Watertown. She and her husband was convicted of killing a neighbor for her property, in order to care for their infant son. The husband won a new trial and later was released.

First Died in 1890

The first person electrocuted in the state was William Kemmler. He went to his death at Auburn on August 6, 1890, for killing his sweetheart, Matilda Ziegler.

The Auburn death chamber also was used for the assassin of President McKinley, Leon F. Czolgosz, in 1901. And there, too, Chester E. Gilette died in 1908 for drowning his sweetheart, Grace Brown. The touching case provided Theodore Dreiser with material for his classic novel, "An American Tragedy."

In 1914, a state law ordered that all executions be done at Sing Sing.

Includes Ruth Snyder

The list of women sent to the electric chair includes the adventurous Ruth Snyder of Queens Village. She went to her death in 1928 with her lover, Judd Gray, for the murder of her husband.

Mrs. Anna Antonio of Albany died in 1934 for killing her husband to obtain his insurance.

Blonde "Little Eva" Coo, who ran a road house in Otsego county, was executed in 1935 for killing a handy man for the insurance she had taken on his life.

Love led Mrs. Mary Frances Creighton to murder. She and Everett Appelgate were electrocuted in 1936 for poisoning Appelgate's wife.

Robbery and murder brought death to Helen Fowler and George Knight, Nov. 10, 1944. The Negro pair had been found guilty of slaying George Fowler of Ransomville in a holdup at his service station. Helen and George Fowler were not related.

The scheduled executions of Martha Beck and Fernandez will raise to 640 those who have paid the extreme penalty in New York state.

Gilberto C. Walker, 27, is slated to die tonight for the holdup slaying of Pedro Sepulveda in Manhattan.

Two others are to take their last walk a week from tonight—John J. King, and Richard J. Powers, both 22, who killed William Hupe of Queens last year.

Members of 15 Unions to Get Wage Boost Plus Living Cost Adjustment

Washington, March 1 (AP)—The White House—beset by a labor revolt over wage controls—early today hammered out a pay settlement for 1,000,000 non-operating railroad workers.

The pact will give members of the 15 unions involved an immediate 12½ cent an hour wage boost, plus a cost of living adjustment every three months.

The non-operating employes—who include shop workers, clerks and machinists—now receive average pay of $1.48 an hour.

The first of the cost-of-living adjustment—due April 1—is expected to add four or five cents an hour.

The agreement, reached after an all-night session, also provides for so-called "productivity" raises starting July 1, 1952, if the government's stabilization program permits payments such as those spelled out in some auto workers' contracts.

Russia Will Meet In Paris March 5 For Big 4 Parley

Acceptance Is Handed to Ambassadors of 3 Nations; to Form Program

Moscow, March 1 (AP)—Russia agreed today to a western proposal for a Big Four deputy foreign ministers' meeting in Paris March 5 to lay the groundwork for a Big Four foreign ministers' meeting.

The Russian acceptance was handed to the ambassadors of the United States, Britain and France. They were called to the Soviet foreign office to receive a reply to parallel notes their governments sent Feb. 19 suggesting such a meeting.

The deputies will try to map out an agenda for a proposed Big Four council of foreign ministers meeting to discuss problems causing world tension.

To Meet at Palais Rose

The French foreign office yesterday announced that it had chosen the "Pink Palace" (Palais Rose) in Paris as the meeting place of the deputies.

If these preliminary talks can bring about a Big Four foreign ministers' conference, it will be the ninth since the Potsdam agreement of 1945 provided for such meetings. The last one was held in the fall of 1949, when the Big Four failed to agree on an independence treaty for occupied Austria.

Marines Win Heights From Chinese Troops

Other Marines Push Up Nearby Hills in Drive on 40,000 Man Force in Central Korea; Allied Planes Give Big Assist

Tokyo, March 1 (AP)—American Leathernecks wielding bayonets in hillside dugouts today won two key heights from the Chinese Reds near Hoengsong.

Other marines fought slowly up nearby hills in a renewed drive on the heart of a 40,000 man Communist force in central Korea.

The Reds counter-attacked fiercely at 3 p. m., southwest of Hoengsong.

Allied warplanes shot up enemy troops, vehicles, buildings and gun positions. The Fifth Air Force's score by late Thursday afternoon: 170 Reds killed or wounded; two tanks destroyed; and 69 other vehicles, 300 buildings; four gun positions and a supply dump destroyed or damaged.

Near Seoul, American troops invaded Sand Island in the Han river but withdrew after a five-hour fight. They had landed in assault boats on a mission to clear the way for tank crossings.

The main ground action was on the central front, in the sector where allied officers have predicted the Chinese would mount their expected counter-attacks.

'Greater Determination'

After the Reds struck southwest of Hoengsong, a frontline officer said the Communists were "showing a greater determination to remain in the areas where they are in contact with allied forces. They are fighting stronger delaying actions."

The sphearheading marines, veering from a northeasterly attack, struck due north in rugged fighting for vital hill positions around Hoengsong.

They seized the two main crests of Cloverleaf Hill, closest height to Hoengsong.

Comptroller Cites Huge Task, if Kefauver Got His Way

Albany, N. Y., March 1 (AP)—The state comptroller held out today for specific information on what legislative pay roll data is wanted by the U. S. Senate's Crime Investigating Committee.

J. Raymond McGovern said he had received a written request from the Kefauver committee's chief counsel, Rudolph Halley, for a copy of the Legislature's payroll.

McGovern said his office would "cooperate in every way." But he added that he had telephoned Halley, and had asked him to be more specific.

The comptroller said Halley told him he would "explore" the matter and confer with him later.

Strandlund Names Dunham Member Of Finance Clique

Says R.F.C. Director Was Working With Young, Jacobs to Get Corporation

Washington, March 1 (AP)—Carl G. Strandlund accused an RFC director today of working with "financial wolves" he said had brought his Lustron prefabricated housing plant to financial ruin in efforts to enrich themselves.

He named RFC Director Walter L. Dunham, E. Merl Young, Washington insurance man, and Rex Jacobs, Detroit manufacturer, as leaders of "a small clique" bent on wresting from him control of the Lustron Corporation's big plant at Columbus, Ohio.

Strandlund told his story to a Senate Banking Subcommittee which is investigating charges the RFC, huge government lending agency, has yielded to political pressures.

Young, Wife in Focus

Much of the subcommittee's hearings, now in the second week, have centered about activities of Young, whose wife is a White House stenographer. There was testimony earlier this week that an attorney, interested in RFC loans, paid for a $9,540 mink coat Mrs. Young got from a New York furrier last fall. Young and the lawyer both said the payment was a loan to Young.

While Strandlund was testifying at the Capitol, reporters were asking President Truman at his news conference whether Mrs. Young would continue as a White House employe. The President said he had no comment.

Mr. Truman also brushed aside with a refusal to comment other questions about the RFC investigation. One question was whether he still regards as asinine a report the Senate subcommittee made to the Senate last month.

The report said the RFC had yielded to influence in making loans and named Young and White House aide Donald Dawson as among those who had influenced the big lending agency.

It's an Old Timer

Washington, March 1 (AP)—The navy said today the celestial object it first presumed to be a new "minor planet" now turns out to be an old timer. It's the asteroid, or minor planet "Thalia" which was first noted early in the 19th century. The Thalia every five years or so comes within 100,000,000 to 200,000,000 miles of the earth. It's about 50 miles in diameter. Navy Astronomer William Markowitz, who first noted photographic evidence of the object last Saturday night, said he thought it might be a new asteroid because it showed "unusual" characteristics of luminosity and speed. Also, it was noted in a part of the sky where asteroids are not commonly observed.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, March 1 (AP)—The position of the Treasury Feb. 27: Net budget receipts, $251,827,432.58; budget expenditures, $149,091,736.26; cash balance, $5,476,409,156.46; customs receipts for month, $46,949,756.56; budget receipts fiscal year July 1, $27,034,799,211.95; budget expenditures fiscal year, $25,506,148,890.01; budget surplus, $1,528,650,321.94; total debt, $255,973,290,360.97; increase over previous day, $15,277,345.86; gold assets, $22,086,546,290.96.

Gambling 'Take' Viewed As Costing More Than Clothes

Washington, March 1 (AP)—If organized gambling is taking in $20,000,000,000 a year in this country, the American people are putting more into bets than they are into clothing and shoes.

Furthermore, gambling outlays of that size are considerably larger than total retail expenditures for autos and parts plus gas and oil, or the aggregate prices of houses bought—and, indeed, nearly one-third as much as total retail spending on food and drink.

The Senate Crime Committee produced the whopping gambling figure in a report issued yesterday, but it didn't itemize or make clear just how it arrived at its estimate or what it was counting in the total.

"In all," the report said, "the committee figures, conservatively, that $20,000,000,000 changes hands every year in the United States as a result of organized, illegal gambling."

Committee staff sources expressed doubt that the report was "double counting"—that is, counting money once when taken in on bets and counting it again when paid out to winners and taking care of operating expenses.

One staff member suggested it was comparable to a merchant's sales or turnover—which would mean gross intake from the standpoint of a slot machine operator or horse race bookmaker, or total bet from the public's standpoint.

Staff members acknowledged the estimate necessarily had to be a "best guess," dealing as it did

Refuse to Pay 'War' Tax

Mr. and Mrs. Francis B. Riggs go over their Federal income tax statement at Cambridge, Mass., after announcing that for the eighth successive year they would refuse to pay that part of tax they estimate would go for "war." This year they are refusing to pay 94.2 per cent of their tax. Riggs, 69, retired school headmaster, says their stand is the "older peoples" equivalent of that taken by younger men who go to conscientious objectors' camps rather than fight. Auriol May Select All Party Setup

French President Tries to Solve New Crisis, Pave for Elections in June

Laurens Says Auriol Is in Agreement With Idea

Paris, March 1 (AP)—President Vincent Auriol was reported today considering the appointment of an all-party national union cabinet in an attempt to solve the latest government crisis and pave the way for general elections next June.

The elections are scheduled now for next autumn, but Auriol was said to be planning to ask Parliament to move up the date.

The president conferred steadily with party leaders in an effort to find a new premier to replace Rene Pleven, who resigned last night in a squabble over proposed electoral changes.

Deputy Camille Laurens of the small Peasant party said after conferring with Auriol: "We believe a government of national union (taking in all parties) would permit rapid electoral reform and a return before the voters in June. The president seemed pretty much in agreement with that."

May Choose Bidault

Predictions were that Auriol would choose Georges Bidault of the Catholic, Popular Republican movement to head the cabinet. Bidault has served as premier twice before.

Auriol had asked Pleven to try to reform a cabinet, but the premier declined.

Emmanuel Temple, Independent deputy who also talked with Auriol, said he told the president of the need for a rapid solution of the crisis to avoid letting France make "a spectacle of incoherence and division at the moment when the president is due to leave for the United States."

Auriol plans to visit President Truman at the end of March.

A group of middle-of-the-road deputies, headed by Vincent De Moro-Giaferri already is backing a constitutional amendment in Parliament calling for a national referendum to let the voters decide for themselves on their electoral system.

Pleven and his three-party coalition cabinet resigned last night, after slightly more than seven months in office, when the National Assembly became hopelessly deadlocked on proposed electoral changes.

The national elections are scheduled for next fall. The changes must be made fairly soon to allow the authorities to arrange the ballots in time.

Voters Would Decide

The new proposal would let the voters decide whether their next Parliament would be chosen on a personal candidacy basis or by proportional representation, and whether the election would be only a single ballot or would include a runoff.

These issues caused the downfall of the Pleven government. The Assembly late yesterday voted down the single ballot system 311 to 295. Rather than ask for a vote of confidence on the runoff system, Pleven resigned after a behind-the-scenes count convinced him such a motion would be defeated.

Such a defeat on a confidence

Pilot Plunges 4,000 Feet Over Southwest

Dallas, March 1 (AP) — A youthful air force veteran, checking an unlatched door on a Pioneer Airlines plane, plunged 4,000 feet from the craft early today over the little town of Exell, Tex.

Around him were 20 sleeping United States airmen, unaware that the flier had fallen.

The body of Joseph Henry Dowd, 27, of Dallas, co-pilot of the chartered plane, was recovered near the Exell Helium plant, about 30 miles northwest of Amarillo. It was spotted hours later by an aerial searching party.

The plane was en route from Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, to Lowry Field, Denver.

Survivors include his widow and a child.

President Says He Has Confidence

Chief Executive Has No Sense of Crisis, Still Plans to Go South for Vacation

Sees No 'Strike'

Situation No Walkout, He Says, Merely Disagreement

Washington, March 1 (AP)—President Truman said today Charles E. Wilson will remain as defense mobilization director despite labor's walkout from the program.

Mr. Truman told a news conference he has full confidence in Wilson.

Although labor's refusal to have any further part in the present setup threatened to imperil the whole defense program, Mr. Truman indicated he felt no sense of crisis.

He told reporters he say nothing in the current situation to prevent his flying to Key West, Fla., tomorrow for a vacation. He plans to stay about three weeks.

The top men of labor decided last night to boycott the program in what amounted to a "no confidence" vote in the way it is being run.

'Robbery' Is Protested

The united labor policy committee—made up of representatives from the big labor union organizations—protested what it termed "legalized robbery" in price control, "unjust" wage ceilings and "big business domination" of the defense drive.

Their break from the mobilization agencies, as they are now constituted, carried with it the ominous threat of widespread industrial unrest.

Reporters, on meeting with Mr. Truman, put a series of questions about the situation.

Did he plan any public appeal to the labor leaders, one asked.

Mr. Truman said he couldn't comment on that.

"Do you regard it as a very serious situation?" No, the President said, I do not.

Someone in the back of the room said he didn't get the question and answer.

Not Serious, He Repeats

Mr. Truman repeated the question and said he had replied to the reporter, no, I didn't (think it very serious).

Mr. Truman was asked how long he might "sit" on the problem. He said he never did sit on any problem.

He said he did not consider the walkout a strike. In response to a question along that line, he said Oh, no, it's just a disagreement.

He said Eric Johnston, economic stabilization administrator, made a sincere effort to work out a modification of the wage set up.

Mr. Truman was asked if he expected labor to return to the mobilization program.

He said he would tell the reporters about that in about two weeks.

Under questioning, he was vague as to what he meant by that. But he said it might be one week, two weeks or three months.

This prompted the question as to whether he planned to sit on the problem that long.

It was then Mr. Truman said he never sits on any problem.

'No Comment'

"Do you feel the mobilization agencies can operate without the active support of organized labor?" A reporter asked.

Mr. Truman, smiling as he did throughout the conference, replied no comment.

Finally a reporter suggested one of the principal objections of labor's policy committee seemed to be to keeping Wilson as director of defense mobilization.

He asked if Mr. Truman planned any change in directors. The President said he did not.

Someone asked whether Mr. Wilson still had his full confidence.

He certainly has, Mr. Truman replied.

Settlement Is Reported In Rails' Wage Dispute

Martha Beck Due To Die March 8

If Electrocution Occurs She Will Be 8th Woman to Go to Chair

Albany, N. Y., March 1 (AP)—Volatile, bosomy Martha Beck, condemned to electrocution a week from tonight, will be the eighth woman to die in the chair in New York state for murder. All could trace their doom to warped love or a lust for money.

Martha, now 31, and her balding lover, Raymond Fernandez, 36, have been sentenced for the "Lonely Hearts" killing of widowed Janet Fay of Albany in 1949.

Martha, who left her two children in Florida to live with Fernandez, was accused of helping him fleece lonely widows with his promises of marriage.

The first woman to die, in 1899, was Martha Place of Brooklyn, a large, raw-boned woman who killed her 16-year-old stepdaughter in a fit of jealous passion. She was electrocuted at Sing Sing prison.

The gray prison at Auburn was the scene of the second execution, in 1909, that of Mary Farmer, a poverty-stricken Irish native who married a farmer near Watertown. She and her husband was convicted of killing a neighbor for her property, in order to care for their infant son. The husband won a new trial and later was released.

First Died in 1890

The first person electrocuted in the state was William Kemmler. He went to his death at Auburn on August 6, 1890, for killing his sweetheart, Matilda Ziegler.

The Auburn death chamber also was used for the assassin of President McKinley, Leon F. Czolgosz, in 1901. And there, too, Chester E. Gilette died in 1908 for drowning his sweetheart, Grace Brown. The touching case provided Theodore Dreiser with material for his classic novel, "An American Tragedy."

In 1914, a state law ordered that all executions be done at Sing Sing.

Includes Ruth Snyder

The list of women sent to the electric chair includes the adventurous Ruth Snyder of Queens Village. She went to her death in 1928 with her lover, Judd Gray, for the murder of her husband.

Mrs. Anna Antonio of Albany died in 1934 for killing her husband to obtain his insurance.

Blonde "Little Eva" Coo, who ran a road house in Otsego county, was executed in 1935 for killing a handy man for the insurance she had taken on his life.

Love led Mrs. Mary Frances Creighton to murder. She and Everett Appelgate were electrocuted in 1936 for poisoning Appelgate's wife.

Robbery and murder brought death to Helen Fowler and George Knight, Nov. 10, 1944. The Negro pair had been found guilty of slaying George Fowler of Ransomville in a holdup at his service station. Helen and George Fowler were not related.

The scheduled executions of Martha Beck and Fernandez will raise to 640 those who have paid the extreme penalty in New York state.

Gilberto C. Walker, 27, is slated to die tonight for the holdup slaying of Pedro Sepulveda in Manhattan.

Two others are to take their last walk a week from tonight—John J. King, and Richard J. Powers, both 22, who killed William Hupe of Queens last year.

Members of 15 Unions to Get Wage Boost Plus Living Cost Adjustment

Washington, March 1 (AP)—The White House—beset by a labor revolt over wage controls—early today hammered out a pay settlement for 1,000,000 non-operating railroad workers.

The pact will give members of the 15 unions involved an immediate 12½ cent an hour wage boost, plus a cost of living adjustment every three months.

The non-operating employes—who include shop workers, clerks and machinists—now receive average pay of $1.48 an hour.

The first of the cost-of-living adjustment—due April 1—is expected to add four or five cents an hour.

The agreement, reached after an all-night session, also provides for so-called "productivity" raises starting July 1, 1952, if the government's stabilization program permits payments such as those spelled out in some auto workers' contracts.

It was the government's inability to win organized labor's support for a wage stablization formula that led to a decision by the United Labor Policy Committee last night to pull out of all participation in the mobilization program.

Free To Concentrate

Settlement of the non-operating union's wage fight after only four months of negotiations left rail mediators free to concentrate on efforts to bring about an agreement with the four big operating brotherhoods. Their two-year-old dispute finally led to government seizue of the railroads last fall.

Presidential Assistant John R. Steelman announced today's settlement at an early-morning news conference.

W. H. Kniffin Dies, Aged 77

William H. Kniffin of Osborne Place, Rockville Centre died yesterday in the South Nassau Communities Hospital, Oceanside, L. I., after more than a month's illness. Mr. Kniffin, aged 77, and a banker for more than 60 years, was born in this city, where he attended Kingston Academy. He also worked in the Rondout Savings Bank in 1890. Later, in 1917, he became vice president of the Bank of Rockville Centre Trust Company. In 1941 he became president of that bank, a position which he held until his death.

Mr. Kniffin was author of "The Savings Bank and Its Practical Work," published in 1912; "The Practical Work of a Bank," in 1915; "Commercial Paper," in 1917; "The Business Man and His Bank," in 1919; "American Banking Practice," in 1921; "Better Banking" in 1934; and "How to Use Your Bank," in 1937. He also lectured on banking at Rutgers and New York Universities, while during World War 2 Mr. Kniffin was head of a committee which sold $4,850,000 in war bonds at Belmont Park. He was a member of Nassau County Council, Boy Scouts of America, for 30 years, and its treasurer for 20 years.

Mr. Kniffin is survived by one son, William Vance Kniffin of Rockville Centre, and two grandchildren, William Vance Kniffin, Jr., and Charles Edward Kniffin.

Services will be held at the Masonic Temple, Rockville Centre, tomorrow at 8:15 p. m. Burial will take place in Woodstock, Saturday at 1 p. m.

"If at first you don't succeed," runs the old proverb, "try, try again." Declarer's play of today's hand is a model of perseverance.

West opened the jack of diamonds, dummy covered with the queen, but East put up the king. South won the first trick with the ace of diamonds and had to find a way of getting rid of his diamond loser before he could afford to draw trumps.

After some thought, South cashed the ace of hearts and led a club to dummy's king in order to lead the king of hearts from dummy. Much to South's dismay, East ruffed the king of hearts. South was obliged to over-ruff.

Since the diamond loser was still with him, South next led a club to dummy's ace and returned the queen of hearts from dummy. Once more East ruffed, and South over-ruffed.

By this time, South was in the swing of things. He therefore led a third club from his hand. West dared not ruff with the ace of trumps, since then dummy would discard the losing diamond. Instead, West discarded a heart, and dummy ruffed. The jack of hearts was returned from dummy, and East ruffed for the third time.

South had been hoping that East would eventually have to ruff with the ace of trumps. In that case, South would merely discard his diamond loser. As it was, South had to over-ruff for the third time.

At this point, however, the only trump held by the opponents was the ace. South could therefore safely lead another club and ruff in dummy. He returned to his hand by ruffing a heart in order to lead the last club. This permitted him to discard the losing diamond from dummy.

The opponents could take the ace of trumps whenever they liked, but that was all they could get.

Smuggling Brings Profits

Bangkok (AP) — Thai (Siamese) police and customs men have tightened measures against smuggling of dollar bloc goods to Singapore and Hongkong which is bringing smugglers in Thailand huge profits. L. Thawin Sresthaphanichkarn, director-general of the Foreign Trade Department, said prices of these essential goods were three times higher in neighboring countries.

To Women With Nagging Backache

When kidney function slows down, many folks complain of nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness. Don't suffer longer with these discomforts if reduced kidney function is getting you down—due to such common causes as stress and strain, over-exertion or exposure to cold. Minor bladder irritations due to cold or wrong diet may cause getting up nights or frequent passages.

Don't neglect your kidneys if these conditions bother you. Try Doan's Pills—a mild diuretic. Used successfully by millions for over 50 years. While often otherwise caused, it's amazing how many times Doan's give happy relief from these discomforts—help the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters flush out waste. Get Doan's Pills today!

Child Health Conference To Be Held March 7

A Child Health Conference conducted by the Ulster County Health Department will be held at 25 E. O'Reilly street, Kingston, March 7, at 10 a. m. to 12 noon. Dr. Henry L. Bibby will be the physician in charge with Miss Ann Hayes, public health nurse, assisting.

These well-child clinics are limited to infant and preschool children for the purpose of improving child health through early recognition of defects, advice regarding nutrition, instruction of parents in understanding of growth and development, handling of minor behavior difficulties, and the administering of immunizations for smallpox, diphtheria, tetanus and whooping cough.

Children under the regular health supervision of their own physician are not admitted unless the physician desires this service to be taken over by the Child Health Conference. In this manner, duplication of service is avoided.

Russia Declares Painting Hanging In Soviet Museum

New York, March 1 (AP) — In 1931, Andrew W. Mellon, the late multi-millionaire secretary of the treasury, bought Raphael's "Alba Madonna" from the Russian government for $1,166,400—the highest recorded price for a painting.

The masterpiece has been hanging in the National Gallery of Art in Washington since 1941.

The Russians now claim in a Soviet publication that the celebrated art work is hanging in the Hermitage Museum in Leningrad.

In Washington, John Walker, curator of painting at the National Gallery, said yesterday, "the original 'Alba Madonna' is hanging in our gallery unless it has been stolen during the time it took me to answer the telephone."

Continued use of water other than that which has been properly distilled may damage a battery permanently.

Objects Taken From Tracks

East Orange, N. J., March 1 (AP) —Objects placed on the tracks of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad near here have touched off a full-scale investigation. Railroad officials said various obstructions, including a piece of concrete, a wooden plank and a 50-gallon drum, have been removed from the tracks during the past week. Officials, fearful of an accident, believe young pranksters may be involved.

Erminia Nocetti Inherits

New York, March 1 (Special)—The estate left by the late John B. Nocetti, New York hardware man, the bulk of which goes to his widow, Mrs. Erminia Nocetti of Highland, was appraised at $48,353, gross value, and $42,792, net, in a report filed here Wednesday by the State Transfer Tax Department. Mrs. Nocetti inherits $39,017. Her husband, who had a one-half interest in the hardware firm of John B. Nocetti and Brothers, died on April 28, 1950, without leaving a will. His estate was distributed under intestacy laws.

First trans-Atlantic flight was attempted in 1910 by Walter Wellman and a crew in a non-rigid airship.

W. H. Kniffin Dies, Aged 77

William H. Kniffin of Osborne Place, Rockville Centre died yesterday in the South Nassau Communities Hospital, Oceanside, L. I., after more than a month's illness. Mr. Kniffin, aged 77, and a banker for more than 60 years, was born in this city, where he attended Kingston Academy. He also worked in the Rondout Savings Bank in 1890. Later, in 1917, he became vice president of the Bank of Rockville Centre Trust Company. In 1941 he became president of that bank, a position which he held until his death.

Mr. Kniffin was author of "The Savings Bank and Its Practical Work," published in 1912; "The Practical Work of a Bank," in 1915; "Commercial Paper," in 1917; "The Business Man and His Bank," in 1919; "American Banking Practice," in 1921; "Better Banking" in 1934; and "How to Use Your Bank," in 1937. He also lectured on banking at Rutgers and New York Universities, while during World War 2 Mr. Kniffin was head of a committee which sold $4,850,000 in war bonds at Belmont Park. He was a member of Nassau County Council, Boy Scouts of America, for 30 years, and its treasurer for 20 years.

Mr. Kniffin is survived by one son, William Vance Kniffin of Rockville Centre, and two grandchildren, William Vance Kniffin, Jr., and Charles Edward Kniffin.

Services will be held at the Masonic Temple, Rockville Centre, tomorrow at 8:15 p. m. Burial will take place in Woodstock, Saturday at 1 p. m.

"If at first you don't succeed," runs the old proverb, "try, try again." Declarer's play of today's hand is a model of perseverance.

West opened the jack of diamonds, dummy covered with the queen, but East put up the king. South won the first trick with the ace of diamonds and had to find a way of getting rid of his diamond loser before he could afford to draw trumps.

After some thought, South cashed the ace of hearts and led a club to dummy's king in order to lead the king of hearts from dummy. Much to South's dismay, East ruffed the king of hearts. South was obliged to over-ruff.

Since the diamond loser was still with him, South next led a club to dummy's ace and returned the queen of hearts from dummy. Once more East ruffed, and South over-ruffed.

By this time, South was in the swing of things. He therefore led a third club from his hand. West dared not ruff with the ace of trumps, since then dummy would discard the losing diamond. Rules for Public Speaking

Los Angeles (AP)—Are you nervous when appearing before an audience? Do your knees shiver and shake? Then you are perfectly normal, says Dr. Waldo Phelps, instructor in speech at the University of California. "Tenseness is natural even in people with years of public speaking experience," he states. The instructor outlined three rules a speaker should follow to control the trembling and shaking. They are: 1. Use gestures to release excess energy; 2. Prepare carefully; and 3. Have something to say which you want to share with your audience.

Questioned

Joseph J. Rosenbaum, a Washington lawyer, is questioned at a Senate subcommittee investigation of the R.F.C. A New York furrier testified a mink coat delivered to a White House stenographer was charged to Rosenbaum's account while the latter was handling an R.F.C. loan application for the furrier. Dressy Cottons

Cotton fabrics are available in new textures and finishes this year, making them suitable for the most formal costumes. There are cotton satins that shine like silk, sheer organdies in metallic prints, gauzy voiles and even cotton tweeds.

Legion Award Given to Jacobs

Lafayette Post, American Legion, Poughkeepsie, last night conferred upon Charles F. Jacobs, 30, of 112 Academy street, Poughkeepsie, the truck driver who stayed with his brakeless truck on the Hasbrouck avenue hill here Feb. 7, an award for "distinguished heroism."

Leonard Healy, commander of the Poughkeepsie post, was assisted by Paul S. Samuels, Dutchess County Legion Commander, in conferring the award. Samuels recounted incidents of the mishap in which the truck driven by Jacobs crashed into a building on Ferry street after rolling without brakes the full length of the Hasbrouck avenue hill.

Dutchess County Judge John R. Swartz talked on "United for Freedom," at the meeting.

The truck driven by Jacobs on the harrowing ride, owned by Dorn's Express, of Rensselaer, barely missed three city busses, two of them loaded with school children, as it rolled 45 miles an hour down the hill. Jacobs said that a woman crossing the street prevented his "dumping" the truck near the top of the hill, and he was heading it for the Rondout creek when it hit the building.

Solos and Biographies At Rotary Meeting

Vocal solos and brief biographies of local Rotarians of long standing comprised the program, arranged by Program Chairman Sam Scudder, at the weekly luncheon-meeting of the Kingston Rotary Club on Wednesday.

Miss Jackie Loomis of Phoenicia, accompanied on the piano by Harriet Loomis, sang a number of solos, which were greatly enjoyed.

Arthur G. Carr, one of the two living charter members, told of the founding of Kingston Rotary Club in 1916 in the course of his biography. Dr. Frank B. Seeley, the other charter member, was unable to be present.

Other biographies were by Dr. Charles Carter, Robert R. Rodie and Sam Scudder.

First road vehicle to be propelled by internal combustion was manufactured by Carl Benz of Mannheim, Germany, in 1885.

Rules for Public Speaking

Los Angeles (AP)—Are you nervous when appearing before an audience? Do your knees shiver and shake? Then you are perfectly normal, says Dr. Waldo Phelps, instructor in speech at the University of California. "Tenseness is natural even in people with years of public speaking experience," he states. The instructor outlined three rules a speaker should follow to control the trembling and shaking. They are: 1. Use gestures to release excess energy; 2. Prepare carefully; and 3. Have something to say which you want to share with your audience.

PRESIDENT'S TENURE LIMITED

The Constitution of the United States has been amended to forbid any President from being elected for more than two terms or from being elected more than once if he had served two years of his predecessor's term.

The importance of the amendment hardly could be over-stated. The evils of too long tenure in the White House are now apparent even to the alert grade-school pupil. Most of the incompetence and official arrogance in Washington today arises from the fact that the New Deal-Fair Deal political hangers-on have been too long in power. Entrenched in office for eighteen years, the bureaucrats have grown fat and flabby, they tend to grow careless, and indifferent to the rights and privileges of citizens. Their attitude tends to become "I am the State" or that the American public is dumb.

The two-term tradition was established by George Washington, supported and sustained by Thomas Jefferson and reaffirmed by every President through Herbert Hoover. In 1940 Franklin D. Roosevelt felt himself "indispensable." No other candidate could be counted upon, at that time, to be capable of dragging us into another World War. The third term became an imperative of New Deal policy. The fourth term followed on a modification of the same principle of the "indispensable man." In 1944 the argument ran that no candidate could be depended upon to build the peace at Yalta.

If this were a presidential year, the argument would be that only Truman could be counted upon to "turn back the Russian hordes in Europe and Asia." There would be a terrific hue and cry for a sixth term, with the vast power of the "Voice of America" and every other agency of federal propaganda beating the tom-toms for the still "indispensable man."

A constitutional amendment forbidding a third term would have resolved all these difficulties in the mid-summer of 1940 when the federal debt stood at 40 billion dollars. Today the debt is 257 billion dollars and continues to grow and grow.

A new administration would have taken office in January, 1941. There would have been a house-cleaning of Communists, and fellow traveler spies in Washington. America would have taken a new lease of life and made a beginning toward a restoration of orderly constitutional government.

Through the magic of radar, unseen and distant objects flash into view. Maybe we could put it to use in attempting to catch sight of the cost of living.

NO PLACE FOR FREEDOM

It is not possible for a newspaper which has ideas about freedom of the press to survive under the government of a dictator. This fact is being discovered anew by La Prensa of Buenos Aires, largest newspaper published in the Spanish language and one of the most highly respected.

While all other newspapers in Argentina had yielded to the pressures of the Peron government, La Prensa and one other, La Nacion, also of Buenos Aires, had adamantly remained independent. They have not often been so bold as to question or attack Peron directly, but have insisted on operating as though freedom of the press were still in existence in Argentina. In a recent railroad strike, crushed by the government after four difficult days, La Prensa and La Nacion dared to publish statements by the strike committee, although they did not offer any editorial comment on the situation.

Apparently this was too much, or perhaps was the affront for which officials were waiting. La Prensa was shut down by a strike of government-controlled unions, and this time the government may be able to keep La Prensa quiet. If so, La Nacion will certainly be suppressed next, for alone among the newspapers it has had the temerity to say a good word for the position of La Prensa.

As a free newspaper cannot survive under censorship, neither can a dictator survive where the press is free to report the truth and to say what it pleases. That is the reason Peron has so persistently stalked La Prensa—one or the other eventually must go.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

WATCH THAT INFLATION!

The really big problem that this country faces today is inflation, which means that money is constantly being cheapened, so that prices go up because it costs more money to buy a given item. Sound money is usually based on gold; inflated money gives the possessor the "feeling" of having plenty while actually he has less because he has less purchasing power.

"Political Action of the Week"—organ of the C.I.O.—P.A.C.—does not fear inflation. In fact, in its February 5th issue, it points out that the "freeze" orders are a fake and does so very clearly:

"Watch for a series of revisions setting the 10 per cent-above-last June standard for wages. The first of these cleared the way for the raises. Another set of orders is due to open the way for cost-of-living raises and there are good prospects for the same sort of action on pension payments and other items. At present these are frozen, the same as bonuses, vacation and holiday pay, and higher rates for night shifts. The difference is that the cost of living raises lag several months behind higher prices and thus do not cause them. Pension and similar payments are actually money taken out of the buyers market. But higher pay for vacations and other benefits goes right into people's pockets ready to be spent."

While none of this has yet happened quite as indicated here, the fact is that such an arrangement would have pleased the C.I.O., and when it does happen, they will be temporarily contented, even though every increase in prices, wages, rents, profits is not an increase in value but a boost to the inflation. The old adage "whatever goes up, must come down" could hit this country with such a bang that it might be more disastrous than war.

The real trouble is that we all want more money and we are accustomed to think in terms of currency rather than in terms of purchasing power. The housewife tells you that a $10 bill flies over the butcher's counter as though it had wings, and then she wants her husband to ask for more wages. That is human nature without the restraints of disciplined thinking.

More money can be less money, if the purchasing power of the dollar goes down. The statement: "The difference is that the cost of living raises lag several months behind higher prices and thus do not cause them," is just careless thinking.

Prices rise on trends in the marketplace, because the merchant or manufacturer must calculate replacement costs as well as future buying and therefore tries to set his price so that he does not get stuck when he has to pay more for what he needs to sell. Of course, sometimes a trend is misunderstood, and also buyers' resistance can set in and the merchant is caught with goods on his hands which he cannot sell. That could, over a period, break him.

It is true that "higher pay for vacations and other benefits goes right into people's pockets ready to be spent," but this precisely is the inflationary process. The volume of money increases: the value of money decreases. That is inflation. This is complicated by the very intricate transaction which is involved in the quarrel between the Treasury and the Federal Reserve Board.

It would seem to me that the labor leaders would devote themselves to a deflationary program at this time. Their members cannot benefit from faked increases during an inflationary period, even if increases give the impression of wonderful successes for the labor leaders.

But such successes, while personally gratifying, can in no way safeguard the value of the dollar which the worker earns, or nobody else's dollar, for that matter. And our task at this moment is to protect the value of the dollar.

It would appear that Charles E. Wilson faces lots of trouble with labor leaders who place themselves above economic law. If they push Wilson too hard, he will have no alternative but to resign, for it is impossible to believe that he will permit himself to be reduced to the position of Donald Nelson of World War II, who was pushed around by every kind of pressure group. Wilson is bound to stand firm on policy and to protect the country against every self-serving element in the population, business, farmer and labor.

That Body of Yours

STUDYING THE COMMON COLD

We have all heard of cancer units—groups of research laboratory workers, practicing physicians and chemists whose entire efforts are devoted to investigating the cause of cancer so that humanity may escape this terrible scourge.

On the same pattern, cold units have been established, to learn more about the common cold which, while not fatal in itself, nevertheless is the cause of much suffering and loss of time from work. It is, as well, forerunner of such dangerous diseases as pneumonia, bronchopneumonia and tuberculosis.

The findings of the Common Cold Research Unit, Harvard Hospital, Salisbury, Wilts., England, set up by the Medical Research Council and the Ministry of Health in 1946, are reported by Dr. C. H. Andrews in the British Lancet. The primary object of this cold unit was to try to find a laboratory technique with which colds could be conveniently studied. This object has not yet been reached. All atempts to cultivate a virus (the tiny organism believed causing colds) in fertile eggs or to infect by inoculation any laboratory animal other than the chimpanzee, failed.

Notwithstanding the failure of this unit to cultivate the virus and learn more about colds, some important information about colds was obtained by a study of injections into the nose of substances causing infection, into 899 human volunteers over a period of two and one-half years. Volunteers were isolated in pairs for 10 days of which the first three days was the quarantine period. Inoculations were made on the fourth day, test and control material being identified by serial numbers so that during the course of each experiment neither observers nor volunteers knew which material had been injected. In a test of the efficacy of the quarantine period and isolation precautions, of 47 volunteers receiving sterile injections (no organisms in the broth injections) only 2 developed doubtful mild colds and 45 had no symptoms whatever. Of those receiving injections of cold organisms, 60 per cent had symptoms of disease.

Are colds always caught? It was found that individuals in good health using ordinary care had a high resistance against colds. When the individual, carrying the virus, had cold feet and felt draughts, these upset natural resistance and a cold developed.

How does a cold spread? Coarse droplets from sneezing and coughing may make a "direct hit" and cause colds, while organisms wafted by the air may not do so. Avoiding direct hits (coughs and sneezes) from an individual with a cold is our best protection from colds.

Meantime—No Arrests

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Alongside the Iron Curtain, Adrianople, Turkey — Winston Churchill's well-coined phrase "the iron curtain" has now become so universal that some people really believe the Soviet border is encased in iron. Actually, however, the curtain is made of barbed wire—and rusty barbed wire at that.

This writer visited the southernmost segment of the iron curtain today at a spot where democratic Turkey and Communist Bulgaria meet. This border is the start of a long tangled barricade zigzagging north past Hungary, Austria, Czechoslovakia, Germany and Poland. And though the fields of winter barley are just as green on both sides of this barbed-wire barricade, it might just as well have been made of iron as far as free exchange of human intercourse is concerned.

I drove up to the curtain in a jeep with Captain Feths Seckin and Lieutenant Ali Aksoz of the Turkish army. The latter is in command of a ten-man detachment guarding the Kaprikule outpost. The road leading to the curtain was paved with centuries-old stone and beside the road were Roman wells built by Emperor Adrian. But the traffic leading to the barbed-wire curtain, aside from an ox team pulling a John Deere disc drill, a tribute to the Marshall Plan, was nil.

Suddenly the road ended. Ahead was an iron gate bearing that international English word known to every tongue: "Stop." Beyond it was another gate slightly rusty and delapidated bearing the words "Bulgaria" in both French and Cyrillic. This was the iron curtain and the place which Turks call Serhad, which significantly has two meanings: The frontier and the neck-line where on'e head is chopped off.

Blockhouses Guard Curtain

Alongside the gate was a series of blockhouses—one on the Bulgarian side, a little shabby with some of its windowpanes missing, and two on the Turkish side, both new and orderly. One Turkish blockhouse—set back from the iron gate but connected with it by a series of trenches—housed troops.

I climbed stairs inside the thick-walled parapet to the tower on top of which a Turkish soldier stood scanning the landscape through field glasses. Through his glasses we could see a Bulgarian guard in the tower on the opposite side of the Iron Curtain scrutinizing us. From time to time he would run to the telephone evidently to notify his headquarters about our party. Aside from this, there was almost no movement on the frontier. The sturdy walls, pierced with rifle slots, looked down on nothing more than the winter barley fields and the long, long barricade of barbed wire extending north.

Prisoners Escape

A herd of water buffalo grazed in the distance. They did not know the difference between communism or democracy, between Russianized Bulgaria or Turkey—to which the Truman doctrine is supplying arms and Marshall Plan aid. They only knew that the grass was just as green on either side.

"Sometimes," remarked Captain Seckin, "sheep or buffalo get under the wire and cross to the Bulgarian side and the Communists shoot them. Our farmers get no chance to herd them back." Sometimes, also, I learned, Bulgarian political prisoners sneak through the barbed wire at night to give themselves up to Turkish authorities. This happens at the rate of two or three times per month and they tell a story of harassment and political suppression in what once was a relatively democratic country.

Climbing down from the watch-tower we moved closer to the Iron Curtain to the second Turkish building. This one was just six feet from the gate separating the two countries.

On rare occasions an official with a properly visaed passport is permitted to pass through this gate and customs officials are kept on the Turkish side to handle such transits. We sat down a few feet from the gate to drink coffee with the customs officials. The weather was cold but the sun was warm and I pulled my chair out onto a stone platform in the sunshine in full view of the Communist guards peering down through rifle slots in their watchtower 50 feet away.

I don't know and never will know what they thought of the stranger—the civilian dressed in western clothes who sat and drank coffee just below them. I don't even know whether they recognized me as an American but the Turkish guards, who watched them from the tower with their field glasses, reported that, on the opposite side of the Iron Curtain, there was more scurrying and moe frantic telephoning back to their headquarters.

However, the sun was warm and the coffee delicious and we lingered talking about the days when the army of Sultan Beyazid battled with the armored knights of the Polish king and the grand marshal of France in the days of the crusades across these same barley fields before the gates of Adrianople.

Battle for Adrianople

For hundreds of years men had fought to control this gateway to the Bosporus and they were still fighting. But the big question is would another war start actively this spring? Would the Russians attack before Eisenhower has a chance to strengthen the armies of western Europe, before an American-equipped Turkish Army becomes stronger, before Marshal Tito further solidifies his hold on Yugoslavia? That is a question discussed in the chanceries and the coffee houses of the Near East and that is a question I came to Europe to try to answer.

Talking about it I drove back to Adrianople, drove back over an age-old blood-soaked battlefield now planted in barley by oxen and John Deere disc drills—a battlefield sure to be one of the first points of attack if war comes.

Labor Leaders' Stand Is Viewed as 'Tragic Situation' in Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 1—Labor-union leaders have begun a strike against their own government. Unless they can make the rules, they will not participate in the emergency boards created by the government.

This is the tragic situation which confronts the American people today as a group of labor-union leaders show defiance not only against the President but against the entire effort of the government to bring about some kind of stabilization in the war against inflation.

When the Wage Stabilization Board was appointed, three members each were selected from management, from the public, and from labor. The first formula, which provided that under certain circumstances a 10 per cent increase in wages would be permitter, evoked the opposition of the labor members and they voted against it and then walked out of the board's meeting. They felt that 10 per cent wasn't high enough and not sufficiently inclusive of "fringe benefits," pensions, automatic increases in contracts, and the like.

Since then the director of defense mobilization and the director of economic stabilization have endeavored to improve the formula and to make it more acceptable to labor's viewpoint. But even this hasn't been persuasive. The labor members have been given an opportunity to come back to the board and vote on the amended formula. They have refused to do so.

The strike technique has long been used to bend employers to the will of labor unions, but it has never before been used to attempt to coerce the government of the United States. All government employes nowadays, in order to hold their jobs, and applicants, in order to get jobs, must sign a pledge that they are not members of any organization which believes in the right to strike against the government. But the labor members of the Wage Stabilization Board are not salaried personnel and hence technically they are not violating any rule of the government itself.

The fact remains, however, that the spirit of public service today requires that there should be no strike technique used against the government. Presumably the three labor members feel they are acting as individuals who have merely refused to serve. This is their legal right. But what shall be said of the United Labor Policy Committee which consists of the heads of the CIO and the AFL and the railroad unions and the machinists and which has just instructed the three members of the Wage Stabilization Board not to return to the posts they left several days ago? It doesn't look like individual action. It's a concerted strike against the government.

Does this mean that the labor policy committee reserves the right to pull out hereafter any labor representatives serving on any board whenever the decisions happen to be unfavorable to the labor viewpoint? Can there ever be any impartial decisions if the three public members are not to be permitted to function because the labor members absent themselves or resign?

During the last war the three separate groups in the War Labor Board often dissented from each other's views, but the real decision was made by the three public members, though at times a member from either the management group or the labor group would join to make a majority decision.

Plainly, if union labor does not wish to cooperate in helping the government to stabilize wage rates, the President will have to put all the power in the hands of a single board with members representing the public and eliminating both management and labor representatives. There is much to be said in favor of such an arrangement, but it certainly is disheartening to see the change made under such coercive influences as are being manifested now.

Justice wouldn't last long in America if, whenever a decision of the majority were disliked by the minority, the latter resigned and wouldn't play. Individuals often differ on controversial questions and sometimes a resignation from a board comes as a result of a long series of disagreements. But this defection has occurred on the very first major issue before the board. It indicates that the labor-union leadership of America has either overreached itself to the point where it demands a board of its own choosing and rules favorable to its own viewpoint or else that the labor-union leaders don't really want representation at all. Maybe they want to force a one-man administrator to make the decisions, or else a public board without labor or management representation. It certainly doesn't look like a spirit of cooperation.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Any corporation which donates money belonging to its stockholders to pay for advertisements promoting the purchase of government bonds on the pretense that such bonds are a good investment, is either a party to a confidence game or a victim of stupid management. In either case I am not kidded.

During World War 2, the treasury importuned me several times to act as runner for a swindle which it was operating through the sale of bonds to our commonality. Usually, the fast talk to the suckers was pitched in the mood of patriotism. But there was always a false representation that a $750 bond, maturing at $1,000 in ten years, represented a gain of $250. If George Spelvin, American, bought two bonds, his gain would be $500. Visions were depicted of junior going to college on this investment, plus the profit. There were many variations of that theme.

We learned afterward that some unconscionable fakers, who had publicly bought large amounts in theatres, sometimes being permitted to kiss an actress or take even more interesting public liberties with same in freedom's name, turned them back next morning and got public credit for a high degree of patriotism. In the Benny Meyers scandal we learned of a device whereby a purchaser of bonds in bulk could turn a profit overnight without putting up a dollar. However, those are side issues.

The Treasury appealed to me to become its partner in crime because I had access to a wide expanse of white paper. It presumed that the seeming of patriotism would justify a deception on those who had confidence in my intelligence and integrity. The best I could manage, and, mind you, my situation was unusually trying because I was an anti-Roosevelt pariah, was something to the effect that, if our country went down, our money would be no good at all, so, therefore, it would be well to buy bonds to try to keep her from going down.

I am not going to do even that little again. In honesty, I can't because the value of the dollar is going steadily down. Ten years hence the purchasing power of the dollars that I would get for my bonds will be so badly diminished that I would come up with a serious loss. I remember when the franc was worth 20 cents of our money. I later saw a day when the franc was worth a little less than three cents. It was no good at all as a unit of money. The five-franc note was about the smallest unit that was worth while, even as a tip. The dollar, which used to command genuine respect, is so cheap now that it won't but a meal in a second rate restaurant.

If I bought a government bond in 1940, paying $750, and if I get $1,000 for it at maturity in 1950, I actually got back less purchasing power than I invested. Assuming that I paid an income tax of 15 per cent, or the $250 which the government paid me as interest, which would be $37.50, my actual pay-off was $962.50.

Well, we all have to pay income-tax, so that is not so bad.

But the $962.50, net, has a purchasing power of only 57.32 per cent of the 1940 dollar. Therefore, although I get $962.50, net, for a bond that cost me $750 in 1940 dollars, the purchasing power of my $1,000 bond in 1950, was only $551.70. If I had bought any one of a number of respectable industrial securities in 1940 the decline of the dollar would have been compensated by a rise in the market price of the stock. Anyway, the market price would have risen somewhat, whereas bonds held still. In the meantime, I probably would have received not a mere $250 per $750 in dividends but, probably, almost twice that.

The reason why I won't go along with the ballyhoo for the sale of bonds for the war in Korea or its extension to Europe and/or Asia and/or New York, Detroit and Pittsburgh, is that the appeal is dishonest. At the present rate of the decline of the dollar, the payoff will be no less disappointing this time. Business men are dishonest with us when they hit the corporation tills and take out their stockholders' money to pay for patriotic, institutional ads urging those stockholders to buy gold brick bonds. Any executive chief of a large corporation who hasn't got the

If this were a presidential year, the argument would be that only Truman could be counted upon to "turn back the Russian hordes in Europe and Asia." There would be a terrific hue and cry for a sixth term, with the vast power of the "Voice of America" and every other agency of federal propaganda beating the tom-toms for the still "indispensable man."

A constitutional amendment forbidding a third term would have resolved all these difficulties in the mid-summer of 1940 when the federal debt stood at 40 billion dollars. Today the debt is 257 billion dollars and continues to grow and grow.

A new administration would have taken office in January, 1941. There would have been a house-cleaning of Communists, and fellow traveler spies in Washington. America would have taken a new lease of life and made a beginning toward a restoration of orderly constitutional government.

Through the magic of radar, unseen and distant objects flash into view. Maybe we could put it to use in attempting to catch sight of the cost of living.

NO PLACE FOR FREEDOM

It is not possible for a newspaper which has ideas about freedom of the press to survive under the government of a dictator. This fact is being discovered anew by La Prensa of Buenos Aires, largest newspaper published in the Spanish language and one of the most highly respected.

While all other newspapers in Argentina had yielded to the pressures of the Peron government, La Prensa and one other, La Nacion, also of Buenos Aires, had adamantly remained independent. They have not often been so bold as to question or attack Peron directly, but have insisted on operating as though freedom of the press were still in existence in Argentina. In a recent railroad strike, crushed by the government after four difficult days, La Prensa and La Nacion dared to publish statements by the strike committee, although they did not offer any editorial comment on the situation.

Apparently this was too much, or perhaps was the affront for which officials were waiting. La Prensa was shut down by a strike of government-controlled unions, and this time the government may be able to keep La Prensa quiet. If so, La Nacion will certainly be suppressed next, for alone among the newspapers it has had the temerity to say a good word for the position of La Prensa.

For a free newspaper cannot survive under censorship, neither can a dictator survive where the press is free to report the truth and to say what it pleases. That is the reason Peron has so persistently stalked La Prensa—one or the other eventually must go.

WATCH THAT INFLATION!

The really big problem that this country faces today is inflation, which means that money is constantly being cheapened, so that prices go up because it costs more money to buy a given item. Sound money is usually based on gold; inflated money gives the possessor the "feeling" of having plenty while actually he has less because he has less purchasing power.

"Political Action of the Week"—organ of the C.I.O.—P.A.C.—does not fear inflation. In fact, in its February 5th issue, it points out that the "freeze" orders are a fake and does so very clearly:

"Watch for a series of revisions setting the 10 per cent-above-last June standard for wages. The first of these cleared the way for the raises. Another set of orders is due to open the way for cost-of-living raises and there are good prospects for the same sort of action on pension payments and other items. At present these are frozen, the same as bonuses, vacation and holiday pay, and higher rates for night shifts. The difference is that the cost of living raises lag several months behind higher prices and thus do not cause them. Pension and similar payments are actually money taken out of the buyers market. But higher pay for vacations and other benefits goes right into people's pockets ready to be spent."

While none of this has yet happened quite as indicated here, the fact is that such an arrangement would have pleased the C.I.O., and when it does happen, they will be temporarily contented, even though every increase in prices, wages, rents, profits is not an increase in value but a boost to the inflation. The old adage "whatever goes up, must come down" could hit this country with such a bang that it might be more disastrous than war.

The real trouble is that we all want more money and we are accustomed to think in terms of currency rather than in terms of purchasing power. The housewife tells you that a $10 bill flies over the butcher's counter as though it had wings, and then she wants her husband to ask for more wages. That is human nature without the restraints of disciplined thinking.

More money can be less money, if the purchasing power of the dollar goes down. The statement: "The difference is that the cost of living raises lag several months behind higher prices and thus do not cause them," is just careless thinking.

Prices rise on trends in the marketplace, because the merchant or manufacturer must calculate replacement costs as well as future buying and therefore tries to set his price so that he does not get stuck when he has to pay more for what he needs to sell. Of course, sometimes a trend is misunderstood, and also buyers' resistance can set in and the merchant is caught with goods on his hands which he cannot sell. That could, over a period, break him.

It is true that "higher pay for vacations and other benefits goes right into people's pockets ready to be spent," but this precisely is the inflationary process. The volume of money increases: the value of money decreases. That is inflation. This is complicated by the very intricate transaction which is involved in the quarrel between the Treasury and the Federal Reserve Board.

It would seem to me that the labor leaders would devote themselves to a deflationary program at this time. Their members cannot benefit from faked increases during an inflationary period, even if increases give the impression of wonderful successes for the labor leaders.

But such successes, while personally gratifying, can in no way safeguard the value of the dollar which the worker earns, or nobody else's dollar, for that matter. And our task at this moment is to protect the value of the dollar.

It would appear that Charles E. Wilson faces lots of trouble with labor leaders who place themselves above economic law. If they push Wilson too hard, he will have no alternative but to resign, for it is impossible to believe that he will permit himself to be reduced to the position of Donald Nelson of World War II, who was pushed around by every kind of pressure group. Wilson is bound to stand firm on policy and to protect the country against every self-serving element in the population, business, farmer and labor.

That Body of Yours

STUDYING THE COMMON COLD

We have all heard of cancer units—groups of research laboratory workers, practicing physicians and chemists whose entire efforts are devoted to investigating the cause of cancer so that humanity may escape this terrible scourge.

On the same pattern, cold units have been established, to learn more about the common cold which, while not fatal in itself, nevertheless is the cause of much suffering and loss of time from work. It is, as well, forerunner of such dangerous diseases as pneumonia, bronchopneumonia and tuberculosis.

The findings of the Common Cold Research Unit, Harvard Hospital, Salisbury, Wilts., England, set up by the Medical Research Council and the Ministry of Health in 1946, are reported by Dr. C. H. Andrews in the British Lancet. The primary object of this cold unit was to try to find a laboratory technique with which colds could be conveniently studied. This object has not yet been reached. All atempts to cultivate a virus (the tiny organism believed causing colds) in fertile eggs or to infect by inoculation any laboratory animal other than the chimpanzee, failed.

Notwithstanding the failure of this unit to cultivate the virus and learn more about colds, some important information about colds was obtained by a study of injections into the nose of substances causing infection, into 899 human volunteers over a period of two and one-half years. Volunteers were isolated in pairs for 10 days of which the first three days was the quarantine period. Inoculations were made on the fourth day, test and control material being identified by serial numbers so that during the course of each experiment neither observers nor volunteers knew which material had been injected. In a test of the efficacy of the quarantine period and isolation precautions, of 47 volunteers receiving sterile injections (no organisms in the broth injections) only 2 developed doubtful mild colds and 45 had no symptoms whatever. Of those receiving injections of cold organisms, 60 per cent had symptoms of disease.

Are colds always caught? It was found that individuals in good health using ordinary care had a high resistance against colds. When the individual, carrying the virus, had cold feet and felt draughts, these upset natural resistance and a cold developed.

How does a cold spread? Coarse droplets from sneezing and coughing may make a "direct hit" and cause colds, while organisms wafted by the air may not do so. Avoiding direct hits (coughs and sneezes) from an individual with a cold is our best protection from colds.

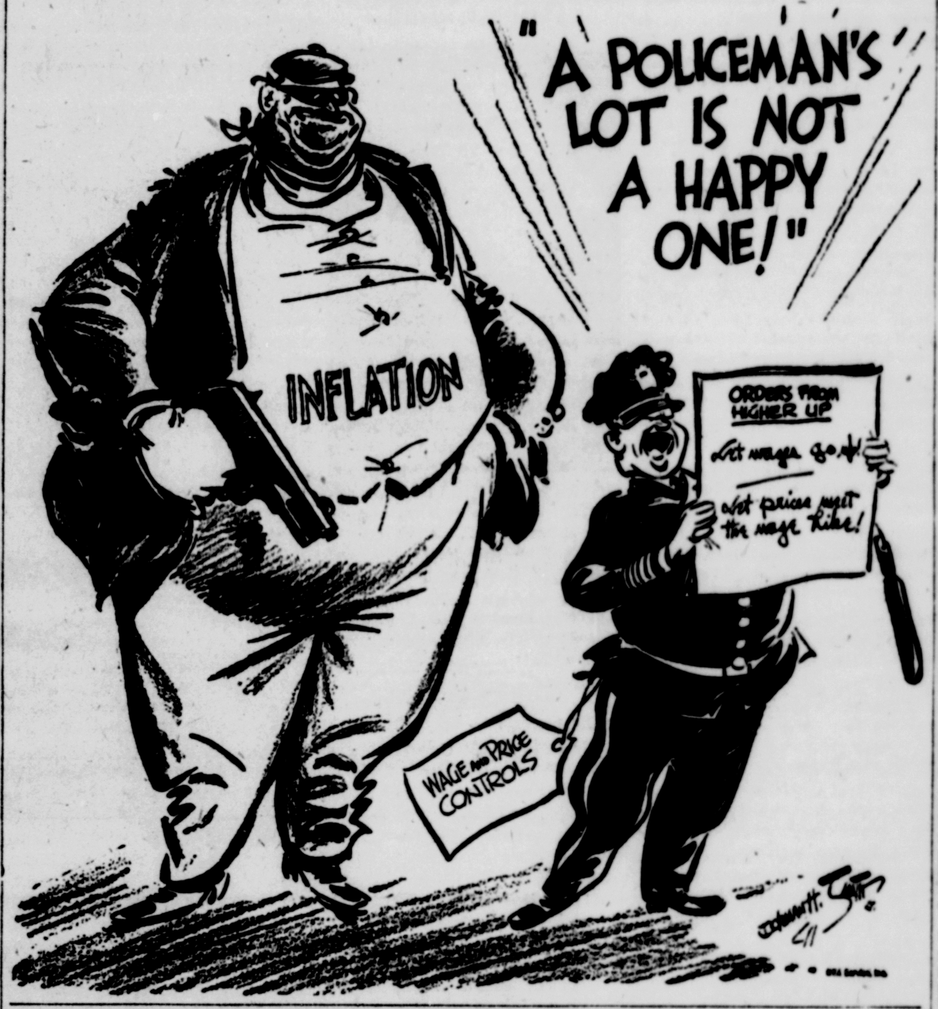
Meantime—No Arrests



The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Alongside the Iron Curtain, Adrianople, Turkey — Winston Churchill's well-coined phrase "the iron curtain" has now become so universal that some people really believe the Soviet border is encased in iron. Actually, however, the curtain is made of barbed wire—and rusty barbed wire at that.

This writer visited the southernmost segment of the iron curtain today at a spot where democratic Turkey and Communist Bulgaria meet. This border is the start of a long tangled barricade zigzagging north past Hungary, Austria, Czechoslovakia, Germany and Poland. And though the fields of winter barley are just as green on both sides of this barbed-wire barricade, it might just as well have been made of iron as far as free exchange of human intercourse is concerned.

I drove up to the curtain in a jeep with Captain Feths Seckin and Lieutenant Ali Aksoz of the Turkish army. The latter is in command of a ten-man detachment guarding the Kaprikule outpost. The road leading to the curtain was paved with centuries-old stone and beside the road were Roman wells built by Emperor Adrian. But the traffic leading to the barbed-wire curtain, aside from an ox team pulling a John Deere disc drill, a tribute to the Marshall Plan, was nil.

Suddenly the road ended. Ahead was an iron gate bearing that international English word known to every tongue: "Stop." Beyond it was another gate slightly rusty and delapidated bearing the words "Bulgaria" in both French and Cyrillic. This was the iron curtain and the place which Turks call Serhad, which significantly has two meanings: The frontier and the neckline where on'e head is chopped off.

Blockhouses Guard Curtain

Alongside the gate was a series of blockhouses—one on the Bulgarian side, a little shabby with some of its windowpanes missing, and two on the Turkish side, both new and orderly. One Turkish blockhouse—set back from the iron gate but connected with it by a series of trenches—housed troops.

I climbed stairs inside the thick-walled parapet to the tower on top of which a Turkish soldier stood scanning the landscape through field glasses. Through his glasses we could see a Bulgarian guard in the tower on the opposite side of the Iron Curtain scrutinizing us. From time to time he would run to the telephone evidently to notify his headquarters about our party. Aside from this, there was almost no movement on the frontier. The sturdy walls, pierced with rifle slots, looked down on nothing more than the winter barley fields and the long, long barricade of barbed wire extending north.

Prisoners Escape

A herd of water buffalo grazed in the distance. They did not know the difference between communism or democracy, between Russianized Bulgaria or Turkey—to which the Truman doctrine is supplying arms and Marshall Plan aid. They only knew that the grass was just as green on either side.

"Sometimes," remarked Captain Seckin, "sheep or buffalo get under the wire and cross to the Bulgarian side and the Communists shoot them. Our farmers get no chance to herd them back." Sometimes, also, I learned, Bulgarian political prisoners sneak through the barbed wire at night to give themselves up to Turkish authorities. This happens at the rate of two or three times per month and they tell a story of harassment and political suppression in what once was a relatively democratic country.

Climbing down from the watch-tower we moved closer to the Iron Curtain to the second Turkish building. This one was just six feet from the gate separating the two countries.

On rare occasions an official with a properly visaed passport is permitted to pass through this gate and customs officials are kept on the Turkish side to handle such transits. We sat down a few feet from the gate to drink coffee with the customs officials. The weather was cold but the sun was warm and I pulled my chair out onto a stone platform in the sunshine in full view of the Communist guards peering down through rifle slots in their watchtower 50 feet away.

I don't know and never will know what they thought of the stranger—the civilian dressed in western clothes who sat and drank coffee just below them. I don't even know whether they recognized me as an American but the Turkish guards, who watched them from the tower with their field glasses, reported that, on the opposite side of the Iron Curtain, there was more scurrying and moe frantic telephoning back to their headquarters.

However, the sun was warm and the coffee delicious and we lingered talking about the days when the army of Sultan Beyazid battled with the armored knights of the Polish king and the grand marshal of France in the days of the crusades across these same barley fields before the gates of Adrianople.

Battle for Adrianople

For hundreds of years men had fought to control this gateway to the Bosporus and they were still fighting. But the big question is would another war start actively this spring? Would the Russians attack before Eisenhower has a chance to strengthen the armies of western Europe, before an American-equipped Turkish Army becomes stronger, before Marshal Tito further solidifies his hold on Yugoslavia? That is a question discussed in the chanceries and the coffee houses of the Near East and that is a question I came to Europe to try to answer.

Talking about it I drove back to Adrianople, drove back over an age-old blood-soaked battlefield now planted in barley by oxen and John Deere disc drills—a battlefield sure to be one of the first points of attack if war comes.

Sweet Water in the Sea!

Right in the midse of the salt water of the Ligurian Sea, off the coast of Spezia, Italy, there surges to the surface a powerful spring of sweet water. Its flow is so strong that fishermen collect it in containers to use as drinking water. The water surges from a spring in the bottom of the Guf and reaches the surface perfectly sweet and potable.

Labor Leaders' Stand Is Viewed as 'Tragic Situation' in Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 1—Labor-union leaders have begun a strike against their own government. Unless they can make the rules, they will not participate in the emergency boards created by the government.

This is the tragic situation which confronts the American people today as a group of labor-union leaders show defiance not only against the President but against the entire effort of the government to bring about some kind of stabilization in the war against inflation.

When the Wage Stabilization Board was appointed, three members each were selected from management, from the public, and from labor. The first formula, which provided that under certain circumstances a 10 per cent increase in wages would be permitter, evoked the opposition of the labor members and they voted against it and then walked out of the board's meeting. They felt that 10 per cent wasn't high enough and not sufficiently inclusive of "fringe benefits," pensions, automatic increases in contracts, and the like.

Since then the director of defense mobilization and the director of economic stabilization have endeavored to improve the formula and to make it more acceptable to labor's viewpoint. But even this hasn't been persuasive. The labor members have been given an opportunity to come back to the board and vote on the amended formula. They have refused to do so.

The strike technique has long been used to bend employers to the will of labor unions, but it has never before been used to attempt to coerce the government of the United States. All government employes nowadays, in order to hold their jobs, and applicants, in order to get jobs, must sign a pledge that they are not members of any organization which believes in the right to strike against the government. But the labor members of the Wage Stabilization Board are not salaried personnel and hence technically they are not violating any rule of the government itself.

The fact remains, however, that the spirit of public service today requires that there should be no strike technique used against the government. Presumably the three labor members feel they are acting as individuals who have merely refused to serve. This is their legal right. But what shall be said of the United Labor Policy Committee which consists of the heads of the CIO and the AFL and the railroad unions and the machinists and which has just instructed the three members of the Wage Stabilization Board not to return to the posts they left several days ago? It doesn't look like individual action. It's a concerted strike against the government.

Does this mean that the labor policy committee reserves the right to pull out hereafter any labor representatives serving on any board whenever the decisions happen to be unfavorable to the labor viewpoint? Can there ever be any impartial decisions if the three public members are not to be permitted to function because the labor members absent themselves or resign?

During the last war the three separate groups in the War Labor Board often dissented from each other's views, but the real decision was made by the three public members, though at times a member from either the management group or the labor group would join to make a majority decision.

Plainly, if union labor does not wish to cooperate in helping the government to stabilize wage rates, the President will have to put all the power in the hands of a single board with members representing the public and eliminating both management and labor representatives. There is much to be said in favor of such an arrangement, but it certainly is disheartening to see the change made under such coercive influences as are being manifested now.

Justice wouldn't last long in America if, whenever a decision of the majority were disliked by the minority, the latter resigned and wouldn't play. Individuals often differ on controversial questions and sometimes a resignation from a board comes as a result of a long series of disagreements. But this defection has occurred on the very first major issue before the board. It indicates that the labor-union leadership of America has either overreached itself to the point where it demands a board of its own choosing and rules favorable to its own viewpoint or else that the labor-union leaders don't really want representation at all. Maybe they want to force a one-man administrator to make the decisions, or else a public board without labor or management representation. It certainly doesn't look like a spirit of cooperation.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Any corporation which donates money belonging to its stockholders to pay for advertisements promoting the purchase of government bonds on the pretense that such bonds are a good investment, is either a party to a confidence game or a victim of stupid management. In either case I am not kidded.

During World War 2, the treasury importuned me several times to act as runner for a swindle which it was operating through the sale of bonds to our commonality. Usually, the fast talk to the suckers was pitched in the mood of patriotism. But there was always a false representation that a $750 bond, maturing at $1,000 in ten years, represented a gain of $250. If George Spelvin, American, bought two bonds, his gain would be $500. Visions were depicted of junior going to college on this investment, plus the profit. There were many variations of that theme.

We learned afterward that some unconscionable fakers, who had publicly bought large amounts in theatres, sometimes being permitted to kiss an actress or take even more interesting public liberties with same in freedom's name, turned them back next morning and got public credit for a high degree of patriotism. In the Benny Meyers scandal we learned of a device whereby a purchaser of bonds in bulk could turn a profit overnight without putting up a dollar. However, those are side issues.

The Treasury appealed to me to become its partner in crime because I had access to a wide expanse of white paper. It presumed that the seeming of patriotism would justify a deception on those who had confidence in my intelligence and integrity. The best I could manage, and, mind you, my situation was unusually trying because I was an anti-Roosevelt pariah, was something to the effect that, if our country went down, our money would be no good at all, so, therefore, it would be well to buy bonds to try to keep her from going down.

I am not going to do even that little again. In honesty, I can't because the value of the dollar is going steadily down. Ten years hence the purchasing power of the dollars that I would get for my bonds will be so badly diminished that I would come up with a serious loss. I remember when the franc was worth 20 cents of our money. I later saw a day when the franc was worth a little less than three cents. It was no good at all as a unit of money. The five-franc note was about the smallest unit that was worth while, even as a tip. The dollar, which used to command genuine respect, is so cheap now that it won't but a meal in a second rate restaurant.

If I bought a government bond in 1940, paying $750, and if I get $1,000 for it at maturity in 1950, I actually got back less purchasing power than I invested. Assuming that I paid an income tax of 15 per cent, or the $250 which the government paid me as interest, which would be $37.50, my actual pay-off was $962.50.

Well, we all have to pay income-tax, so that is not so bad.

But the $962.50, net, has a purchasing power of only 57.32 per cent of the 1940 dollar. Therefore, although I get $962.50, net, for a bond that cost me $750 in 1940 dollars, the purchasing power of my $1,000 bond in 1950, was only $551.70. If I had bought any one of a number of respectable industrial securities in 1940 the decline of the dollar would have been compensated by a rise in the market price of the stock. Anyway, the market price would have risen somewhat, whereas bonds held still. In the meantime, I probably would have received not a mere $250 per $750 in dividends but, probably, almost twice that.

The reason why I won't go along with the ballyhoo for the sale of bonds for the war in Korea or its extension to Europe and/or Asia and/or New York, Detroit and Pittsburgh, is that the appeal is dishonest. At the present rate of the decline of the dollar, the payoff will be no less disappointing this time. Business men are dishonest with us when they hit the corporation tills and take out their stockholders' money to pay for patriotic, institutional ads urging those stockholders to buy gold brick bonds. Any executive chief of a large corporation who hasn't got the

The Constitution of the United States has been amended to forbid any President from being elected for more than two terms or from being elected more than once if he had served two years of his predecessor's term.

The importance of the amendment hardly could be over-stated. The evils of too long tenure in the White House are now apparent even to the alert grade-school pupil. Most of the incompetence and official arrogance in Washington today arises from the fact that the New Deal-Fair Deal political hangers-on have been too long in power. Entrenched in office for eighteen years, the bureaucrats have grown fat and flabby, they tend to grow careless, and indifferent to the rights and privileges of citizens. Their attitude tends to become "I am the State" or that the American public is dumb.

The two-term tradition was established by George Washington, supported and sustained by Thomas Jefferson and reaffirmed by every President through Herbert Hoover. In 1940 Franklin D. Roosevelt felt himself "indispensable." No other candidate could be counted upon, at that time, to be capable of dragging us into another World War. The third term became an imperative of New Deal policy. The fourth term followed on a modification of the same principle of the "indispensable man." In 1944 the argument ran that no candidate could be depended upon to build the peace at Yalta.

If this were a presidential year, the argument would be that only Truman could be counted upon to "turn back the Russian hordes in Europe and Asia." There would be a terrific hue and cry for a sixth term, with the vast power of the "Voice of America" and every other agency of federal propaganda beating the tom-toms for the still "indispensable man."

A constitutional amendment forbidding a third term would have resolved all these difficulties in the mid-summer of 1940 when the federal debt stood at 40 billion dollars. Today the debt is 257 billion dollars and continues to grow and grow.

A new administration would have taken office in January, 1941. There would have been a house-cleaning of Communists, and fellow traveler spies in Washington. America would have taken a new lease of life and made a beginning toward a restoration of orderly constitutional government.

Through the magic of radar, unseen and distant objects flash into view. Maybe we could put it to use in attempting to catch sight of the cost of living.

NO PLACE FOR FREEDOM

It is not possible for a newspaper which has ideas about freedom of the press to survive under the government of a dictator. This fact is being discovered anew by La Prensa of Buenos Aires, largest newspaper published in the Spanish language and one of the most highly respected.

While all other newspapers in Argentina had yielded to the pressures of the Peron government, La Prensa and one other, La Nacion, also of Buenos Aires, had adamantly remained independent. They have not often been so bold as to question or attack Peron directly, but have insisted on operating as though freedom of the press were still in existence in Argentina. But such successes, while personally gratifying, can in no way safeguard the value of the dollar which the worker earns, or nobody else's dollar, for that matter. And our task at this moment is to protect the value of the dollar.

It would appear that Charles E. Wilson faces lots of trouble with labor leaders who place themselves above economic law. If they push Wilson too hard, he will have no alternative but to resign, for it is impossible to believe that he will permit himself to be reduced to the position of Donald Nelson of World War II, who was pushed around by every kind of pressure group. Wilson is bound to stand firm on policy and to protect the country against every self-serving element in the population, business, farmer and labor.

That Body of Yours

STUDYING THE COMMON COLD

We have all heard of cancer units—groups of research laboratory workers, practicing physicians and chemists whose entire efforts are devoted to investigating the cause of cancer so that humanity may escape this terrible scourge.

On the same pattern, cold units have been established, to learn more about the common cold which, while not fatal in itself, nevertheless is the cause of much suffering and loss of time from work. It is, as well, forerunner of such dangerous diseases as pneumonia, bronchopneumonia and tuberculosis.

The findings of the Common Cold Research Unit, Harvard Hospital, Salisbury, Wilts., England, set up by the Medical Research Council and the Ministry of Health in 1946, are reported by Dr. C. H. Andrews in the British Lancet. The primary object of this cold unit was to try to find a laboratory technique with which colds could be conveniently studied. This object has not yet been reached. All atempts to cultivate a virus (the tiny organism believed causing colds) in fertile eggs or to infect by inoculation any laboratory animal other than the chimpanzee, failed.

Notwithstanding the failure of this unit to cultivate the virus and learn more about colds, some important information about colds was obtained by a study of injections into the nose of substances causing infection, into 899 human volunteers over a period of two and one-half years. Volunteers were isolated in pairs for 10 days of which the first three days was the quarantine period. Inoculations were made on the fourth day, test and control material being identified by serial numbers so that during the course of each experiment neither observers nor volunteers knew which material had been injected. In a test of the efficacy of the quarantine period and isolation precautions, of 47 volunteers receiving sterile injections (no organisms in the broth injections) only 2 developed doubtful mild colds and 45 had no symptoms whatever. Of those receiving injections of cold organisms, 60 per cent had symptoms of disease.

Are colds always caught? It was found that individuals in good health using ordinary care had a high resistance against colds. When the individual, carrying the virus, had cold feet and felt draughts, these upset natural resistance and a cold developed.

How does a cold spread? Coarse droplets from sneezing and coughing may make a "direct hit" and cause colds, while organisms wafted by the air may not do so. Avoiding direct hits (coughs and sneezes) from an individual with a cold is our best protection from colds.

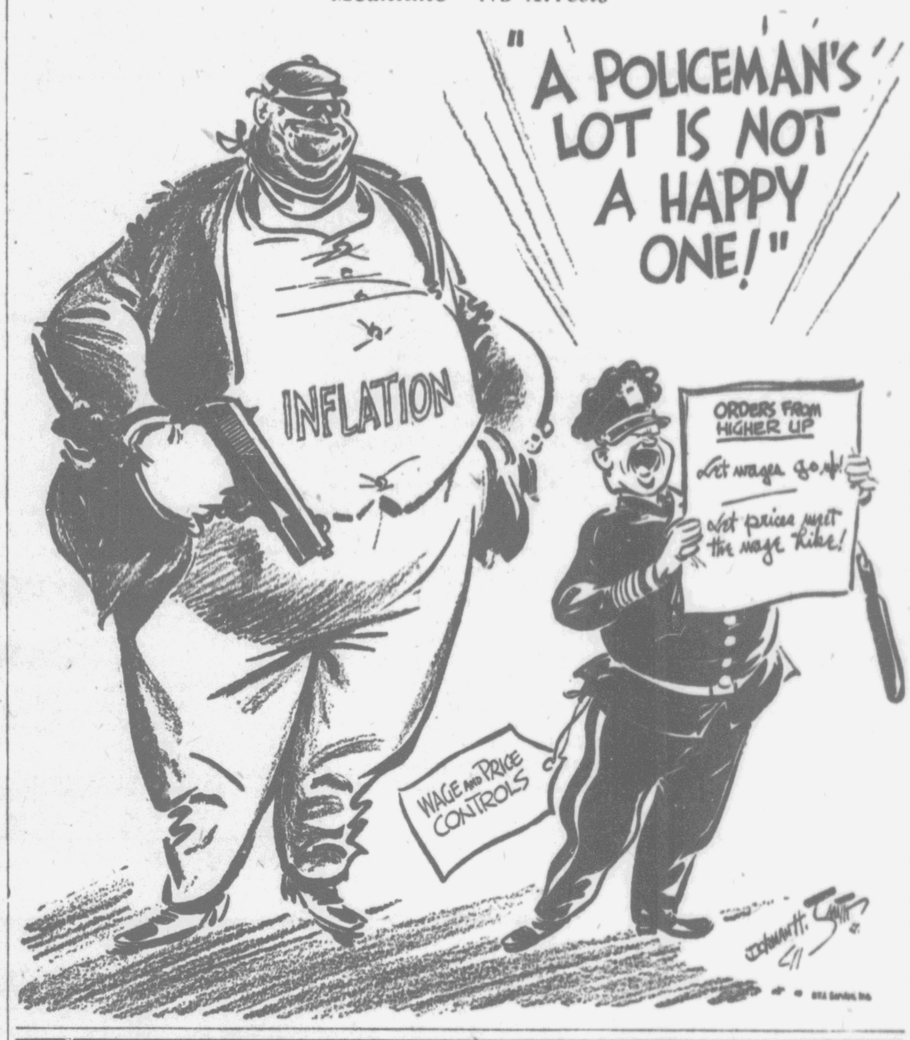
Meantime—No Arrests



The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Alongside the Iron Curtain, Adrianople, Turkey — Winston Churchill's well-coined phrase "the iron curtain" has now become so universal that some people really believe the Soviet border is encased in iron. Actually, however, the curtain is made of barbed wire—and rusty barbed wire at that.

This writer visited the southernmost segment of the iron curtain today at a spot where democratic Turkey and Communist Bulgaria meet. This border is the start of a long tangled barricade zigzagging north past Hungary, Austria, Czechoslovakia, Germany and Poland. And though the fields of winter barley are just as green on both sides of this barbed-wire barricade, it might just as well have been made of iron as far as free exchange of human intercourse is concerned.

I drove up to the curtain in a jeep with Captain Feths Seckin and Lieutenant Ali Aksoz of the Turkish army. The latter is in command of a ten-man detachment guarding the Kaprikule outpost. The road leading to the curtain was paved with centuries-old stone and beside the road were Roman wells built by Emperor Adrian. But the traffic leading to the barbed-wire curtain, aside from an ox team pulling a John Deere disc drill, a tribute to the Marshall Plan, was nil.

Suddenly the road ended. Ahead was an iron gate bearing that international English word known to every tongue: "Stop." Beyond it was another gate slightly rusty and delapidated bearing the words "Bulgaria" in both French and Cyrillic. This was the iron curtain and the place which Turks call Serhad, which significantly has two meanings: The frontier and the neckline where on'e head is chopped off.

Blockhouses Guard Curtain

Alongside the gate was a series of blockhouses—one on the Bulgarian side, a little shabby with some of its windowpanes missing, and two on the Turkish side, both new and orderly. One Turkish blockhouse—set back from the iron gate but connected with it by a series of trenches—housed troops.

I climbed stairs inside the thick-walled parapet to the tower on top of which a Turkish soldier stood scanning the landscape through field glasses. Through his glasses we could see a Bulgarian guard in the tower on the opposite side of the Iron Curtain scrutinizing us. From time to time he would run to the telephone evidently to notify his headquarters about our party. Aside from this, there was almost no movement on the frontier. The sturdy walls, pierced with rifle slots, looked down on nothing more than the winter barley fields and the long, long barricade of barbed wire extending north.

Prisoners Escape

A herd of water buffalo grazed in the distance. They did not know the difference between communism or democracy, between Russianized Bulgaria or Turkey—to which the Truman doctrine is supplying arms and Marshall Plan aid. They only knew that the grass was just as green on either side.

"Sometimes," remarked Captain Seckin, "sheep or buffalo get under the wire and cross to the Bulgarian side and the Communists shoot them. Our farmers get no chance to herd them back." Sometimes, also, I learned, Bulgarian political prisoners sneak through the barbed wire at night to give themselves up to Turkish authorities. This happens at the rate of two or three times per month and they tell a story of harassment and political suppression in what once was a relatively democratic country.

Climbing down from the watch-tower we moved closer to the Iron Curtain to the second Turkish building. This one was just six feet from the gate separating the two countries.

On rare occasions an official with a properly visaed passport is permitted to pass through this gate and customs officials are kept on the Turkish side to handle such transits. We sat down a few feet from the gate to drink coffee with the customs officials. The weather was cold but the sun was warm and I pulled my chair out onto a stone platform in the sunshine in full view of the Communist guards peering down through rifle slots in their watchtower 50 feet away.

I don't know and never will know what they thought of the stranger—the civilian dressed in western clothes who sat and drank coffee just below them. I don't even know whether they recognized me as an American but the Turkish guards, who watched them from the tower with their field glasses, reported that, on the opposite side of the Iron Curtain, there was more scurrying and moe frantic telephoning back to their headquarters.

However, the sun was warm and the coffee delicious and we lingered talking about the days when the army of Sultan Beyazid battled with the armored knights of the Polish king and the grand marshal of France in the days of the crusades across these same barley fields before the gates of Adrianople.

Battle for Adrianople

For hundreds of years men had fought to control this gateway to the Bosporus and they were still fighting. But the big question is would another war start actively this spring? Would the Russians attack before Eisenhower has a chance to strengthen the armies of western Europe, before an American-equipped Turkish Army becomes stronger, before Marshal Tito further solidifies his hold on Yugoslavia? That is a question discussed in the chanceries and the coffee houses of the Near East and that is a question I came to Europe to try to answer.

Talking about it I drove back to Adrianople, drove back over an age-old blood-soaked battlefield now planted in barley by oxen and John Deere disc drills—a battlefield sure to be one of the first points of attack if war comes.

Labor Leaders' Stand Is Viewed as 'Tragic Situation' in Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 1—Labor-union leaders have begun a strike against their own government. Unless they can make the rules, they will not participate in the emergency boards created by the government.

This is the tragic situation which confronts the American people today as a group of labor-union leaders show defiance not only against the President but against the entire effort of the government to bring about some kind of stabilization in the war against inflation.

When the Wage Stabilization Board was appointed, three members each were selected from management, from the public, and from labor. The first formula, which provided that under certain circumstances a 10 per cent increase in wages would be permitter, evoked the opposition of the labor members and they voted against it and then walked out of the board's meeting. They felt that 10 per cent wasn't high enough and not sufficiently inclusive of "fringe benefits," pensions, automatic increases in contracts, and the like.

Since then the director of defense mobilization and the director of economic stabilization have endeavored to improve the formula and to make it more acceptable to labor's viewpoint. But even this hasn't been persuasive. The labor members have been given an opportunity to come back to the board and vote on the amended formula. They have refused to do so.

The strike technique has long been used to bend employers to the will of labor unions, but it has never before been used to attempt to coerce the government of the United States. All government employes nowadays, in order to hold their jobs, and applicants, in order to get jobs, must sign a pledge that they are not members of any organization which believes in the right to strike against the government. But the labor members of the Wage Stabilization Board are not salaried personnel and hence technically they are not violating any rule of the government itself.

The fact remains, however, that the spirit of public service today requires that there should be no strike technique used against the government. Presumably the three labor members feel they are acting as individuals who have merely refused to serve. This is their legal right. But what shall be said of the United Labor Policy Committee which consists of the heads of the CIO and the AFL and the railroad unions and the machinists and which has just instructed the three members of the Wage Stabilization Board not to return to the posts they left several days ago? It doesn't look like individual action. It's a concerted strike against the government.

Does this mean that the labor policy committee reserves the right to pull out hereafter any labor representatives serving on any board whenever the decisions happen to be unfavorable to the labor viewpoint? Can there ever be any impartial decisions if the three public members are not to be permitted to function because the labor members absent themselves or resign?

During the last war the three separate groups in the War Labor Board often dissented from each other's views, but the real decision was made by the three public members, though at times a member from either the management group or the labor group would join to make a majority decision.

Plainly, if union labor does not wish to cooperate in helping the government to stabilize wage rates, the President will have to put all the power in the hands of a single board with members representing the public and eliminating both management and labor representatives. There is much to be said in favor of such an arrangement, but it certainly is disheartening to see the change made under such coercive influences as are being manifested now.

Justice wouldn't last long in America if, whenever a decision of the majority were disliked by the minority, the latter resigned and wouldn't play. Individuals often differ on controversial questions and sometimes a resignation from a board comes as a result of a long series of disagreements. But this defection has occurred on the very first major issue before the board. It indicates that the labor-union leadership of America has either overreached itself to the point where it demands a board of its own choosing and rules favorable to its own viewpoint or else that the labor-union leaders don't really want representation at all. Maybe they want to force a one-man administrator to make the decisions, or else a public board without labor or management representation. It certainly doesn't look like a spirit of cooperation.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Any corporation which donates money belonging to its stockholders to pay for advertisements promoting the purchase of government bonds on the pretense that such bonds are a good investment, is either a party to a confidence game or a victim of stupid management. In either case I am not kidded.

During World War 2, the treasury importuned me several times to act as runner for a swindle which it was operating through the sale of bonds to our commonality. Usually, the fast talk to the suckers was pitched in the mood of patriotism. But there was always a false representation that a $750 bond, maturing at $1,000 in ten years, represented a gain of $250. If George Spelvin, American, bought two bonds, his gain would be $500. Visions were depicted of junior going to college on this investment, plus the profit. There were many variations of that theme.

We learned afterward that some unconscionable fakers, who had publicly bought large amounts in theatres, sometimes being permitted to kiss an actress or take even more interesting public liberties with same in freedom's name, turned them back next morning and got public credit for a high degree of patriotism. In the Benny Meyers scandal we learned of a device whereby a purchaser of bonds in bulk could turn a profit overnight without putting up a dollar. However, those are side issues.

The Treasury appealed to me to become its partner in crime because I had access to a wide expanse of white paper. It presumed that the seeming of patriotism would justify a deception on those who had confidence in my intelligence and integrity. The best I could manage, and, mind you, my situation was unusually trying because I was an anti-Roosevelt pariah, was something to the effect that, if our country went down, our money would be no good at all, so, therefore, it would be well to buy bonds to try to keep her from going down.

I am not going to do even that little again. In honesty, I can't because the value of the dollar is going steadily down. Ten years hence the purchasing power of the dollars that I would get for my bonds will be so badly diminished that I would come up with a serious loss. I remember when the franc was worth 20 cents of our money. I later saw a day when the franc was worth a little less than three cents. It was no good at all as a unit of money. The five-franc note was about the smallest unit that was worth while, even as a tip. The dollar, which used to command genuine respect, is so cheap now that it won't but a meal in a second rate restaurant.

If I bought a government bond in 1940, paying $750, and if I get $1,000 for it at maturity in 1950, I actually got back less purchasing power than I invested. Assuming that I paid an income tax of 15 per cent, or the $250 which the government paid me as interest, which would be $37.50, my actual pay-off was $962.50.

Well, we all have to pay income-tax, so that is not so bad.

But the $962.50, net, has a purchasing power of only 57.32 per cent of the 1940 dollar. Therefore, although I get $962.50 net, for a bond that cost me $750 in 1940 dollars, the purchasing power of my $1,000 bond in 1950, was only $551.70. If I had bought any one of a number of respectable industrial securities in 1940 the decline of the dollar would have been compensated by a rise in the market price of the stock. Anyway, the market price would have risen somewhat, whereas bonds held still. In the meantime, I probably would have received not a mere $250 per $750 in dividends but, probably, almost twice that.

The reason why I won't go along with the ballyhoo for the sale of bonds for the war in Korea or its extension to Europe and/or Asia and/or New York, Detroit and Pittsburgh, is that the appeal is dishonest. At the present rate of the decline of the dollar, the payoff will be no less disappointing this time. Business men are dishonest with us when they hit the corporation tills and take out their stockholders' money to pay for patriotic, institutional ads urging those stockholders to buy gold brick bonds. Any executive chief of a large corporation who hasn't got the

Fishermen Protest Artillery Plans

Stonington, Conn., March 1 (AP)—Marine fishermen exploded here today when they learned that the army wants to put an artillery impact area right smack on top of what they describe as one of their "most productive" fishing grounds.

The area, roughly 16 by 24 miles, off Montauk Point on the eastern tip of Long Island passing within about seven and one-half miles of Block Island, is sought by the army, a spokesman said.

Fishermen from three states said anti-aircraft shells from artillery practicing at Camp Hero, Montauk, Long Island, will be shot over the area beginning in April, according to a public notice which arrived here yesterday from the New York headquarters of the army engineers.

A storm of protest flared at once from fishermen here, at Point Judith, R. I., and Montauk Point, N. Y.

They said that complaints will be filed at once with U. S. senators, representatives from the three states and army engineers.

"This will restrict us from one of our most productive fishing grounds," declared John B. Bindloss, of Southington, chairman of the Atlantic States Marine Fisheries Commission and owner of a number of fishing vessels.

Farmers Blamed For Slow Progress

Budapest, March 1 (AP)—A top Hungarian Communist has told his party that Hungary can complete its five-year plan a year earlier, if the farmers will "make up their backwardness." The plan began in January, 1950.

The party's deputy secretary general, Minister of State Erno Gero, told the second party congress that the past year's record indicates Hungarian industry will meet its five-year goal by mid-1953 and that agricultural goals can be reached in four years through extra effort.

Gero called for a doubling of labor's productivity before the end of 1954 and a stop to migration of workers.

"Capitalist elements" still existing in trade must be sharply restricted, the minister said. With Hungary's wholesale trade entirely nationalized, Gero's statement was seen as a certain indication that the few retail concerns still under private ownership would likewise be taken over.

(Similar speed-ups in five-year plans have recently been announced in the Soviet Union as well as in other of the Russian satellite countries. None of the announcements, however, have given specific tonnage statistics on the quotas or their fulfillment.)

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Lund returned to Woodstock on Wednesday from a vacation in New Orleans.

Fishermen Protest Artillery Plans

Stonington, Conn., March 1 (AP)—Marine fishermen exploded here today when they learned that the army wants to put an artillery impact area right smack on top of what they describe as one of their "most productive" fishing grounds.

The area, roughly 16 by 24 miles, off Montauk Point on the eastern tip of Long Island passing within about seven and one-half miles of Block Island, is sought by the army, a spokesman said.

Fishermen from three states said anti-aircraft shells from artillery practicing at Camp Hero, Montauk, Long Island, will be shot over the area beginning in April, according to a public notice which arrived here yesterday from the New York headquarters of the army engineers.

A storm of protest flared at once from fishermen here, at Point Judith, R. I., and Montauk Point, N. Y.

They said that complaints will be filed at once with U. S. senators, representatives from the three states and army engineers.

"This will restrict us from one of our most productive fishing grounds," declared John B. Bindloss, of Southington, chairman of the Atlantic States Marine Fisheries Commission and owner of a number of fishing vessels.

Some birds complete their nests in a single day, while others require several months.

Farmers Blamed For Slow Progress

Budapest, March 1 (AP)—A top Hungarian Communist has told his party that Hungary can complete its five-year plan a year earlier, if the farmers will "make up their backwardness." The plan began in January, 1950.

The party's deputy secretary general, Minister of State Erno Gero, told the second party congress that the past year's record indicates Hungarian industry will meet its five-year goal by mid-1953 and that agricultural goals can be reached in four years through extra effort.

Gero called for a doubling of labor's productivity before the end of 1954 and a stop to migration of workers.

"Capitalist elements" still existing in trade must be sharply restricted, the minister said. With Hungary's wholesale trade entirely nationalized, Gero's statement was seen as a certain indication that the few retail concerns still under private ownership would likewise be taken over.

(Similar speed-ups in five-year plans have recently been announced in the Soviet Union as well as in other of the Russian satellite countries. None of the announcements, however, have given specific tonnage statistics on the quotas or their fulfillment.)

The mistletoe parasite makes its home on apple, thorn, maple, poplar, locust, and linden trees, and also may be found on oak.

The male horsefly lives on nectar and tree sap.

Participating in the program on Sunday, March 4, at the Woodstock Town Hall at 3:30 p. m., will be Inez Carroll, pianist, Alice Smiley, violinist, Genevieve Nicholas, violist, and Hans Cohn, cellist.

The first half of the program will be the Mozart Piano Quartet No. 2, Allegro, Larghetto, Allegretto. Following the intermission the group will play Brahms Trio No. 2, Allegro, Andante con moto, Scherzo—Presto, Finale—Allegro giocoso.

The final concert in this series will be given on Sunday, April 8, at the Town Hall at 3:30 p. m.

Lutherans Hold First Place in Y.M. League

Woodstock, March 1 — Monday night the Lutheran bowlers won two games from Port Ewen, and thus kept second place in the Y.M.C.A. Church League.

In the first game Robert Torrens rolled a 180 high single, accounting for the first win. In the third game it was Everett Wolven's 169 high single that saved the game. The other two bowlers John Wolven and Erwin Holumzer contributed a considerable amount of team spirit to the game.

Philips Home Entered

Woodstock, March 1—According to Trooper Ray Dunn, evidence has been found that the home of Mrs. Anita Philips of Plochmann Lane, was broken into recently. Trooper Dunn stated in Woodstock on Wednesday that the telephone wires had been cut and slight damage to some furniture had been done. He also said that the full extent of the damage could not be determined until Mrs. Philips returns to Woodstock from New York, where she has been spending the winter, to survey the property.

Local Varsity Edges Durham Five by 47-45

Woodstock, March 1—With a narrow margin of victory, the Woodstock Varsity basketball team defeated Durham at Durham on Tuesday night, with a score of 47 to 45. High scorer for Woodstock was Bill Kleine with 25 points and for Durham Quick with a score of 21.

Meat Prices Are Trimmed By Many as Shopping Lure

(By The Associated Press)

Many stores trimmed meat prices a few cents a pound here and there this week, trying to lure shoppers back to the butcher counters.

But aside from these scattered reductions aimed at overcoming the consumer price resistance which has slowed meat sales in the past two weeks, changes in retail food prices generally were slight.

Poultry was up about two cents a pound in some large market centers, partly because of increased demand as buyers switched to chicken from higher-priced meats, and partly because growers in several important areas restricted shipments to force quotations higher.

Egg Prices Ease

Eggs eased one to four cents a dozen compared with last weekend, and with supplies at a seasonally high level, the Agriculture Department stressed eggs as a plentiful-food headliner for this week. Butter eased a cent or two a pound in many places.

The meat price-cutting appeared to be concentrated mostly in the more popular beef and veal items, with some reductions of as much as 10 cents a pound reported on porterhouse, sirloin and round steaks. However, the declines were too spotty to indicate a general trend. Some wholesalers said the burdensome supplies of beef which backed up to the wholesale level last week as consumer meat buying fell off were being fairly well absorbed this week. And one major chain reported its meat prices were holding unchanged at ceiling levels all over the country.

Say They Are Losing

The National Association of Meat Processors and Wholesalers urged that meat be removed from the general price ceiling regulation, saying livestock prices have increased above the "frozen" ceilings of the independent meat wholesaler and processor. Members of the association, which says it supplies up to 85 per cent of the meat going into several major cities, contend they are losing money because of this squeeze and cannot continue to absorb such losses.

And at New York, members of the Metropolitan Meat Slaughterers Association which provide 5,000,000 pounds of meat weekly to New York and New Jersey said "we will have to shut down unless a price ceiling on livestock is imposed immediately."

The Office of Price Stabilization announced in Washington that livestock ceiling are on the way.

Items Move Higher

On produce counters this week, tangerines, snap beans and bunch beets moved a little higher pricewise, but these items were generally lower: Lettuce (selling below cost in many places following heavy shipments from California), onions, tomatoes, celery, California oranges and grapes.

Food prices at the wholesale level, as measured by the Dun & Bradstreet Index, tipped downward this week for the first time in 20 weeks. The index declined six cents to $7.25, and compared with $5.85 a year ago and with $5.96 just before the Korean war broke out. The index represents the total cost of a pound each of 31 foods at wholesale. Four of the 31 were higher this week, 12 lower.

Here's the Agriculture Department's list of most-plentiful foods for thrifty buying in March: Apples, processed citrus fruits, lettuce, potatoes, sauerkraut, eggs, broiler and fryer chickens, heavy turkeys, frozen fish fillets, cottage cheese, peanut butter, dry beans and honey.

Meat Prices Are Trimmed By Many as Shopping Lure

(By The Associated Press)

Many stores trimmed meat prices a few cents a pound here and there this week, trying to lure shoppers back to the butcher counters.

But aside from these scattered reductions aimed at overcoming the consumer price resistance which has slowed meat sales in the past two weeks, changes in retail food prices generally were slight.

Poultry was up about two cents a pound in some large market centers, partly because of increased demand as buyers switched to chicken from higher-priced meats, and partly because growers in several important areas restricted shipments to force quotations higher.

Egg Prices Ease

Eggs eased one to four cents a dozen compared with last weekend, and with supplies at a seasonally high level, the Agriculture Department stressed eggs as a plentiful-food headliner for this week. Butter eased a cent or two a pound in many places.

The meat price-cutting appeared to be concentrated mostly in the more popular beef and veal items, with some reductions of as much as 10 cents a pound reported on porterhouse, sirloin and round steaks. However, the declines were too spotty to indicate a general trend. Some wholesalers said the burdensome supplies of beef which backed up to the wholesale level last week as consumer meat buying fell off were being fairly well absorbed this week. And one major chain reported its meat prices were holding unchanged at ceiling levels all over the country.

Say They Are Losing

The National Association of Meat Processors and Wholesalers urged that meat be removed from the general price ceiling regulation, saying livestock prices have increased above the "frozen" ceilings of the independent meat wholesaler and processor. Members of the association, which says it supplies up to 85 per cent of the meat going into several major cities, contend they are losing money because of this squeeze and cannot continue to absorb such losses.

And at New York, members of the Metropolitan Meat Slaughterers Association which provide 5,000,000 pounds of meat weekly to New York and New Jersey said "we will have to shut down unless a price ceiling on livestock is imposed immediately."

The Office of Price Stabilization announced in Washington that livestock ceiling are on the way.

Items Move Higher

On produce counters this week, tangerines, snap beans and bunch beets moved a little higher pricewise, but these items were generally lower: Lettuce (selling below cost in many places following heavy shipments from California), onions, tomatoes, celery, California oranges and grapes.

Food prices at the wholesale level, as measured by the Dun & Bradstreet Index, tipped downward this week for the first time in 20 weeks. The index declined six cents to $7.25, and compared with $5.85 a year ago and with $5.96 just before the Korean war broke out. The index represents the total cost of a pound each of 31 foods at wholesale. Four of the 31 were higher this week, 12 lower.

Here's the Agriculture Department's list of most-plentiful foods for thrifty buying in March: Apples, processed citrus fruits, lettuce, potatoes, sauerkraut, eggs, broiler and fryer chickens, heavy turkeys, frozen fish fillets, cottage cheese, peanut butter, dry beans and honey.

Mrs. Jerome Hurd entertained a bridge group at her home Tuesday afternoon.

Gambling 'Take'

with cash transactions of a nature more to be concealed than revealed by precise record keeping.

In anybody's language, $20,000,000,000 a year is big money. Here's how it stacks up with Commerce Department figures on other consumer outlays, which means total amounts spent on retail purchases:

Overall consumer spending-currently, a record $195,800,000,000 a year.

Outlays on auto and parts—$12,800,000,000 a year; on gas and oil, $3,300,000,000.

Furniture and other household effects—$13,100,000,000.

Clothing and shoes—$19,400,000,000.

Tobacco—$4,500,000,000.

Food and drink, including liquor, beer, wine, etc.—$62,100,000,000.

A $20,000,000,000 a year gambling bill would dwarf the aggregate prices of all houses bought in a year, which latest Federal Reserve Board data place at $11,200,000,000 in 1949.

Taxwise, it's big money, too. President Truman figures to get, out of individual income taxes at present levels, $21,599,000,000 for this fiscal year, $26,025,000,000 for next.

Naturally, the gambling operators are going to contribute to those tax totals, too, although the Senate committee contends their tax payments are "many millions of dollars, perhaps running into hundreds of millions" less than they should be.

The committee made it plain it did not mean gambling operators are "clearing" as a profit all the money they take in, although it did say "a not inconsiderable portion" of the $20,000,000,000 "stays with promoters and operators."

Three Red Jets Are Shot Down

U. S. Fifth Air Force Headquarters, Korea, March 1 (AP)—Three Red jet planes were shot down in a 10 minute aerial battle between four F-80s and 12 Russian-made MIGS over Sinuiju this afternoon.

The report was made by Maj. Gen. Earle E. Partridge, Fifth Air Force commander tonight.

The air battle was the first reported since early last month.

Sinuiju is in North Korea just a few miles from Communist China's Manchurian air base.

Auriol May . . .

vote would have necessitated the dissolution of Parliament and a special general election under the present Election Law—which no one except the Communists wants to keep.

Thus for Pleven to have fought out the issue would have defeated his own purpose—and that of most other deputies—to select a new national Legislature under a system that won't permit the Communists to again have the largest single party representation.

That has resulted, under the present law, based largely on proportional representation. The difficulty has been to get the other non-Communist parties to agree on a suitable substitute, since each party wants to retain or increase any advantages it now enjoys under the present law.

Committee Will Plan ChildAdoptionProgram

Miss Lois Raynor of the Child Placing and Adopting Committee of the State Charities Aid Association will be the leader of a meeting of the newly-formed local committee. Mrs. Herbert C. Fister, local group chairman, announced that the meeting will convene at the Y.W.C.A. building, 209 Clinton avenue, Tuesday, March 6 at 8 p. m.

The responsibility of the committee will be to assist in finding homes in this area for children whose ages range from infancy to eight years. Similar committees are in operation in other cities in the Hudson Valley area and are receiving guidance from the state office.

Serving on the local committee are Mrs. Clifford C. Rose, Mrs. John R. Warren, the Rev. D. L. Haynes, the Rev. Marshall Smith, the Rev. Ivan Gossoo. It is the desire of the committee that all interested citizens in the area attend Tuesday's meeting.

Settlement Is . . .

tions which had begun last Oct. 25.

The 15 unions originally had asked for a 25 per cent hourly wage increase for their members, including shop employes, machinists, clerks and others who do not actually run the trains.

To Cost 280 Millions

Another increase, estimated at four to five cents an hour, will be added to the 12½ cents around April 1, based on the government's cost-of-living index of Feb. 15.

A still further boost in the hourly wage rate will be permitted in the summer of 1952, if the government's stabilization program permits the kind of productivity allowance called for by the CIO-auto workers contract in the automobile industry.

That is supposed to allow another four cents an hour to compensate for improved productivity over the past year, effective May 29.

No Ratification Needed

The union chiefs, speaking through George E. Leighty, chairman of the Railway Labor Executives Association, said no further ratification by the unions is necessary.

He told a news conference the agreement was signed, sealed and delivered on the spot after the all-night session.

This explanation was significant because a similar agreement was announced under parallel circumstances at the White House last Dec. 21 for the four operating rail unions. That settlement was later rejected by local chairmen of the operating unions.

The new agreement specifies that no further wage increase will be sought until Oct. 1, 1953.

Terrorism Continues

Kuala Lumpur (AP) — British armed forces are killing an average of two Communist terrorists daily in Malaya. But while the terrorist death toll is rising, so is their activity. In a recent seven-day period, terrorists slashed more than 5,000 rubber trees, destroyed many buses, and murdered seven civilians.

Rubber Smuggling

Singapore, (AP)—Rubber smugglers aren't doing so well. Singapore police seized about 400 piculs of rubber and arrested 25 men in a recent 10-day period. That's a $100,000 loss for the smugglers. Efforts to get rubber out of Singapore illegally have increased with the sensational rise in rubber prices. Rubber now sells in the Singapore market for $2.25 per pound, and has been up as high as $2.36.

Gambling 'Take'

with cash transactions of a nature more to be concealed than revealed by precise record keeping.

In anybody's language, $20,000,000,000 a year is big money. Here's how it stacks up with Commerce Department figures on other consumer outlays, which means total amounts spent on retail purchases:

Overall consumer spending currently, a record $195,800,000,000 a year.

Outlays on auto and parts—$12,800,000,000 a year; on gas and oil, $3,300,000,000.

Furniture and other household effects—$13,100,000,000.

Clothing and shoes—$19,400,000,000.

Tobacco—$4,500,000,000.

Food and drink, including liquor, beer, wine, etc.—$62,100,000,000.

A $20,000,000,000 a year gambling bill would dwarf the aggregate prices of all houses bought in a year, which latest Federal Reserve Board data place at $11,200,000,000 in 1949.

Taxwise, it's big money, too. President Truman figures to get, out of individual income taxes at present levels, $21,599,000,000 for this fiscal year, $26,025,000,000 for next.

Naturally, the gambling operators are going to contribute to those tax totals, too, although the Senate committee contends their tax payments are "many millions of dollars, perhaps running into hundreds of millions" less than they should be.

The committee made it plain it did not mean gambling operators are "clearing" as a profit all the money they take in, although it did say "a not inconsiderable portion" of the $20,000,000,000 "stays with promoters and operators."

Gambling 'Take'

with cash transactions of a nature more to be concealed than revealed by precise record keeping.

In anybody's language, $20,000,000,000 a year is big money. Here's how it stacks up with Commerce Department figures on other consumer outlays, which means total amounts spent on retail purchases:

Overall consumer spending currently, a record $195,800,000,000 a year.

Outlays on auto and parts—$12,800,000,000 a year; on gas and oil, $3,300,000,000.

Furniture and other household effects—$13,100,000,000.

Clothing and shoes—$19,400,000,000.

Tobacco—$4,500,000,000.

Food and drink, including liquor, beer, wine, etc.—$62,100,000,000.

A $20,000,000,000 a year gambling bill would dwarf the aggregate prices of all houses bought in a year, which latest Federal Reserve Board data place at $11,200,000,000 in 1949.

Taxwise, it's big money, too. President Truman figures to get, out of individual income taxes at present levels, $21,599,000,000 for this fiscal year, $26,023,000,000 for next.

Naturally, the gambling operators are going to contribute to those tax totals, too, although the Senate committee contends their tax payments are "many millions of dollars, perhaps running into hundreds of millions" less than they should be.

The committee made it plain it did not mean gambling operators are "clearing" as a profit all the money they take in, although it did say "a not inconsiderable portion" of the $20,000,000,000 "stays with promoters and operators."

Three Red Jets Are Shot Down

U. S. Fifth Air Force Headquarters, Korea, March 1 (AP)—Three Red jet planes were shot down in a 10 minute aerial battle between four F-80s and 12 Russian-made MIGS over Sinuiju this afternoon.

The report was made by Maj. Gen. Earle E. Partridge, Fifth Air Force commander tonight.

The air battle was the first reported since early last month.

Sinuiju is in North Korea just a few miles from Communist China's Manchurian air base.

Auriol May . . .

vote would have necessitated the dissolution of Parliament and a special general election under the present Election Law—which no one except the Communists wants to keep.

Thus for Pleven to have fought out the issue would have defeated his own purpose—and that of most other deputies—to select a new national Legislature under a system that won't permit the Communists to again have the largest single party representation.

That has resulted under the present law, based largely on proportional representation. The difficulty has been to get the other non-Communist parties to agree on a suitable substitute, since each party wants to retain or increase any advantages it now enjoys under the present law.

Committee Will Plan ChildAdoptionProgram

Miss Lois Raynor of the Child Placing and Adopting Committee of the State Charities Aid Association will be the leader of a meeting of the newly-formed local committee. Mrs. Herbert C. Fister, local group chairman, announced that the meeting will convene at the Y.W.C.A. building, 209 Clinton avenue, Tuesday, March 6 at 8 p. m.

The responsibility of the committee will be to assist in finding homes in this area for children whose ages range from infancy to eight years. Similar committees are in operation in other cities in the Hudson Valley area and are receiving guidance from the state office.

Serving on the local committee are Mrs. Clifford C. Rose, Mrs. John R. Warren, the Rev. D. L. Haynes, the Rev. Marshall Smith, the Rev. Ivan Gossoo. It is the desire of the committee that all interested citizens in the area attend Tuesday's meeting.

Settlement Is . . .

tions which had begun last Oct. 25.

The 15 unions originally had asked for a 25 per cent hourly wage increase for their members, including shop employes, machinists, clerks and others who do not actually run the trains.

To Cost 280 Millions

Another increase, estimated at four to five cents an hour, will be added to the 12½ cents around April 1, based on the government's cost-of-living index of Feb. 15.

A still further boost in the hourly wage rate will be permitted in the summer of 1952, if the government's stabilization program permits the kind of productivity allowance called for by the CIO-auto workers contract in the automobile industry.

That is supposed to allow another four cents an hour to compensate for improved productivity over the past year, effective May 29.

No Ratification Needed

The union chiefs, speaking through George E. Leighty, chairman of the Railway Labor Executives Association, said no further ratification by the unions is necessary.

He told a news conference the agreement was signed, sealed and delivered on the spot after the all-night session.

This explanation was significant because a similar agreement was announced under parallel circumstances at the White House last Dec. 21 for the four operating rail unions. That settlement was later rejected by local chairmen of the operating unions.

The new agreement specifies that no further wage increase will be sought until Oct. 1, 1953.

Terrorism Continues

Kuala Lumpur (AP) — British armed forces are killing an average of two Communist terrorists daily in Malaya. But while the terrorist death toll is rising, so is their activity. In a recent seven-day period, terrorists slashed more than 5,000 rubber trees, destroyed many buses, and murdered seven civilians.

News of Our Own Service Folks

Twins Promoted

Twin brothers serving in the air force, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Petersen, Sr., of 116 Wrentham street, have been promoted in rank this month. Raymond, who has been in service since 1948, is now a sergeant. He re-enlisted for six years on February 4. Robert, who has been in the air force since August 1950, has been advanced to corporal.

Gets Promotion

Furstenfeldbruck Air Base, Germany, Feb. 16—The United States Air Force today announced the promotion to the grade of staff sergeant of Ernest A. Strahlendorff, son of Mrs. Christine Strahlendorff, 21 Van Deusen street.

Prior to his entry into the service in December, 1939, Sgt. Strahlendorff attended Kingston High School and was employed by the Portland Traction Co., Portland, Ore.

Sgt. Strahlendorff is presently assigned to the 36th Motor Vehicle Squadron, 36th Maintenance and Supply Group, 36th Fighter-Bomber Wing, an integral unit of the 2nd Air Division.

Promoted to Colonel

Major Francis J. Vetort, husband of the former Miss Doris Aldrich of this city, was recently promoted to the rank of lieutenant colonel in the United States Air Force. Lt. Col. Vetort is adjutant of the 23rd Fighter Interceptor Wing, Presque Isle Air Force Base, Me. Mrs. Vetort is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Aldrich, 125 Harding avenue.

Col. Vetort, a veteran of more than 10 years in the air force, joined the Maine air base in December to make ready for the activation of the wing in January. He will eventually command the 75th Fighter Interceptor Squadron at the base, flying the F-86 North American "Sabre" jet.

He enlisted as an aviation cadet in 1941 and received flight training at Randolph Field, San Antonio, Tex., and was graduated from Foster Field, Victoria, Tex., in 1942.

Col. Vetort flew 272 combat missions in the Asiatic-Pacific Theatre of Opeartions and was awarded the Asiatic-Pacific ribbon with nine bronze stars, the air medal with seven oak leaf clusters, the Distinguished Flying Cross with two oak leaf clusters and the Presidential Unit Citation with one oak leaf cluster.

R. James Gunther, seaman recruit, U.S.N., son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy J. Gunther of Box 297, Kerhonkson, is undergoing recruit training at the world's largest naval training center, Great Lakes, Illinois.

Rubber Smuggling

Singapore, (AP)—Rubber smugglers aren't doing so well. Singapore police seized about 400 piculs of rubber and arrested 25 men in a recent 10-day period. That's a $100,000 loss for the smugglers. Efforts to get rubber out of Singapore illegally have increased with the sensational rise in rubber prices. Rubber now sells in the Singapore market for $2.25 per pound, and has been up as high as $2.36.

Red Prices Drop, But Money Low

Moscow, March 1 (AP)—The Russian press today hailed the announcement of commodity price reductions in the Soviet Union and compared it with "fabulously rising" prices in the United States and other western countries.

(The new prices are still fabulously high by U. S. standards. No figures came through the Moscow censorship, but best available information would provide these examples: Milk, 1.35 rubles a quart; white bread, 2.30 rubles a pound; butter, 17 a pound; pork, 13.60 a pound; soup meat, 8 a pound. When these are related to purchasing power—the average Russion laborer may make 700 rubles a month—it will be seen that the Russian's money is worth far less than an American workman's is.)

The two leading Russian papers, Pravda and Izvestia, said the price cuts would save Russian consumers 34,500,000,000 rubles a year ($8,625,000,000 at the Russian official rate, an arbitrary and artificial government standard since there is no international market in Russian rubles).

The papers explained that cuts in the retail prices of foodstuffs and consumer goods in 46 categories, ranging from 10 to 22 per cent, would save purchasers 27,500,000,000 rubles.

It was the fourth such price reduction in three years.

The papers coupled their accounts of the price cuts with foreign dispatches headed:

"New price rise in United States."

Toy Auto in Crash

Columbus, O., March 1 (AP)—Clarence T. Cole's automobile and a toy fire engine tangled yesterday, and Cole came off second best. The 28-year-old Cole was backing out of his garage in Columbus. Just then three-year-old Donald Blais pedalled by on an "emergency run" in his red fire engine. The toy caught on the car. Cole got out to free the engine, but his car still was in gear. It pinned him against a garage door, bruising his left leg enough for hospital treatment. Donald wasn't even scratched.

New Lifeboat Control

Dayton, O., March 1 (AP)—Development of a radio-controlled lifeboat that can be guided to survivors, held in place for them to board, and set on course—from an overhead airplane—was announced by the air force today. The A-3 lifeboat, all metal, is 30 feet long, and carries 15 men. It is powered by a four cylinder, water-cooled engine, and is dropped to survivors by a 100-foot parachute.

Data is meager, but it appears that the average life span of prehistoric man was 18 years.

Red Prices Drop, But Money Low

Moscow, March 1 (AP)—The Russian press today hailed the announcement of commodity price reductions in the Soviet Union and compared it with "fabulously rising" prices in the United States and other western countries.

(The new prices are still fabulously high by U. S. standards. No figures came through the Moscow censorship, but best available information would provide these examples: Milk, 1.35 rubles a quart; white bread, 2.30 rubles a pound; butter, 17 a pound; pork, 13.60 a pound; soup meat, 8 a pound. When these are related to purchasing power—the average Russian laborer may make 700 rubles a month—it will be seen that the Russian's money is worth far less than an American workman's is.)

The two leading Russian papers, Pravda and Izvestia, said the price cuts would save Russian consumers 34,500,000,000 rubles a year ($8,625,000,000 at the Russian official rate, an arbitrary and artificial government standard since there is no international market in Russian rubles).

The papers explained that cuts in the retail prices of foodstuffs and consumer goods in 46 categories, ranging from 10 to 22 per cent, would save purchasers 27,500,000,000 rubles.

It was the fourth such price reduction in three years.

The papers coupled their accounts of the price cuts with foreign dispatches headed:

"New price rise in United States."

Toy Auto in Crash

Columbus, O., March 1 (AP)—Clarence T. Cole's automobile and a toy fire engine tangled yesterday, and Cole came off second best. The 28-year-old Cole was backing out of his garage in Columbus. Just then three-year-old Donald Blais pedalled by on an "emergency run" in his red fire engine. The toy caught on the car. Cole got out to free the engine, but his car still was in gear. It pinned him against a garage door, bruising his left leg enough for hospital treatment. Donald wasn't even scratched.

New Lifeboat Control

Dayton, O., March 1 (AP)—Development of a radio-controlled lifeboat that can be guided to survivors, held in place for them to board, and set on course—from an overhead airplane—was announced by the air force today. The A-3 lifeboat, all metal, is 30 feet long, and carries 15 men. It is powered by a four cylinder, water-cooled engine, and is dropped to survivors by a 100-foot parachute.

Data is meager, but it appears that the average life span of prehistoric man was 18 years.

New York Chances OfGettingProgram Are Held Dimmer

Albany, N. Y., March 1 (AP)—New York city's chances of getting legislative approval for a new local tax program appeared slim today, after a knockdown by a Republican fiscal leader.

GOP Senator Walter J. Mahoney, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, said last night in a radio interview (WOKO) that Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri's request for the new taxing powers didn't have a chance of passing.

He also virtually doomed a faint hope of the city administration that the Republican-controlled Legislature might permit Impellitteri to boost the city's existing sales tax from two to three per cent.

He said "there's some life left" in the sales tax proposal, but added:

"Perhaps not too much life."

Mahoney charged that the city was suffering from what he termed "maladministration" in its government. He said that by clearing it up the city could save from $80,000,000 to $100,000,000 a year.

"Why should we pull chestnuts out of the fire for the city of New York?" Mahoney asked. "Let them get the fat out of their payrolls."

Are Held by Committees

The mayor's tax program bills are being held in Mahoney's finance committee and in the Assembly Ways and Means Committee.

In addition to permitting a boost in the city sales tax, the measures would:

1. Authorize an increase to three per cent in the present two-per-cent levy on restaurant meals costing $1 or more, and on consumers' utility bills.

2. Double the present state tax on stock transfers, and turn over half of the increased receipts to the city.

3. Permit the city to levy a two-cent tax on checks and drafts.

4. Repeal a 1950 law to reduce gradually the tax the city now collects on pari-mutuel betting at horse race tracks. The law cuts the levy from five to four per cent in 1952, and decreases it one per cent each year thereafter, until the law expires in 1955.

Napoleon used balloons at the battle of Fleuris, in 1794, to observe the enemy lines from a great distance.

Plan Announced To End Shortage Of Grade Teachers

Albany, N. Y., March 1 (AP)—The State University announced today adoption of a program to help overcome the shortage of elementary school teachers.

The plan, as outlined by President Alvin C. Eurich, includes several features of a similar program, recently approved by the Board of Regents.

The university's program calls for:

1. Admission of high school graduates to teachers colleges in July, rather than September, so they may complete their studies in three years, instead of four.

2. Cooperation with the State Education Department in a drive to enroll liberal arts graduates in an intensive teacher training program. Under the program, holders of bachelor's degrees may qualify for teaching appointments by attending summer school.

3. Enlargement of summer programs at the State Teachers College of New Paltz, Farmingdale, L. I., for rapid training of college graduates primarily from the Queens-Nassau-Suffolk area.

4. Amplification of programs designed to equip liberal arts graduates for teaching.

Eurich said the state would need approximately 3,000 teachers a year for the next five years. He said the teachers colleges would provide approximately 1,150. Other sources of teacher supply, he added, are private colleges, New York city colleges, and out-of-state institutions.

More Vehicles, More Ga

Albany, N. Y., March 1 (AP)—More motor vehicles used more gasoline in New York state in 1950 than in any other year, the State Tax Commission said today that gasoline sales hit a record 2,684,053,244 gallons in 1950 as registrations of motor vehicles set a new mark of 3,882,155.

New York Chances OfGettingProgram Are Held Dimmer

Albany, N. Y., March 1 (AP)—New York city's chances of getting legislative approval for a new local tax program appeared slim today, after a knockdown by a Republican fiscal leader.

GOP Senator Walter J. Mahoney, chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, said last night in a radio interview (WOKO) that Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri's request for the new taxing powers didn't have a chance of passing.

He also virtually doomed a faint hope of the city administration that the Republican-controlled Legislature might permit Impellitteri to boost the city's existing sales tax from two to three per cent.

He said "there's some life left" in the sales tax proposal, but added:

"Perhaps not too much life."

Mahoney charged that the city was suffering from what he termed "maladministration" in its government. He said that by clearing it up the city could save from $80,000,000 to $100,000,000 a year.

"Why should we pull chestnuts out of the fire for the city of New York?" Mahoney asked. "Let them get the fat out of their payrolls."

Are Held by Committees

The mayor's tax program bills are being held in Mahoney's finance committee and in the Assembly Ways and Means Committee.

In addition to permitting a boost in the city sales tax, the measures would:

1. Authorize an increase to three per cent in the present two-per-cent levy on restaurant meals costing $1 or more, and on consumers' utility bills.

2. Double the present state tax on stock transfers, and turn over half of the increased receipts to the city.

3. Permit the city to levy a two-cent tax on checks and drafts.

4. Repeal a 1950 law to reduce gradually the tax the city now collects on pari-mutuel betting at horse race tracks. The law cuts the levy from five to four per cent in 1952, and decreases it one per cent each year thereafter, until the law expires in 1955.

Plan Announced To End Shortage Of Grade Teachers

Albany, N. Y., March 1 (AP)—The State University announced today adoption of a program to help overcome the shortage of elementary school teachers.

The plan, as outlined by President Alvin C. Eurich, includes several features of a similar program, recently approved by the Board of Regents.

The university's program calls for:

1. Admission of high school graduates to teachers colleges in July, rather than September, so they may complete their studies in three years, instead of four.

2. Cooperation with the State Education Department in a drive to enroll liberal arts graduates in an intensive teacher training program. Under the program, holders of bachelor's degrees may qualify for teaching appointments by attending summer school.

3. Enlargement of summer programs at the State Teachers College of New Paltz, Farmingdale, L. I., for rapid training of college graduates primarily from the Queens-Nassau-Suffolk area.

4. Amplification of programs designed to equip liberal arts graduates for teaching.

Eurich said the state would need approximately 3,000 teachers a year for the next five years. He said the teachers colleges would provide approximately 1,150. Other sources of teacher supply, he added, are private colleges, New York city colleges, and out-of-state institutions.

More Vehicles, More Ga

Albany, N. Y., March 1 (AP)—More motor vehicles used more gasoline in New York state in 1950 than in any other year, the State Tax Commission said today that gasoline sales hit a record 2,684,053,244 gallons in 1950 and registrations of motor vehicles set a new mark of 3,882,155.

As Pegler Sees It

acumen to know that this is true, is too dumb to manage a large corporation—for my money.

Is it terribly unpatriotic of me to go on this way, disillusioning our people about government bonds in time of police action by the army of the United Nations? I don't believe it is. I certainly don't want the Kremlin to win this war. I even propose that we amend our Jap war camp law and lock up in concentration camps all the known Communists in the country and all the fellow-travelers. That would just about deplete the moving picture and radio industries and deprive us of the questionable services of at least one justice of our Supreme Court, but I am for it, just the same. I am strictly anti-Communist, but it is not a patriotic service to deceive the people with dishonest talk about the desirability of these bonds as an investment.

It is all right to appeal to people to buy bonds as a patriotic contribution. But it is fraud to tell them that these bonds, at maturity, will provide them with security for their old age. The evidence indicates that they will wind up with a net loss.

I will not join this ballyhoo until President Truman voluntarily gives back every dollar that he has received of that fraudulent $50,000 a year expense allowance and the members of both Houses of Congress dig up about $4 each and reimburse the treasury for the $2,500 of our money that was spent on an undeserved gold medal for Alben Barkley. That was a disgraceful case of larceny by trustee.

I want that much concrete evidence that Truman, Congress and the Democratic administration are willing to try to check inflation.

t is all right to appeal to peo- to buy bonds as a patriotic tribution. But it is fraud to tell m that these bonds, at ma- ity, will provide them with se- curity for their old age. The evi- dence indicates that they will wind up with a net loss.

I will not join this ballyhoo until President Truman voluntar- ily gives back every dollar that he has received of that fraudulent $50,000 a year expense allowance and the members of both Houses of Congress dig up about $4 each and reimburse the treasury for the $2,500 of our money that was spent on an undeserved gold medal for Alben Barkley. That was a disgraceful case of larceny by trustee.

I want that much concrete evi- dence that Truman, Congress and the Democratic administration are willing to try to check inflation.

HIGHLAND NEWS

Highland, Feb. 28 — Several members of the Music Study Club held their meeting Tuesday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Herman Jordan. Owing to the ab- sence of the chairman, Mrs. Al- bert Thompson, those present con- tributed to the program on "Music of America" which was the sub- ject of a reading by Mrs. Myron Hazen; four piano numbers played by Mrs. Jordan, Allegro Brilliante, Humoresque Nocturne and Clair de Lune; piano solo, Puchinello, Herbert, Mrs. Oliver Kent; Stars and Stripes Forever, Sousa, was her second number. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Members of the W.S.C.S. will meet Friday at 12:30 p. m., at the home of the president, Mrs. John F. Wadlin. The committee is Mrs. Charles Patrick, Mrs. Joseph Pampinella, Mrs. Willard Parker, Miss Daisy Perkins, Mrs. Grant Phillips, Miss Elizabeth Rhodes, Mrs. Edward Rhodes and Mrs. Jacob Schuhle. The subject, work of the Methodist Church among the Moslems in Algeria and Tunis will be in charge of Mrs. Luther Filkins, Mrs. Charles L. DuBois and Mrs. Schuhle.

The Rev. Oscar Jelsma con- ducted a service in Saugerties Sunday afternoon and later with Mrs. Jelsma and daughters were supper guests of friends in Mt. Marion.

A chimney fire at The Country Cousin called out the firemen late Wednesday afternoon.

William DeZort, Harry B. Co- tant, Jr., and Robert Jennings at- tended a meeting of the Shrine in Poughkeepsie last week.

W. J. Upright has announced the medical setup for the Town of Lloyd for defense. Dr. Carl Foster Meekins is the director with Harry Fogle and Gabriel Vadala, assistants; Miss Eleanor Flint, Mrs. Elliott Johnson, Mrs. Leslie Lindhe, nurses; the Misses Betty Petersen and Mildred Kal- las, nurses' aides; Michael Nar- done, record clerk; the Lloyd Rod and Gun Club will supply eight stretcher bearers; the senior pa- trol of Boy Scouts with Alfred Haefeli as leader will provide four messengers, and Lloyd Post American Legion will turn over its rooms for use of the civil de- fense meetings. The leaders will attend a meeting in Kingston Thursday night for instruction.

The Presbyterian Young Wom- en's Club held its regular meet- ing with Mrs. Edward Krom on February 15 when they gave a baby shower for Mrs. Gasper Da- vis. There were 17 members pres- ent. Plans were made for the party in the church hall Washing- ton's Birthday when Mrs. Oscar Jelsma arranged the games and refreshments were in charge of Mrs. Krom, Mrs. Gordon Busch and Mrs. Louis E. Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Thompson are in New York this week at- tending a convention of insurance leaders.

Mrs. Charles C. Whittaker left Saturday for El Paso, Tex., and from there goes to Deming, N. M., to be the guest of the Rev. and Mrs. William Albert Dalton.

Mr. and Mrs. Bertram Cottine and two sons, West Haverstraw, spent Saturday with his mother on the North road.

The session of the Presbyterian Church met Tuesday night with Dr. and Mrs. Victor P. Salvatore.

Cabinet Factory Must Show Cause In Federal Court

New York, March 1 (AP)—The management of a cabinet factory whose electronic method of gluing wood interferes with radio communications of the U. S. Coast Guard must show cause tomorrow in Federal Court why it should not stop using the process.

Blind Veterans Help Trap Charity Outfit

New York, March 1 (AP)—Two blind veterans, unwitting fronts for an alleged charity racket, have helped New York state put the organization out of business.

The sightless veterans are Eugene G. Gilmartin of Hempstead, N. Y., and Frank A. Kelly of Queens.

Gilmartin was national commander of the organization, the American War Blinded Veterans, Inc., and Kelly was national director.

The outfit, incorporated a year ago to aid blinded veterans with other than medical services, has had headquarters in New York and a branch in Jersey City, N. J.

Yesterday, State Attorney General Nathaniel L. Goldstein obtained an injunction against the group, which he said obtained $50,000 in contributions by canvassers and fund raisers.

Of this amount, Goldstein said, only $5,566 actually went to help blind veterans, the rest going to canvassers and fund raisers.

Goldstein called Gilmartin and Kelly "victims of professional solicitors who were using them because of their unfortunate affliction."

Local Death Record

There will be a memorial Mass in St. Mary's Church on Saturday at 8 a. m. for the repose of the soul of Pvt. Francis X. Dugan, at the request of Co. M Veterans' Association.

Miss Ida Hollely of 89 Clinton avenue died early Wednesday. Miss Hollely has been a resident for many years, formerly coming from Brooklyn. Private services were conducted at the Ferncliff Crematory, Ardsley, this afternoon at 2 p. m. Arrangements made by the W. N. Conner Funeral Home, 296 Fair street.

Mrs. Cora Coddington, 72, of Mombaccus, died Wednesday at the Veterans Memorial Hospital, Ellenville. Surviving are three sons, Earl, Cedar Grove, N. J.; Irving, Mombaccus; and James, of Kerhonkson; a sister, Mrs. Henry Burgher, Kerhonkson; a brother, George Quick, Walden, a grandson, Irving Coddington, Jr., of Mombaccus, a great-grandson, Edward Coddington, of Mombaccus, and several nieces and nephews. The funeral will be held from the H. B. Humiston Funeral Home, Kerhonkson, Saturday at 2 p. m. The Rev. Clarence W. Hunter, of the Federated Church of Kerhonkson, will officiate. Burial will be in the Pine Bush Cemetery near Kerhonkson.

Mrs. Ada LeFevre Maxon, 81, widow of Horace S. Maxon, a resident of Kingston for 50 years, died suddenly on Tuesday at her winter home in St. Petersburg, Fla. Her husband was a clerk for many years in the former Johnson hardware store on East Strand. Mrs. Maxon's parents were the late Edward and Loretta Davis LeFevre. Surviving are a niece, Mrs. Helen House of 26 Hoffman street; three nephews, Albert Woolsey of Glenerie Lake Park, Edward Woolsey of Bridgewater and Horace M. Woolsey of Port Ewen. Mrs. Maxon was a faithful members and active worker in the Rondout Presbyterian and Wurts Street Baptist Church. Funeral arrangements have not been announced.

The funeral of Henry F. Wendland of Port Ewen was held Wednesday at 2 p. m. from the Jenson and Deegan Funeral Home, 15 Downs street. A large number of relatives and friends attended the services which were conducted by the Rev. David C. Gaise, pastor of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Redeemer. During the bereavement many called at the chapel to pay respects. The Rev. Mr. Gaise called Tuesday night and held an impressive prayer service for members of the family and their friends. Numerous floral tributes were banked about the casket in his memory. Burial took place in the family plot in Montrepose Cemetery where the Rev. Mr. Gaise officiated at the burial service.

Albert D. Powell, 24 Brown avenue died yesterday after a long illness. Mr. Powell had a grocery and butcher business at 25 Brown avenue for over 14 years. He retired from this business 8 months ago due to ill health. Mr. Powell was born in Westerloo, N. Y., and came to Kingston 40 years ago. He is a member of the Fair Street Reformed Church. Survivors are his wife Carolyn DeGraff Powell, one sister Miss Winifred Powell, one stepdaughter, Mrs. Harry Martin. Also several nieces. Funeral services will be held from the W. N. Conner Funeral Home, 296 Fair street, Saturday at 2:30 p. m. Burial will be in the Wiltwyck Cemetery. Friends may view the remains from Friday, 3 p. m., on.

Jacob M. Frost of St. Remy died early today in Kingston following a protracted illness. Mr. Frost was widely known throughout the Town of Esopus because of his political affiliations. He was a Republican town committeeman and a former fire commissioner of the St. Remy Fire District. Fraternally, he was a member of the Red Men, Pokonoie Tribe of St. Remy. He is survived by his wife, Mary E. Lusk Frost; three sons, W. Ernest Frost, Rifton; Herbert N. Frost, Kingston and Vernon Frost, Port Ewen; four daughters, Mrs. Isabelle Reynolds, East Springfield; Mrs. Ardis Miller, Kingston; Mrs. Hilda Ennist and Mrs. Catherine Kelley, St. Remy; a sister, Mrs. Tamar DeWitt, New Brunswick, N. J., and three nieces. Funeral services will be held from the Francis J. McCardle Funeral Home, 99 Henry street, Saturday at 2 p. m. Burial will be in the St. Remy Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home at any time.

Owen F. Mooney of Rosendale died Wednesday night at Mt. Vernon following a lengthy illness. He was born in Rosendale the son of the late Owen and Mary Dunn Mooney and had resided in the town his entire life until the last eight years when he made his home with his niece, Mrs. Rose Stentz of Tuckahoe. During his lifetime, Mr. Mooney was active in civic affairs, having served the township as superintendent of highways and as assessor. He also was instrumental in the formation of the Rosendale Fire Co. Besides his niece, Mr. Mooney is survived by a sister, Sister Mary Elizabeth of the Order of St. Francis, White Plains. The body is reposing at the Sullivan Funeral Home, Scarsdale, until Friday noon. The funeral will be held from the George J. Moylan Funeral Home, Main street, Rosendale, Saturday at 9:30 a. m., thence to St. Peter's Church where a high Mass of requiem will be offered for the repose of his soul at 10 a. m. Burial will be in the family plot in St. Peter's Cemetery, Rosendale. Friends may call at the Moylan Funeral Home any time Friday night.

More Money Sought

Washington, March 1 (AP) — President Truman asked Congress today for an additional $1,454,000,000 for the defense production and civil defense programs.

U. S. game wardens traveled 388,938 miles in Alaska in 1943, mostly by plane.

Financial and Commercial

New York, March 1 (AP)—The stock market slipped a little from its early advances today but prices generally remained firm. Both gains and losses were frequent in all major groups with changes mostly in fractions.

After several substantial blocks were transferred at the opening, the pace remained at a quiet level, with volume just under recent sessions.

Rubber stocks held early advances but automotive issues slipped from earlier highs as the Office of Price Stabilization stated it expects to issue an auto price order later today.

An OPS spokesman would say no more than that, but traders guessed the possibility of an increase in the price of new automobiles.

Chrysler remained on the gaining side in the auto group but General Motors switched to the minus side of the ledger.

Phone Hearings Begin

Albany, N. Y., March 1 (AP)—The New York Telephone Company went to bat at a public hearing today to try to drive home its claim that it needs another $44,000,000 a year from its customers. The Public Service Commission called the hearing to hear the pros and cons of the company's contention that higher operating costs necessitate higher charges. Ralph W. Brown, a vice-president and general counsel, was scheduled to open the company's case with a general statement.

Government Might Allow Increase in New Car Price

Washington, March 1 (AP)—The government today was reported ready to allow a 3½ per cent increase in the prices of new automobiles.

The order was expected to be issued by the Office of Price Stabilization later today.

Earlier, an OPS spokesman said the agency expects to issue an auto price order today and that it would be "more than just an extension of the present order."

The spokesman would not elaborate on this.

But it was learned from other officials who are thoroughly familiar with the forthcoming order that a 3½ per cent increase had been approved.

The present order, dated last Dec. 18, holds the prices of new automobiles at Dec. 1 levels.

Due to Expire

The order is due to expire today. There has been some legal question as to whether it expired last midnight or will expire tonight at midnight. The wording says "A period ending March 1, 1951, unless otherwise modified, amended, or extended prior to that date."

OPS officials take the view that since a new order is imminent the exact moment of the expiration is immaterial.

OPS officials have said automobile price ceilings will be included in a much broader regulation applying to other types of manufacturing as well. This resultation is not quite ready for issuance.

Thus, today's order might be only designed to give some temporary relief to some car manufacturers.

Prices of used cars are controlled under a separate orders issued a week ago. This fixed used car prices at the levels in the January guide books customarily used by the dealers. It also said that no used car could be sold at higher than the list price of the same car when it was new.

Three Are Shot

Palm Beach, Fla., March 1 (AP)—Husky Hugh L. Berry, 18, was quoted by Police Chief Eddie Longo today as saying he shot his grandmother and father last night "because they were trying to disinherit me." He also wounded a policeman and fired a charge of shot from a newly purchased shotgun at a squad car in which another officer was speeding his mother to safety. One of the three victims—the grandmother—was reported in serious condition. This rich resort city was thrown into near panic by the shootings, a manhunt by 150 persons through golf courses and lanes of mansions, and radio warnings for residents to lock themselves indoors.

To Resume Practice

S. Rudisch, optometrist, who has recently completed a post-graduate courst in orthoptics (eye-exercise) has completely remodeled his office and will resume his practice on March 3. Equipment, similar to that used by the United States Air Force to train their men in recognition of aircraft and ships, has been installed to help those who wish to increase their reading ability.

Local Death Record

There will be a memorial Mass in St. Mary's Church on Saturday at 8 a. m. for the repose of the soul of Pvt. Francis X. Dugan, at the request of Co. M Veterans' Association.

Miss Ida Hollely of 89 Clinton avenue died early Wednesday. Miss Hollely has been a resident for many years, formerly coming from Brooklyn. Private services were conducted at the Ferncliff Crematory, Ardsley, this afternoon at 2 p. m. Arrangements made by the W. N. Conner Funeral Home, 296 Fair street.

Mrs. Cora Coddington, 72, of Mombaccus, died Wednesday at the Veterans Memorial Hospital, Ellenville. Surviving are three sons, Earl, Cedar Grove, N. J.; Irving, Mombaccus; and James, of Kerhonkson; a sister, Mrs. Henry Burgher, Kerhonkson; a brother, George Quick, Walden, a grandson, Irving Coddington, Jr., of Mombaccus, a great-grandson, Edward Coddington, of Mombaccus, and several nieces and nephews. The funeral will be held from the H. B. Humiston Funeral Home, Kerhonkson, Saturday at 2 p. m. The Rev. Clarence W. Hunter, of the Federated Church of Kerhonkson, will officiate. Burial will be in the Pine Bush Cemetery near Kerhonkson.

Mrs. Ada LeFevre Maxon, 81, widow of Horace S. Maxon, a resident of Kingston for 50 years, died suddenly on Tuesday at her winter home in St. Petersburg, Fla. Her husband was a clerk for many years in the former Johnson hardware store on East Strand. Mrs. Maxon's parents were the late Edward and Loretta Davis LeFevre. Surviving are a niece, Mrs. Helen House of 26 Hoffman street; three nephews, Albert Woolsey of Glenerie Lake Park, Edward Woolsey of Bridgewater and Horace M. Woolsey of Port Ewen. Mrs. Maxon was a faithful members and active worker in the Rondout Presbyterian and Wurts Street Baptist Church. Funeral arrangements have not been announced.

The funeral of Henry F. Wendland of Port Ewen was held Wednesday at 2 p. m. from the Jenson and Deegan Funeral Home, 15 Downs street. A large number of relatives and friends attended the services which were conducted by the Rev. David C. Gaise, pastor of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Redeemer. During the bereavement many called at the chapel to pay respects. The Rev. Mr. Gaise called Tuesday night and held an impressive prayer service for members of the family and their friends. Numerous floral tributes were banked about the casket in his memory. Burial took place in the family plot in Montrepose Cemetery where the Rev. Mr. Gaise officiated at the burial service.

Albert D. Powell, 24 Brown avenue died yesterday after a long illness. Mr. Powell had a grocery and butcher business at 25 Brown avenue for over 14 years. He retired from this business 8 months ago due to ill health. Mr. Powell was born in Westerloo, N. Y., and came to Kingston 40 years ago. He is a member of the Fair Street Reformed Church. Survivors are his wife Carolyn DeGraff Powell, one sister Miss Winifred Powell, one stepdaughter, Mrs. Harry Martin. Also several nieces. Funeral services will be held from the W. N. Conner Funeral Home, 296 Fair street, Saturday at 2:30 p. m. Burial will be in the Wiltwyck Cemetery. Friends may view the remains from Friday, 3 p. m., on.

Jacob M. Frost of St. Remy died early today in Kingston following a protracted illness. Mr. Frost was widely known throughout the Town of Esopus because of his political affiliations. He was a Republican town committeeman and a former fire commissioner of the St. Remy Fire District. Fraternally, he was a member of the Red Men, Pokonoie Tribe of St. Remy. He is survived by his wife, Mary E. Lusk Frost; three sons, W. Ernest Frost, Rifton; Herbert N. Frost, Kingston and Vernon Frost, Port Ewen; four daughters, Mrs. Isabelle Reynolds, East Springfield; Mrs. Ardis Miller, Kingston; Mrs. Hilda Ennist and Mrs. Catherine Kelley, St. Remy; a sister, Mrs. Tamar DeWitt, New Brunswick, N. J., and three nieces. Funeral services will be held from the Francis J. McCardle Funeral Home, 99 Henry street, Saturday at 2 p. m. Burial will be in the St. Remy Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home at any time.

Owen F. Mooney of Rosendale died Wednesday night at Mt. Vernon following a lengthy illness. He was born in Rosendale the son of the late Owen and Mary Dunn Mooney and had resided in the town his entire life until the last eight years when he made his home with his niece, Mrs. Rose Stentz of Tuckahoe. During his lifetime, Mr. Mooney was active in civic affairs, having served the township as superintendent of highways and as assessor. He also was instrumental in the formation of the Rosendale Fire Co. Besides his niece, Mr. Mooney is survived by a sister, Sister Mary Elizabeth of the Order of St. Francis, White Plains. The body is reposing at the Sullivan Funeral Home, Scarsdale, until Friday noon. The funeral will be held from the George J. Moylan Funeral Home, Main street, Rosendale, Saturday at 9:30 a. m., thence to St. Peter's Church where a high Mass of requiem will be offered for the repose of his soul at 10 a. m. Burial will be in the family plot in St. Peter's Cemetery, Rosendale. Friends may call at the Moylan Funeral Home any time Friday night.

More Money Sought

Washington, March 1 (AP) — President Truman asked Congress today for an additional $1,454,000,000 for the defense production and civil defense programs.

U. S. game wardens traveled 382,938 miles in Alaska in 1943, mostly by plane.

Financial and Commercial

New York, March 1 (AP)—The stock market slipped a little from its early advances today but prices generally remained firm. Both gains and losses were frequent in all major groups with changes mostly in fractions.

After several substantial blocks were transferred at the opening, the pace remained at a quiet level, with volume just under recent sessions.

Rubber stocks held early advances but automotive issues slipped from earlier highs as the Office of Price Stabilization stated it expects to issue an auto price order later today.

An OPS spokesman would say no more than that, but traders guessed the possibility of an increase in the price of new automobiles.

Chrysler remained on the gaining side in the auto group but General Motors switched to the minus side of the ledger.

Phone Hearings Begin

Albany, N. Y., March 1 (AP)—The New York Telephone Company went to bat at a public hearing today to try to drive home its claim that it needs another $44,000,000 a year from its customers. The Public Service Commission called the hearing to hear the pros and cons of the company's contention that higher operating costs necessitate higher charges. Ralph W. Brown, a vice-president and general counsel, was scheduled to open the company's case with a general statement.

Government Might Allow Increase in New Car Price

Washington, March 1 (AP)—The government today was reported ready to allow a 3½ per cent increase in the prices of new automobiles.

The order was expected to be issued by the Office of Price Stabilization later today.

Earlier, an OPS spokesman said the agency expects to issue an auto price order today and that it would be "more than just an extension of the present order."

The spokesman would not elaborate on this.

But it was learned from other officials who are thoroughly familiar with the forthcoming order that a 3½ per cent increase had been approved.

The present order, dated last Dec. 18, holds the prices of new automobiles at Dec. 1 levels.

Due to Expire

The order is due to expire today. There has been some legal question as to whether it expired last midnight or will expire tonight at midnight. The wording says "A period ending March 1, 1951, unless otherwise modified, amended, or extended prior to that date."

OPS officials take the view that since a new order is imminent the exact moment of the expiration is immaterial.

OPS officials have said automobile price ceilings will be included in a much broader regulation applying to other types of manufacturing as well. This resultation is not quite ready for issuance.

Thus, today's order might be only designed to give some temporary relief to some car manufacturers.

Prices of used cars are controlled under a separate orders issued a week ago. This fixed used car prices at the levels in the January guide books customarily used by the dealers. It also said that no used car could be sold at higher than the list price of the same car when it was new.

Three Are Shot

Palm Beach, Fla., March 1 (AP)—Husky Hugh L. Berry, 18, was quoted by Police Chief Eddie Longo today as saying he shot his grandmother and father last night "because they were trying to disinherit me." He also wounded a policeman and fired a charge of shot from a newly purchased shotgun at a squad car in which another officer was speeding his mother to safety. One of the three victims—the grandmother—was reported in serious condition. This rich resort city was thrown into near panic by the shootings, a manhunt by 150 persons through golf courses and lanes of mansions, and radio warnings for residents to lock themselves indoors.

To Resume Practice

S. Rudisch, optometrist, who has recently completed a post-graduate court in orthoptics (eye-exercise) has completely remodeled his office and will resume his practice on March 3. Equipment, similar to that used by the United States Air Force to train their men in recognition of aircraft and ships, has been installed to help those who wish to increase their reading ability.

Mrs. Ada LeFevre Maxon, 81, widow of Horace S. Maxon, a resident of Kingston for 50 years, died suddenly on Tuesday at her winter home in St. Petersburg, Fla. Her husband was a clerk for many years in the former Johnson hardware store on East Strand. Mrs. Maxon's parents were the late Edward and Loretta Davis LeFevre. Surviving are a niece, Mrs. Helen House of 26 Hoffman street; three nephews, Albert Woolsey of Glenerie Lake Park, Edward Woolsey of Bridgewater and Horace M. Woolsey of Port Ewen. Mrs. Maxon was a faithful members and active worker in the Rondout Presbyterian and Wurts Street Baptist Church. Funeral arrangements have not been announced.

The funeral of Henry F. Wendland of Port Ewen was held Wednesday at 2 p. m. from the Jenson and Deegan Funeral Home, 15 Downs street. A large number of relatives and friends attended the services which were conducted by the Rev. David C. Gaise, pastor of the Evangelical Lutheran Church of the Redeemer. During the bereavement many called at the chapel to pay respects. The Rev. Mr. Gaise called Tuesday night and held an impressive prayer service for members of the family and their friends. Numerous floral tributes were banked about the casket in his memory. Burial took place in the family plot in Montrepose Cemetery where the Rev. Mr. Gaise officiated at the burial service.

Albert D. Powell, 24 Brown avenue died yesterday after a long illness. Mr. Powell had a grocery and butcher business at 25 Brown avenue for over 14 years. He retired from this business 8 months ago due to ill health. Mr. Powell was born in Westerloo, N. Y., and came to Kingston 40 years ago. He is a member of the Fair Street Reformed Church. Survivors are his wife Carolyn DeGraff Powell, one sister Miss Winifred Powell, one stepdaughter, Mrs. Harry Martin. Also several nieces. Funeral services will be held from the W. N. Conner Funeral Home, 296 Fair street, Saturday at 2:30 p. m. Burial will be in the Wiltwyck Cemetery. Friends may view the remains from Friday, 3 p. m., on.

Jacob M. Frost of St. Remy died early today in Kingston following a protracted illness. Mr. Frost was widely known throughout the Town of Esopus because of his political affiliations. He was a Republican town committeeman and a former fire commissioner of the St. Remy Fire District. Fraternally, he was a member of the Red Men, Pokonoie Tribe of St. Remy. He is survived by his wife, Mary E. Lusk Frost; three sons, W. Ernest Frost, Rifton; Herbert N. Frost, Kingston and Vernon Frost, Port Ewen; four daughters, Mrs. Isabelle Reynolds, East Springfield; Mrs. Ardis Miller, Kingston; Mrs. Hilda Ennist and Mrs. Catherine Kelley, St. Remy; a sister, Mrs. Tamar DeWitt, New Brunswick, N. J., and three nieces. Funeral services will be held from the Francis J. McCardle Funeral Home, 99 Henry street, Saturday at 2 p. m. Burial will be in the St. Remy Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home at any time.

Owen F. Mooney of Rosendale died Wednesday night at Mt. Vernon following a lengthy illness. He was born in Rosendale the son of the late Owen and Mary Dunn Mooney and had resided in the town his entire life until the last eight years when he made his home with his niece, Mrs. Rose Stentz of Tuckahoe. During his lifetime, Mr. Mooney was active in civic affairs, having served the township as superintendent of highways and as assessor. He also was instrumental in the formation of the Rosendale Fire Co. Besides his niece, Mr. Mooney is survived by a sister, Sister Mary Elizabeth of the Order of St. Francis, White Plains. The body is reposing at the Sullivan Funeral Home, Scarsdale, until Friday noon. The funeral will be held from the George J. Moylan Funeral Home, Main street, Rosendale, Saturday at 9:30 a. m., thence to St. Peter's Church where a high Mass of requiem will be offered for the repose of his soul at 10 a. m. Burial will be in the family plot in St. Peter's Cemetery, Rosendale. Friends may call at the Moylan Funeral Home any time Friday night.

More Money Sought

Washington, March 1 (AP) — President Truman asked Congress today for an additional $1,454,000,000 for the defense production and civil defense programs.

U. S. game wardens traveled 388,938 miles in Alaska in 1943, mostly by plane.

Financial and Commercial

New York, March 1 (AP)—The stock market slipped a little from its early advances today but prices generally remained firm. Both gains and losses were frequent in all major groups with changes mostly in fractions.

After several substantial blocks were transferred at the opening, the pace remained at a quiet level, with volume just under recent sessions.

Rubber stocks held early advances but automotive issues slipped from earlier highs as the Office of Price Stabilization stated it expects to issue an auto price order later today.

An OPS spokesman would say no more than that, but traders guessed the possibility of an increase in the price of new automobiles.

Chrysler remained on the gaining side in the auto group but General Motors switched to the minus side of the ledger.

Phone Hearings Begin

Albany, N. Y., March 1 (AP)—The New York Telephone Company went to bat at a public hearing today to try to drive home its claim that it needs another $44,000,000 a year from its customers. The Public Service Commission called the hearing to hear the pros and cons of the company's contention that higher operating costs necessitate higher charges. Ralph W. Brown, a vice-president and general counsel, was scheduled to open the company's case with a general statement.

Government Might Allow Increase in New Car Price

Washington, March 1 (AP)—The government today was reported ready to allow a 3½ per cent increase in the prices of new automobiles.

The order was expected to be issued by the Office of Price Stabilization later today.

Earlier, an OPS spokesman said the agency expects to issue an auto price order today and that it would be "more than just an extension of the present order."

The spokesman would not elaborate on this.

But it was learned from other officials who are thoroughly familiar with the forthcoming order that a 3½ per cent increase had been approved.

The present order, dated last Dec. 18, holds the prices of new automobiles at Dec. 1 levels.

Due to Expire

The order is due to expire today. There has been some legal question as to whether it expired last midnight or will expire tonight at midnight. The wording says "A period ending March 1, 1951, unless otherwise modified, amended, or extended prior to that date."

OPS officials take the view that since a new order is imminent the exact moment of the expiration is immaterial.

OPS officials have said automobile price ceilings will be included in a much broader regulation applying to other types of manufacturing as well. This resultation is not quite ready for issuance.

Thus, today's order might be only designed to give some temporary relief to some car manufacturers.

Prices of used cars are controlled under a separate orders issued a week ago. This fixed used car prices at the levels in the January guide books customarily used by the dealers. It also said that no used car could be sold at higher than the list price of the same car when it was new.

Three Are Shot

Palm Beach, Fla., March 1 (AP)—Husky Hugh L. Berry, 18, was quoted by Police Chief Eddie Longo today as saying he shot his grandmother and father last night "because they were trying to disinherit me." He also wounded a policeman and fired a charge of shot from a newly purchased shotgun at a squad car in which another officer was speeding his mother to safety. One of the three victims—the grandmother—was reported in serious condition. This rich resort city was thrown into near panic by the shootings, a manhunt by 150 persons through golf courses and lanes of mansions, and radio warnings for residents to lock themselves indoors.

To Resume Practice

S. Rudisch, optometrist, who has recently completed a post-graduate courst in orthoptics (eye-exercise) has completely remodeled his office and will resume his practice on March 3. Equipment, similar to that used by the United States Air Force to train their men in recognition of aircraft and ships, has been installed to help those who wish to increase their reading ability.

WALLKILL

Wallkill, March 1—The Wallkill Women's Club has received an invitation to attend the meeting of the New Paltz Study Club March 6 at 2:30 p. m. at the New Paltz Reformed Church. Burke Boyce, author, will be the guest speaker. Mrs. Arthur Terwilliger will be in charge of transportation.

The Red Cross fund drive for the Town of Shawangunk has been organized and workers will start a house to house canvass this week. The quota for the town has been raised from $900 to $1,150. Last year, $957.79 was raised.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Vogel and daughter, Judy, were Saturday night guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Palen of Walden.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Quick entertained at a family gathering Sunday. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Clark Quick and children of Walden, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Van Wagenen and daughter, Carole of Kingston; Mrs. George Sohns and Mr. and Mrs. Eli H. Van Wagenen of Wallkill.

Mrs. Aidah Billings of Pine Bush entertained Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Caswell and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bellarosa Sunday.

Miss Bessie McHugh of Hudson spent a few days this week at the homes of her brothers, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse McHugh and family and the Herbert McHugh family.

Guests at the home of Mrs. Jane R. Van Wyck and Miss Helen Van Wyck Sunday were Victor Robbins and Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Cohen of West Nyack.

Births of Wallkill residents include a daughter, Gail Evelyn to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Harrison on Feb. 25 at St. Luke's Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Morehouse entertained Sunday night at dinner for Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Palen and son, Douglas of Walden; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Morris and family. The occasion was the sixth wedding anniversary of the Morris family.

Mr. and Mrs. George Crist entertained Mrs. George Parliman for dinner Tuesday night.

George W. Parliman, Mrs. Louisa Pariman and Mrs. Viola Jansen are attending the spring session of the gift show at the Hotel New Yorker.

Mrs. David Rumsey and daughter, Mary were guests Monday of Mrs. Jesse Eckert and Miss Jennie White.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Playne of Walden were guests of the Joseph Morris family Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Franz spent the week-end at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Birdsall.

Miss Alice Sloan of Ossining spent the week-end at her home here and with her brother, Mr. and Mrs. S. Kelso Sloan.

The Willkill National Bank held open house for residents of this area at its recently completed building on Wallkill avenue. An additional feature is the drive-in teller's window for transaction of business for busy citizens. It is the first drive-in window in the area and in the Hudson Valley. A large recreational room, complete kitchen and cafeteria also are featured. L. Hastings of Albany as cashier and bookkeeper and Mrs. H. Smith of Wallkill as bookkeeper and switchboard operator have been added to the staff.

Where Reds Build Defenses

Triple broken line shows where Chinese and North Korean Reds are reported digging in and building a defense in depth from north of Seoul to northl of Hoengsong. Allied forces (solid arrows), paced by armored patrol of U. S. Seventh Division of east-central front, which was in sight of Amidong, northernmost point of drive, continued advance against Reds (open arrows) after gaining control of eight-mile stretch of east-west highway between Pangnim and Hoengsong. One force captured a hill near Chipyong. Another was forced to give up hill northeast of Yangpyong.

Marines Win . . .

vances at the western and eastern anchors of a 60-mile front.

U. S. Third Division doughboys fought on the western end of the line. Seventh Division infantrymen battled at the eastern end.

Maj. Maurice Roach of Memphis, a marine battalion commander, described the bloody end of the marine fight for the two crests:

"When they reached the skyline I saw them leap into the Chinese trenches and saw them thrusting and stabbing with their bayonetted rifles."

Assault Begins Early

The marine assault forces jumped off at 2 a. m. Nine hours later they had taken two crests.

Then they shifted their attack northwest toward Hill 315, where the main enemy defenders were believed dug in.

Two miles to the west another Marine force ran into a tougher fight in their assault against wooded Hill 438, which rises 1,500 feet from the valley floor. The Chinese, holed in, resisted all efforts to dislodge them.

The Allied actions on the western, central and eastern fronts had the semblance of a general attack. But U. N. commanders indicated each was limited in scope. They likened them more to line-straightening thrust than to an over-all drive.

A.P. Correspondent Stan Swinton reported from U. S. Eighth Army headquarters that U. N. forces, spreadheaded by the Marines, had lashed out in a "limited objective" assault on a 25-mile front against the bitterly-held Red defense line north of Hoengsong.

Strategic Key

Swinton said American front-line officers consider the Hoengsong front the strategic key to the war at the moment. He said the flat, exposed terrain on the western front and the wild tumble of mountains on the eastern front made it seem probable that any Chinese counterblow would come on the central sector.

An Allied naval task force again bombarded the Wonsan port area on the east coast 90 miles north of Parallel 38. A small naval unit hit targets north of Seoul in the west.

Japan-based B-29 superfortresses dropped 144 tons of bombs on five key railway bridges in northwest Korea between Manchuria to Pyongyang, the Red Korean capital.

The B-29s met some anti-aircraft fire. One formation was attacked by Red fighter planes, the number of which was not estimated.

Russia Will Meet

meeting was suggested by Russia in a note on Nov. 3, 1950. The Soviet Union wanted the ministers to discuss German questions alone, particularly the issue of German rearmament. But the western powers rejected this proposal, insisting that any such meeting should deal with other world problems as well.

Ladies Garment Union Backs Drive To Aid Boys Club

The executive board of Local 259, International Ladies Garment Union, has pledged full support of the Kingston Boys Club fund campaign.

The board took action at a regular meeting Tuesday night at the Union's headquarters, 277 Fair street. Frederick C. Verry, representative of the Boys Clubs of America, who is assisting in the local drive, was guest speaker at the meeting. The film, "Citizens of Tomorrow," was shown.

Members of the executive board, expressing approval of the work of the local Boys Club, voted to participate openly in the campaign, and to lend whatever other support they could give, according to Jacob J. Schneider, local manager.

The Kingston Boy's Club is seeking to raise funds to maintain and expand its program during the year. The latest available report showed a total of $1,119.90 had been turned in to campaign headquarters.

The International Ladies Garment Workers local is the second needle trades local to pledge support in the campaign. Local 186, Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, took similar action two weeks ago.

Lions' Ladies Night

Saturday night will be ladies' night for the Kingston Lions Club members, wives and guests. Festivities get under way at 7 p. m. at the Governor Clinton Hotel, under chairmanship of Lawrence M. Jenson. Induction of new members, entertainment and dancing are included on the program.

Rapid Hose Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of Rapid Hose Company will be held tonight at 8 o'clock in the firehouse on Hone street. All members are requested to attend.

Light Snow Has Effect on Traffic

A light snow which packed wet under wheels this morning hampered travel over city streets and area highways.

The most serious tie-up locally was caused by the jack-knifing of two trailer trucks on Broadway near Stuyvesant street. Traffic was slowed up between 9 and 10 a. m.

Cars and trucks also met with temporary trouble on the Wurts street hill, the Washington avenue viaduct, and at several intersections.

The public works department said seven trucks were out sanding during the morning and the first started at about 8 a. m.

The snow which started between 7 and 8 a. m. came down heavy for the first hour and a half, but slackened later in the morning.

The City Engineer's office reported a total precipitation of 4.15 inches for February. This included 4½ inches of snow. The total for February, 1950 was 3.82. The 15-year average for the month is 2.24 inches.

Last month's precipitation was the second highest in the record of the engineer's office. The highest was in 1939 when the total was 4.36 inches.

The lowest temperature last month was on the 10th when the mercury hit five below. The highest was on the 13th with a temperature of 61 degrees.

McGovern Holds

it publicly," he said. "Whatever action is taken, I haven't made up my mind whether I'll announce it or not—but I doubt it."

The Kefauver committee is investigating gambling and alleged political-underworld tieups.

McGovern told a reporter he had asked Halley to say on which group or which employes he wanted for information.

Are Many Pay Rolls

There are many separate legislative pay rolls, covering different groups of permanent, seasonal and committee employes, he said. It would be a "tremendous task," he added, to prepare data on all of them.

Halley had requested the names, addresses, salaries and job titles of each person on the Senate and Assembly pay rolls, McGovern said.

There have been published reports that the Kefauver committee wanted pay roll information on a member of the staff of State Senator Elmer F. Quinn, the Democratic minority leader.

The Senate Republican leader, Arthur H. Wicks, has said he would refuse to honor a subpoena for the pay roll records, but would let committee probers examine the records in Albany.

The comptroller said any Kefauver representative sent to the capital could obtain the data.

WALLKILL

Wallkill, March 1—The Wallkill Women's Club has received an invitation to attend the meeting of the New Paltz Study Club March 6 at 2:30 p. m. at the New Paltz Reformed Church. Burke Boyce, author, will be the guest speaker. Mrs. Arthur Terwilliger will be in charge of transportation.

The Red Cross fund drive for the Town of Shawangunk has been organized and workers will start a house to house canvass this week. The quota for the town has been raised from $900 to $1,150. Last year, $957.79 was raised.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Vogel and daughter, Judy, were Saturday night guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Palen of Walden.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Quick entertained at a family gathering Sunday. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Clark Quick and children of Walden, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Van Wagenen and daughter, Carole of Kingston; Mrs. George Sohns and Mr. and Mrs. Eli H. Van Wagenen of Wallkill.

Mrs. Aidah Billings of Pine Bush entertained Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Caswell and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bellarosa Sunday.

Miss Bessie McHugh of Hudson spent a few days this week at the homes of her brothers, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse McHugh and family and the Herbert McHugh family.

Guests at the home of Mrs. Jane R. Van Wyck and Miss Helen Van Wyck Sunday were Victor Robbins and Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Cohen of West Nyack.

Births of Wallkill residents include a daughter, Gail Evelyn to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Harrison on Feb. 25 at St. Luke's Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Morehouse entertained Sunday night at dinner for Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Palen and son, Douglas of Walden; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Morris and family. The occasion was the sixth wedding anniversary of the Morris family.

Mr. and Mrs. George Crist entertained Mrs. George Parliman for dinner Tuesday night.

George W. Parliman, Mrs. Louisa Pariman and Mrs. Viola Jansen are attending the spring session of the gift show at the Hotel New Yorker.

Mrs. David Rumsey and daughter, Mary were guests Monday of Mrs. Jesse Eckert and Miss Jennie White.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Playne of Walden were guests of the Joseph Morris family Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Franz spent the week-end at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Birdsall.

Miss Alice Sloan of Ossining spent the week-end at her home here and with her brother, Mr. and Mrs. S. Kelso Sloan.

The Willkill National Bank held open house for residents of this area at its recently completed building on Wallkill avenue. An additional feature is the drive-in teller's window for transaction of business for busy citizens. It is the first drive-in window in the area and in the Hudson Valley. A large recreational room, complete kitchen and cafeteria also are featured. L. Hastings of Albany as cashier and bookkeeper and Mrs. H. Smith of Wallkill as bookkeeper and switchboard operator have been added to the staff.

Where Reds Build Defenses

Triple broken line shows where Chinese and North Korean Reds are reported digging in and building a defense in depth from north of Seoul to north of Hoengsong. Allied forces (solid arrows), paced by armored patrol of U. S. Seventh Division of east-central front, which was in sight of Amidong, northernmost point of drive, continued advance against Reds (open arrows) after gaining control of eight-mile stretch of east-west highway between Pangnim and Hoengsong. One force captured a hill near Chipyong. Another was forced to give up hill northeast of Yangpyong.

Marines Win . . .

vances at the western and eastern anchors of a 60-mile front.

U. S. Third Division doughboys fought on the western end of the line. Seventh Division infantrymen battled at the eastern end.

Maj. Maurice Roach of Memphis, a marine battalion commander, described the bloody end of the marine fight for the two crests:

"When they reached the skyline I saw them leap into the Chinese trenches and saw them thrusting and stabbing with their bayonetted rifles."

Assault Begins Early

The marine assault forces jumped off at 2 a. m. Nine hours later they had taken two crests.

Then they shifted their attack northwest toward Hill 315, where the main enemy defenders were believed dug in.

Two miles to the west another Marine force ran into a tougher fight in their assault against wooded Hill 438, which rises 1,500 feet from the valley floor. The Chinese, holed in, resisted all efforts to dislodge them.

The Allied actions on the western, central and eastern fronts had the semblance of a general attack. But U. N. commanders indicated each was limited in scope. They likened them more to line-straightening thrust than to an over-all drive.

A.P. Correspondent Stan Swinton reported from U. S. Eighth Army headquarters that U. N. forces, spreadheaded by the Marines, had lashed out in a "limited objective" assault on a 25-mile front against the bitterly-held Red defense line north of Hoengsong.

Strategic Key

Swinton said American front-line officers consider the Hoengsong front the strategic key to the war at the moment. He said the flat, exposed terrain on the western front and the wild tumble of mountains on the eastern front made it seem probable that any Chinese counterblow would come on the central sector.

An Allied naval task force again bombarded the Wonsan port area on the east coast 90 miles north of Parallel 38. A small naval unit hit targets north of Seoul in the west.

Japan-based B-29 superfortresses dropped 144 tons of bombs on five key railway bridges in northwest Korea between Manchuria to Pyongyang, the Red Korean capital.

The B-29s met some anti-aircraft fire. One formation was attacked by Red fighter planes, the number of which was not estimated.

Russia Will Meet

meeting was suggested by Russia in a note on Nov. 3, 1950. The Soviet Union wanted the ministers to discuss German questions alone, particularly the issue of German rearmament. But the western powers rejected this proposal, insisting that any such meeting should deal with other world problems as well.

Ladies Garment Union Backs Drive To Aid Boys Club

The executive board of Local 259, International Ladies Garment Union, has pledged full support of the Kingston Boys Club fund campaign.

The board took action at a regular meeting Tuesday night at the Union's headquarters, 277 Fair street. Frederick C. Verry, representative of the Boys Clubs of America, who is assisting in the local drive, was guest speaker at the meeting. The film, "Citizens of Tomorrow," was shown.

Members of the executive board, expressing approval of the work of the local Boys Club, voted to participate openly in the campaign, and to lend whatever other support they could give, according to Jacob J. Schneider, local manager.

The Kingston Boy's Club is seeking to raise funds to maintain and expand its program during the year. The latest available report showed a total of $1,119.90 had been turned in to campaign headquarters.

The International Ladies Garment Workers local is the second needle trades local to pledge support in the campaign. Local 186, Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, took similar action two weeks ago.

Lions' Ladies Night

Saturday night will be ladies' night for the Kingston Lions Club members, wives and guests. Festivities get under way at 7 p. m. at the Governor Clinton Hotel, under chairmanship of Lawrence M. Jenson. Induction of new members, entertainment and dancing are included on the program.

Rapid Hose Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of Rapid Hose Company will be held tonight at 8 o'clock in the firehouse on Hone street. All members are requested to attend.

Light Snow Has Effect on Traffic

A light snow which packed wet under wheels this morning hampered travel over city streets and area highways.

The most serious tie-up locally was gaused by the jack-knifing of two trailer trucks on Broadway near Stuyvesant street. Traffic was slowed up between 9 and 10 a. m.

Cars and trucks also met with temporary trouble on the Wurts street hill, the Washington avenue viaduct, and at several intersections.

The public works department said seven trucks were out sanding during the morning and the first started at about 8 a. m.

The snow which started between 7 and 8 a. m. came down heavy for the first hour and a half, but slackened later in the morning.

The City Engineer's office reported a total precipitation of 4.15 inches for February. This included 4½ inches of snow. The total for February, 1950 was 3.82. The 15-year average for the month is 2.24 inches.

Last month's precipitation was the second highest in the record of the engineer's office. The highest was in 1939 when the total was 4.36 inches.

The lowest temperature last month was on the 10th when the mercury hit five below. The highest was on the 13th with a temperature of 61 degrees.

McGovern Holds

it publicly," he said. "Whatever action is taken, I haven't made up my mind whether I'll announce it or not—but I doubt it."

The Kefauver committee is investigating gambling and alleged political-underworld tieups.

McGovern told a reporter he had asked Halley to say on which group or which employes he wanted for information.

Are Many Pay Rolls

There are many separate legislative pay rolls, covering different groups of permanent, seasonal and committee employes, he said. It would be a "tremendous task," he added, to prepare data on all of them.

Halley had requested the names, addresses, salaries and job titles of each person on the Senate and Assembly pay rolls, McGovern said.

There have been published reports that the Kefauver committee wanted pay roll information on a member of the staff of State Senator Elmer F. Quinn, the Democratic minority leader.

The Senate Republican leader, Arthur H. Wicks, has said he would refuse to honor a subpoena for the pay roll records, but would let committee probers examine the records in Albany.

The comptroller said any Kefauver representative sent to the capital could obtain the data.

In 1776, the colony of New York had a population of approximately 180,000.

Mrs. D. B. Trowbridge and Miss Ruth Trowbridge spent several days last week in New York.

Mrs. H. Brooks spent a few days recently with friends in New Jersey.

Pfc. E. Robert Hinkley spent the week-end at his home here with Mr. and Mrs. Lester Wynkoop. He is attached to the medical battalion of the U. S. Marine Corps at Camp LeJeune, N. C.

Mrs. Katherine McBride of Campbell and Mrs. Reah Tompkins and daughter, Betty, of Washingtonville, called on their aunt, Mrs. Asa Wynkoop Friday.

Mrs. Paul Booth spent Friday in Kingston.

Mrs. James Wynkoop spent Sunday with Miss Jennie and Grace Schoonmaker.

Mrs. John Bush is reported to be improving at the Veterans' Memorial Hospital in Ellenville where she was taken Friday.

Buddy Simpson who recently received his honorable discharge from the Navy following the completion of four years of service, has reenlisted. He spent the week-end at his home here.

Maple Syrup Yield Expected to Be High

Albany, N. Y., March 1 (AP)—Maple syrup producers in New York state are looking for a good season, if the weather holds favorable.

Prof. Fred Winch of the Cornell University Conservation Department said today the steady cold, high moisture and short warm spells of the past few months had set the stage for an excellent sap run.

However, the determining factor will be the weather during the actual season, which usually runs from about mid-March to mid-April.

Freezing nights and warm, sunny days are needed for the best flow, Finch said.

Good Old Days

Revenues of the United States government in its first year of operation were $4,000,000 and expenditures, excluding interest on the public debt, about $1,000,000, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

THE RUMINATOR

By HUMPHREY B. NEILL

A Column of Contrary Opinion

The Ruminator has been inclined in recent weeks to "play down" the inflation and the defense program, and to suggest that "the new boom" might not have as much steam behind it as most people have been counting on.

Stories are beginning to come to light that tend to support this.

This week, for example, the Wall Street Journal carried a report from across the country revealing that second-hand cars are backing up in dealers' hands everywhere. At the same time, new cars are coming off the assembly lines in greater quantities than either the public or the dealers anticipated. The result is that while new cars are selling rapidly, no "shortages" exist.

The same situation apparently prevails in "appliances" that everyone has expected would be scarce. A report before me, from "The Griffith Letter" (Colorado Springs), tells of the warehouses in Detroit, Cleveland, Los Angeles, Chicago, and other cities that are "filled to overflowing with appliances, chemicals, newsprint, canned goods, heavy electrical equipment, and liquor."

What has happened is that immediately upon the announcement of a gigantic defense program, manufacturers, wholesalers all rushed to accumulate inventories—few of them stopping to realize that it would be many months before war contracts would absorb large portions of our productive capacities. As the Ruminator has written again and again: "NEVER underestimate the productive genius of American industries; we can produce more goods in a shorter period of time than anyone can realize."

The National Association of Purchasing Agents confirms other indications that the production boom in civilian goods is leveling off. "The upward trend of procurement and production in American industry has definitely leveled off," is the observation made by the business survey committee of the N.A.P.A., as reported in the New York Times. "Many new orders..for military contracts have not yet reached industry's production lines," adds the report.

If you turn to "banking statistics" for a reflection of this inventory situation you find that the overproduction possibilities were foreshadowed some weeks ago.

Bank loans, as you have noted in your newspapers, have been climbing perpendicularly. Much of this short-term borrowing has been going into inventories. Bolton, Tremblay & Company, of Montreal, an economic organization, specializes in studies of the Federal Reserve System's weekly and monthly reports. This organization has been pointing out in recent weeks that the loan figures have indicated an unhealthy piling up of inventories. In their latest report, they state that "recent topping off of loans indicates that the steam is gradually coming out of the inventory boom. If we assume that inventory building will shortly stop, then from business inventories alone, the economy (of the U. S.) will lose the equivalent of $18.6 billion per annum of 'steam' as compared with the last half of 1950."

Now if you take a look at the commodity markets you find a similar sky-rocketing of prices—which is suggestive that here, too, emotion is getting the upper-hand over calm judgment. If the current drift toward "peace negotiations" should continue—and it well may, considering the foreign ministers' possible get-together again—we could have a wide break in the futures' markets.

It is just not generally believed that any sort of "recession" or breaks in wither commodity or stock-markets could occur, because of the stupendous defense program. However, the fact remains that we could experience a set-back because civilian production has continued at such a boom rate during the planning for war.

A long view, admittedly, indicates a continuing production boom in the United States, but a shorter outlook must be tempered with the facts as they exist.

When "everyone" knows that only one condition can prevail, you will usually find that "everyone" will be wrong, at least in the "timing."

So, as the Ruminator looks at the economic barometer today he thinks he sees a forecast of squalls not far ahead.

Just as an interesting sidelight on inflation, those who were able to buy gold a year ago (in foreign markets) for the purpose of "hedging" against the drop in the value of currencies now find they have losses" as gold today is selling for less than 12 months ago.

Albany, N. Y., March 1 (AP)—The Public Service Commission has set March 8 for a public hearing on a petition by the Long Island Rail Road for modification of an order covering placement of train crew members. On Jan. 10 the PSC ordered the Long Island to have at least one man, in addition to the motor man, in the head car and one in the rear car of all moving trains. The order was given after the commission investigated the Thanksgiving Eve wreck on the commuter line. That crack-up took 83 lives.

Maple Syrup Yield Expected to Be High

Albany, N. Y., March 1 (AP)—Maple syrup producers in New York state are looking for a good season, if the weather holds favorable.

Prof. Fred Winch of the Cornell University Conservation Department said today the steady cold, high moisture and short warm spells of the past few months had set the stage for an excellent sap run.

However, the determining factor will be the weather during the actual season, which usually runs from about mid-March to mid-April.

1951 Easter Seal Appeal Underway

Two and a half million letters of appeal were mailed this week to residents of our state as this year's nation-wide Easter Seal Appeal for Crippled Children got underway. The letters, which were prepared for mailing by one hundred and eighty-four handicapped persons, each contained a sheet of 100 Easter Seals bearing the slogan "Help Crippled Children."

The Easter Seal Appeal, which will continue until Easter, is conducted by the New York State Association for Crippled Children, Inc., in an effort to obtain sufficient funds to fill all the unmet needs of the estimated 60,000 handicapped children of our state.

De Gasperi Warns He Would Resign

Rome, March 1 (AP)—Premier Alcide de Gasperi grimly told his Atlantic Pact cabinet today he would resign if there is a repetition of his government's defeat—its first—in the Chamber of Deputies last night.

The five-vote setback, 219 to 214, was on a minor technical amendment to a defense program bill authorizing controls on essential raw materials. But it came on the eve of a main test vote—possibly tonight—on the cabinet's $415,000,000 rearmament budget.

Sources close to the government said de Gasperi, now heading his fifth Italian regime since 1945, threatened his ministers at a late night cabinet session with resignation if his Christian Democrat majority party does not reunify its ranks within 24 hours.

Technicality Cited

The cabinet members, it was reported, persuaded him against immediate resignation. They pointed out the vote was on a technical amendment and did not involve a major political issue.

De Gasperi told newsmen he regarded the vote as "a symptom of fluctuation" but one which could have political significance unless checked.

Parliamentary observers estimated that 40 or more of de Gasperi's Christian Democrat deputies, along with independents and members of government-allied parties, must have voted with the Communists against the amendment.

Before the vote, Italy's top Communist, Palmiro Togliatti, entered the chamber for the first time since his return this week from two months in Russia. He was cheered loudly from the leftist benches.

Federal Income Tax Office Hours

Philip F. McDonald, divisional chief of the Internal Revenue Department with offices located in Room 2 of the main post office building here, announced the following hours for the local office.

The regular hours are from 8:30 a. m. to 5 p. m. and will be observed with the following exceptions:

Saturday, March 3 and Saturday, March 10, the local office will be open on both days from 9 a. m. to 1 p. m.

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, March 12, 13 and 14, the local office will be open from 8:30 a. m. to 6 p. m.

Thursday, March 15, the final day for the filing of federal income tax returns, the office will be open from 8:30 a. m. to midnight.

These extended hours are for the purpose of aiding local taxpayers, the divisional chief stated.

Assistance to taxpayers in the county districts was announced as follows:

Tuesday, March 6 there will be a special deputy at the Wallkill National Bank in Wallkill.

Wednesday, March 7 there will be a special deputy at the Huguenot National Bank in New Paltz.

Thursday, March 8 there will be a special deputy at the post office in Saugerties.

There are more than 20,000 species of trees in the world.

1951 Easter Seal Appeal Underway

Two and a half million letters of appeal were mailed this week to residents of our state as this year's nation-wide Easter Seal Appeal for Crippled Children got underway. The letters, which were prepared for mailing by one hundred and eighty-four handicapped persons, each contained a sheet of 100 Easter Seals bearing the slogan "Help Crippled Children."

The Easter Seal Appeal, which will continue until Easter, is conducted by the New York State Association for Crippled Children, Inc., in an effort to obtain sufficient funds to fill all the unmet needs of the estimated 60,000 handicapped children of our state.

De Gasperi Warns He Would Resign

Rome, March 1 (AP)—Premier Alcide de Gasperi grimly told his Atlantic Pact cabinet today he would resign if there is a repetition of his government's defeat—its first—in the Chamber of Deputies last night.

The five-vote setback, 219 to 214, was on a minor technical amendment to a defense program bill authorizing controls on essential raw materials. But it came on the eve of a main test vote—possibly tonight—on the cabinet's $415,000,000 rearmament budget.

Sources close to the government said de Gasperi, now heading his fifth Italian regime since 1945, threatened his ministers at a late night cabinet session with resignation if his Christian Democrat majority party does not reunify its ranks within 24 hours.

Technicality Cited

The cabinet members, it was reported, persuaded him against immediate resignation. They pointed out the vote was on a technical amendment and did not involve a major political issue.

De Gasperi told newsmen he regarded the vote as "a symptom of fluctuation" but one which could have political significance unless checked.

Parliamentary observers estimated that 40 or more of de Gasperi's Christian Democrat deputies, along with independents and members of government-allied parties, must have voted with the Communists against the amendment.

Before the vote, Italy's top Communist, Palmiro Togliatti, entered the chamber for the first time since his return this week from two months in Russia. He was cheered loudly from the leftist benches.

Denmark's tuberculosis death rate is said to be the lowest in the world—19 per 100,000 population.

Sgt. E. F. Bloom Ill in Germany

Sergeant Eugene F. Bloom, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Bloom of 434 Washington avenue, is seriously ill at a military hospital in Frankfort, Germany, his mother reported today after her return from a two-week visit with him there.

Sgt. Bloom, a well-known Kingston resident and former student at Kingston High School, expects to be transferred home in about a month, Mrs. Bloom said.

A veteran of four years service, most of which was spent in the Army of Occupation in Germany, Bloom was stricken at Nuremberg with an illness the exact nature of which has not been determined. Mrs. Bloom was notified that her presence was advisable, and she was flown by military air transport from Westover Field, Mass., to Frankfort two weeks ago. She returned to this country, also by government plane, on Sunday.

The trip was not only the first airplane ride Mrs. Bloom ever had, but was also the first time she had been away from home, she said today.

Her son, who before enlisting had been employed at the Fuller Shirt Company, and also spent some time working for the railroad, was critically ill about January 15," she said. He showed some signs of improvement at the time of her arrival, but is still in serious condition, Mrs. Bloom said.

Small Fruit School Scheduled March 7

The annual small fruit school for Ulster and Orange county growers will be held Wednesday, March 7, at the Balmville Grange Hall. Sessions start at 10 a. m. and adjourn at 4 p. m.

Topics include talks by George Slate on promising varieties of small fruit and strawberry weed control. Nelson Shaulis will talk on fertilization and soil management in the grape vineyard and on balanced pruning of grapes for higher yields. Ralph Dean's topics will be control of grape and currant insects and controlling insects of raspberries and strawberries. Alvin Braun will discuss diseases of strawberries and raspberries.

Balmville is located in Orange county on Route 9W south of Marlborough.

Hose Company to Meet

The regular meeting of Wiltwyck Hose Company No. 1 will be held at 8 o'clock tonight at the company rooms, 265 Fair street. Refreshments will be served and the entertainment committee will give a report on the annual banquet.

Strike Cripples Bronx Bus Service

New York, March 1 (AP)—A rush-hour work stoppage of drivers crippled operations on nine Bronx bus lines today and stranded several thousand riders on snow-swept street corners.

The privately-owned line, the Surface Transportation Corp., serves some 300,000 daily riders in the Bronx and its fashionable Riverdale section.

The walkout was called against the company's garage at 218th street and Tenth avenue where 433 men are employed. A company spokesman said only 69 of the garage's 169 buses were operating.

The drivers reported for work as usual at 7:30 a. m. They manned their buses, drove a few blocks from the garage, then returned, complaining of minor mechanical defects in their vehicles.

Most bus drivers are members of the CIO Transportation Workers Union.

Seafood Dinner

Regina (AP)—A Regina mother, changing the water in the goldfish bowl, left two fish in the bathroom wash basin when called to the telephone. When the phone conversation ended, there was only one fish in the basin. The family's daughter, 2½ years old, had the answer. She said she ate it—and liked it, too.

PORT EWEN

Port Ewen, March 1 — Plans were made at the February meeting of the Altar Guild of the Methodist Church for the annual fashion show which will be held in the near future. Mrs. Helen Davenport of Kingston will be the commentator. Mrs. Davenport was present at the recent meeting and gave helpful suggestions for the show. Further details will be announced.

There will be a clam sale at the Methodist Church house Friday beginning at 11 a. m. Orders may be telephoned to Mrs. D. Tinnie, 406-R, Mrs. L. D. Myers, 2198-R, and Miss Mary F. Bishop, 5514-J-1. Proceeds of the sale will be used for the Sunday school.

The U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service has given up the use of dogsleds in Alaska.

Sgt. E. F. Bloom Ill in Germany

Sergeant Eugene F. Bloom, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Bloom of 434 Washington avenue, is seriously ill at a military hospital in Frankfort, Germany, his mother reported today after her return from a two-week visit with him there.

Sgt. Bloom, a well-known Kingston resident and former student at Kingston High School, expects to be transferred home in about a month, Mrs. Bloom said.

A veteran of four years service, most of which was spent in the Army of Occupation in Germany, Bloom was stricken at Nuremberg with an illness the exact nature of which has not been determined. Mrs. Bloom was notified that her presence was advisable, and she was flown by military air transport from Westover Field, Mass., to Frankfort two weeks ago. She returned to this country, also by government plane, on Sunday.

The trip was not only the first airplane ride Mrs. Bloom ever had, but was also the first time she had been away from home, she said today.

Her son, who before enlisting had been employed at the Fuller Shirt Company, and also spent some time working for the railroad, was critically ill about January 15, she said. He showed some signs of improvement at the time of her arrival, but is still in serious condition, Mrs. Bloom said.

Small Fruit School Scheduled March 7

The annual small fruit school for Ulster and Orange county growers will be held Wednesday, March 7, at the Balmville Grange Hall. Sessions start at 10 a. m. and adjourn at 4 p. m.

Topics include talks by George Slate on promising varieties of small fruit and strawberry weed control. Nelson Shaulis will talk on fertilization and soil management in the grape vineyard and on balanced pruning of grapes for higher yields. Ralph Dean's topics will be control of grape and currant insects and controlling insects of raspberries and strawberries. Alvin Braun will discuss diseases of strawberries and raspberries.

Balmville is located in Orange county on Route 9W south of Marlborough.

Hose Company to Meet

The regular meeting of Wiltwyck Hose Company No. 1 will be held at 8 o'clock tonight at the company rooms, 265 Fair street. Refreshments will be served and the entertainment committee will give a report on the annual banquet.

Strike Cripples Bronx Bus Service

New York, March 1 (AP)—A rush-hour work stoppage of drivers crippled operations on nine Bronx bus lines today and stranded several thousand riders on snow-swept street corners.

The privately-owned line, the Surface Transportation Corp., serves some 300,000 daily riders in the Bronx and its fashionable Riverdale section.

The walkout was called against the company's garage at 218th street and Tenth avenue where 433 men are employed. A company spokesman said only 69 of the garage's 169 buses were operating.

The drivers reported for work as usual at 7:30 a. m. They manned their buses, drove a few blocks from the garage, then returned, complaining of minor mechanical defects in their vehicles.

Most bus drivers are members of the CIO Transportation Workers Union.

Seafood Dinner

Regina (AP)—A Regina mother, changing the water in the goldfish bowl, left two fish in the bathroom wash basin when called to the telephone. When the phone conversation ended, there was only one fish in the basin. The family's daughter, 2½ years old, had the answer. She said she ate it—and liked it, too.

HIGHLAND

Highland, March 1—Mrs. Samuel D. Farnham will entertain the U. D. Society at her home, Washington avenue, Saturday afternoon.

Joseph Maroldt, Milton road, is a patient in St. Francis Hospital, Poughkeepsie, where he will undergo an operation.

Mrs. Elton Tompkins will entertain the March meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society Wednesday afternoon, March 7. Assisting her will be Mrs. George Eichsen and Mrs. Charles Lockwood. The committee plans to hold a food sale later in the month.

Mr. and Mrs. James Shurter, Marlborough, took her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Dusinberre Sunday for a call on relatives in Gardiner.

Mrs. Herbert Scholefield who returned to Indian Lake a week ago is recovering from a broken ankle.

John Miller of the social studies department in the Central school will accompany a group of students to Albany March 6 to make a tour of the state capitol and observe the Senate and Assembly in session. Assemblyman John F. Wadlin will be host to the group.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Howard returned to Oneonta Sunday after a few days spent with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Lent. Mrs. Howard is teaching the technique of case work in the extension course at Hartwick College in Oneonta.

Mrs. Harry Thorne, Miss Martha Benesh and Mrs. Franklin Welker visited the Ashokan reservoir area Sunday.

Miss Edna Curry will be hostess to the Music Study Club meeting Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Nathan Williams. The program on Indian Folk Lore will be arranged by Mrs. William Lais.

A dessert meeting of Chapter A., P.E.O., was held Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Arthur Clarke. Election of officers took place and delegates to the state convention were appointed.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Dirk spent the week-end on Long Island.

Lester Simpson who underwent operations at St. Francis Hospital, Poughkeepsie, this winter, returned to his home Sunday.

The Past Noble Grands Club of Vineyard Rebekah Lodge celebrated its 10th birthday Monday night with a covered dish supper in the hall of Sunshine Lodge, I.O.O.F. At the close of the supper, Mrs. Ella Gruner gave a history of the past 10 years and then games were enjoyed arranged by Mrs. George Erichsen. At a previous meeting held at the home of Mrs. Theron Tompkins the new officers were installed: Mrs. Simpson, president; Mrs. Pape, vice-president; Mrs. Schuhle, secretary; Mrs. Cramer, chaplain; Mrs. Gideon Tompkins, treasurer; Mrs. Erichsen, warden; Mrs. Gruner, flowers.

Joseph Brescia has moved from over the Canora store to an apartment in the Reed building.

Vernon Venne who is stationed at a naval base in Rhode Island spent the week-end with his family here.

The Rev. Marshall L. Smith, Marlborough, occupied the pulpit in the Presbyterian Church for the vesper service Sunday afternoon.

The Red Cross drive started Monday in the Town of Lloyd with a quota of $1300, $100 more than last year. John J. Batten is chairman with Mrs. Florence Minard acting chairman in the Clintondale section of the town. Harry Colyer is treasurer. Solicitors may secure their material from Town Clerk Lorin S. Callahan.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Tompkins and Mrs. Clarence W. Rathgeb have returned after several weeks spent in Florida.

Father Kills Girl, Then Shoots Self

Atlantic City, N. J., March 1 (AP)—A part-time chef, fearful his pretty 21-year-old waitress daughter "wouldn't remain a good girl," shot her to death last night. He then pumped a bullet into his chest.

The father, 46-year-old Joseph Carbone, was found several hours later on a church rectory steps moaning for a priest. Placed under police guard at Atlantic City Hospital, he was expected to live.

Assistant Atlantic County Prosecutor Emory Kiess said Carbone admitted shooting his daughter, Kathryn, and himself "because the girl would not come home and he was afraid she wouldn't remain a good girl." He said Carbone would be charged with murder.

Following a preliminary autopsy last night, Dr. Thomas J. Petinga, assistant county physician, said the girl died almost instantly with a .32 caliber slug in her heart. He said she apparently had been shot four times at close range—one bullet ripping through her hand as she tried to protect herself.

Begged Her to Return

The shooting took place in the living room of the girl's shabby basement apartment where, Kiess said, her father had gone to beg her to return home.

According to Kiess, Carbone left the apartment after the shooting and drove around the streets for four hours, a bullet wound in his chest. He lurked around the Atlantic City Hospital for a short time trying to see if his daughter would be brought there and then stumbled five blocks to the rectory of St. Nicholas' Catholic Church.

When found by a rectory maid, he was lying on the steps moaning repeatedly, "I want a priest, I want a priest." She called police and they took him to the hospital.

Detective Jerry Sullivan of the homicide squad said police were led to Kathryn's body by an anonymous phone call. She was dead on arrival at Atlantic City Hospital.

GARDINER

Gardiner, Feb. 28—Miss Grace Boland of Theills spent the weekend with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Denton.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd McKinstry spent Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lucy of Buchanan.

Miss Ann Murphy, student nurse at St. Francis Hospital, Poughkeepsie, spent Friday and Saturday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Murphy.

Mrs. Lewis Jayne and grandson, Lewis Montanye spent a few days last week with Frank Jayne and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Montanye of Albany.

Technical Sergeant William George, who is stationed at Westover Field, Mass., spent the weekend at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James George.

Flowers on the altar at the Reformed Church Sunday morning were in memory of Gilbert H. Bevier.

The Ladies' Aid Society will meet at the church hall Wednesday, March 7. This will be an all-day meeting for sewing rags for rugs for the annual fair. Each member is requested to bring sewing equipment and lunch. Dessert and coffee will be furnished by the committee consisting of Mrs. Cora Wells, Mrs. Arthur Wood, Mrs. C. D. Whittemore and Mrs. Pauline Welz. At the business meeting, officers will be elected for the coming year. The nominating committee includes Mrs. Edytha Dusinberre, Mrs. Grace Marks and Mrs. Lewis Jayne.

Russell A. Hoffman 38, of Walden, died February 25 at the Castle Point Veterans' Hospital, Beacon, after a long illness. He was born in Gardiner, a son of Elizabeth Wood Hoffman and the late John Hoffman. Mr. Hoffman resided in Walden 15 years and was employed as a bus driver for the Lester Lines. He was a member of the Gardiner Reformed Church and the William Deakin Post American Legion of Walden. Mr. Hoffman is survived by his wife, Dorothy Taylor Hoffman, Walden; his mother, Mrs. John Hoffman and a brother, Chester of Gardiner. He served a year with the U. S. Navy during World War 2 in the Atlantic Theatre. Funeral services were held today at the McHugh Funeral Home in Wallkill. The Rev. John Van Strien, pastor of the Gardiner Reformed Church, officiated. Burial took place in the New Paltz Rural Cemetery.

Father Kills Girl, Then Shoots Self

Atlantic City, N. J., March 1 (AP)—A part-time chef, fearful his pretty 21-year-old waitress daughter "wouldn't remain a good girl," shot her to death last night. He then pumped a bullet into his chest.

The father, 46-year-old Joseph Carbone, was found several hours later on a church rectory steps moaning for a priest. Placed under police guard at Atlantic City Hospital, he was expected to live.

Assistant Atlantic County Prosecutor Emory Kiess said Carbone admitted shooting his daughter, Kathryn, and himself "because the girl would not come home and he was afraid she wouldn't remain a good girl." He said Carbone would be charged with murder.

Following a preliminary autopsy last night, Dr. Thomas J. Petinga, assistant county physician, said the girl died almost instantly with a .32 caliber slug in her heart. He said she apparently had been shot four times at close range—one bullet ripping through her hand as she tried to protect herself.

Begged Her to Return

The shooting took place in the living room of the girl's shabby basement apartment where, Kiess said, her father had gone to beg her to return home.

According to Kiess, Carbone left the apartment after the shooting and drove around the streets for four hours, a bullet wound in his chest. He lurked around the Atlantic City Hospital for a short time trying to see if his daughter would be brought there and then stumbled five blocks to the rectory of St. Nicholas' Catholic Church.

When found by a rectory maid, he was lying on the steps moaning repeatedly, "I want a priest, I want a priest." She called police and they took him to the hospital.

Detective Jerry Sullivan of the homicide squad said police were led to Kathryn's body by an anonymous phone call. She was dead on arrival at Atlantic City Hospital.

GARDINER

Gardiner, Feb. 28—Miss Grace Boland of Theills spent the weekend with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Denton.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd McKinstry spent Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. Roy Lucy of Buchanan.

Miss Ann Murphy, student nurse at St. Francis Hospital, Poughkeepsie, spent Friday and Saturday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Murphy.

Mrs. Lewis Jayne and grandson, Lewis Montanye spent a few days last week with Frank Jayne and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Montanye of Albany.

Technical Sergeant William George, who is stationed at Westover Field, Mass., spent the weekend at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James George.

Flowers on the altar at the Reformed Church Sunday morning were in memory of Gilbert H. Bevier.

The Ladies' Aid Society will meet at the church hall Wednesday, March 7. This will be an all-day meeting for sewing rags for rugs for the annual fair. Each member is requested to bring sewing equipment and lunch. Dessert and coffee will be furnished by the committee consisting of Mrs. Cora Wells, Mrs. Arthur Wood, Mrs. C. D. Whittemore and Mrs. Pauline Welz. At the business meeting, officers will be elected for the coming year. The nominating committee includes Mrs. Edytha Dusinberre, Mrs. Grace Marks and Mrs. Lewis Jayne.

Russell A. Hoffman 38, of Walden, died February 25 at the Castle Point Veterans' Hospital, Beacon, after a long illness. He was born in Gardiner, a son of Elizabeth Wood Hoffman and the late John Hoffman. Mr. Hoffman resided in Walden 15 years and was employed as a bus driver for the Lester Lines. He was a member of the Gardiner Reformed Church and the William Deakin Post American Legion of Walden. Mr. Hoffman is survived by his wife, Dorothy Taylor Hoffman, Walden; his mother, Mrs. John Hoffman and a brother, Chester of Gardiner. He served a year with the U. S. Navy during World War 2 in the Atlantic Theatre. Funeral services were held today at the McHugh Funeral Home in Wallkill. The Rev. John Van Strien, pastor of the Gardiner Reformed Church, officiated. Burial took place in the New Paltz Rural Cemetery.

Named Commander

Boston, March 1 (AP)—The appointment of Col. William P. Farnsworth as commanding officer of the newly-established Northeastern Air Procurement District was announced today by the air force. Col. Investor Forum by

Harry C. France

America is saturated with money. A common question asked by those who have it is: "Where is the dollar going?" Since 1933 our unit of currency has journeyed on an inflationary road. For 18 years the purchasing power of the dollar has been steadily declining. Prospects of a reversal of this trend are not bright.

Inflation is largely responsible for the tremendous expansion of our money supplies. The economics events that have brought this about are well known: they have happened right in our midst. Some of them are chronicled here.

Eighteen years ago our government in Washington commandeered all the gold in the country. Then, after paying $20.67 an ounce for it, legislation was passed marking the gold up. Gold rose in price to its present level—$35 an ounce.

When gold was nationalized in 1933, there was about four billions of dollars of it in the United States. Under the new gold policy, with marginal mines all over the world reopened and with Uncle Sam buying from all desiring to sell, the gold pile increased to the present value of around 24 billions.

And we have not yet heard the last of the inflationary possibilities of this huge gold pile, in my opinion. As the government's economic responsibilities grow from year to year, I can see in the future some weak politicians inflating the gold again as it was in 1933.

Yearly federal budgets like those of 1951-1952 of more than 70 billions of dollars presuppose an inflation frozen into the national economy. How otherwise can such tax money be collected?

But in exacting such taxes, we are killing the very goose that lays the golden eggs. How? By robbing corporations of the seed capital they need with which to grow and to prosper. And by killing individual incentive.

A second and very important way that America has fostered inflation since 1933 is the promotion of deficit financing. It is so easy for the government to borrow money. It seems to be the painless manner in which to pay our bills.

The very trouble we are experiencing today with wages and prices started years ago. Deficit money is like a snowball sliding down a mountain. The billions of dollars thrown into the economy by red figures out of Washington are raising havoc with prices and wages.

Third, subsidizing prices—however logical it seems to be—builds an inflation. Furthermore, with a huge federal debt and a gigantic annual budget facing the country, we have an angry bull by the horns, and daren't let go. Which means just this: America must have a measure of prosperity and if farm prices must be supported to do this (as seems necessary), why then we must support the subsidy program—i.e. promote inflation.

Four, the world is embroiled in a bitter ideological conflict. It will challenge the very foundations of our free enterprise economic system. No one knows what changes in it will come. One thing is sure: a cold or a hot war will be awfully expensive.

And wars promote inflation as nothing else does. Before, during and after wars, inflation is ever present.

And so I suggest to all Americans with Federal Reserve notes hidden away (money in circulation totals $27,000,000,000!), with large idle checking accounts and with other dollar assets earning little or nothing, that they recognize the inflationary road the dollar has been travelling for 18 years. This road is still miles and miles ahead and, as the dollars walk their way down it, they will steadily lose their purchasing power. Yes, the dollar is travelling on a dreary road.

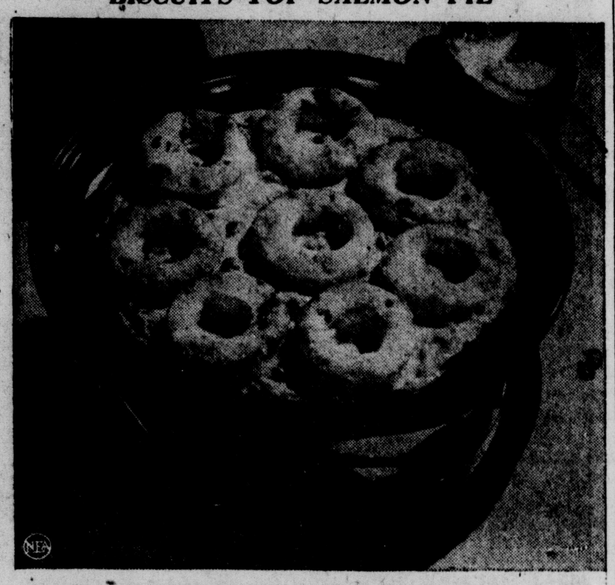
BISCUITS TOP SALMON PIE



SALMON PIE with cornmeal biscuits makes meatless main dish.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

Meatless days without regret and here's a delicious solution. Corn meal biscuits, with crisp texture and corn flavor get baked on top of a salmon pie. There's grated cheese in the biscuits, too.

Salmon Pie
(6 servings)

Base: Two cups milk, ¼ cup sifted flour, 2 cups flaked salmon (approximately 1 pound), 2 cups cooked peas, drained, ¼ cup chopped pimiento, 1 tablespoon minced onion, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 1 teaspoon salt.

Biscuits: One and one-half cups sifted enriched flour, ½ cup enriched corn meal, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ cup shortening, ½ cup grated American cheese, 2/3 to ¾ cup milk.

To make the base, scald 1½ cups of the milk. Blend the flour with the remaining ½ cup milk to form a paste. Add flour paste to scalded milk, stirring until thickened. Add the rest of the ingredients for the base. Place salmon mixture in greased baking dish (2 quart size).

For the biscuits, sift together dry ingredients into medium-sized bowl. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Add cheese. Add milk, mixing lightly only until mixture is dampened.

Turn out on lightly floured board and knead gently a few seconds. Roll out to ½-inch thickness; cut with floured biscuit cutter. Place biscuits on salmon mixture. Bake in a hot oven (450 Deg. F.) 12 to 15 minutes.

Tuna Bake
(6 servings)

Two-thirds cup milk, ½ cup quick rolled oats, uncooked, 1 can tuna fish (7 oz.), 1 cup finely chopped celery, 2 tablespoons chopped pimiento, 2 tablespoons mayonnaise, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 1 teaspoon salt, 3 beaten egg yolks, 3 stiff-beaten egg whites.

Scald milk. Add rolled oats and cook until thickened, stirring frequently. Drain tuna fish; flake finely. Add tuna fish, celery, pimiento, mayonnaise, lemon juice, Worcestershire sauce, salt and egg yolks to cooked oats; mix thoroughly.

Fold stiff-beaten egg whites into tuna fish mixture. Bake in a greased casserole (1½ quart size) in a slow oven (325 Deg. F.) 1 hour or until puffed and brown. Serve immediately. Top each serving with creamed peas if desired.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Orange juice, scrambled eggs, enriched toast, butter or fortified margarine, plum jam, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Cheese souffle, toasted and buttered English muffins, cabbage and grapefruit salad, chocolate brownies, tea, milk.

DINNER: Salmon pie with cheese corn meal biscuits, parsley potatoes, buttered beans, raw carrot sticks, pascal celery, apple brown betty, light cream, coffee, milk.

Investor Forum

by Harry C. France

America is saturated with money. A common question asked by those who have it is: "Where is the dollar going?" Since 1933 our unit of currency has journeyed on an inflationary road. For 18 years the purchasing power of the dollar has been steadily declining. Prospects of a reversal of this trend are not bright.

Inflation is largely responsible for the tremendous expansion of our money supplies. The economic events that have brought this about are well known: they have happened right in our midst. Some of them are chronicled here.

Eighteen years ago our government in Washington commandeered all the gold in the country. Then, after paying $20.67 an ounce for it, legislation was passed marking the gold up. Gold rose in price to its present level—$35 an ounce.

When gold was nationalized in 1933, there was about four billions of dollars of it in the United States. Under the new gold policy, with marginal mines all over the world reopened and with Uncle Sam buying from all desiring to sell, the gold pile increased to the present value of around 24 billions.

And we have not yet heard the last of the inflationary possibilities of this huge gold pile, in my opinion. As the government's economic responsibilities grow from year to year, I can see in the future some weak politicians inflating the gold again as it was in 1933.

Yearly federal budgets like those of 1951-1952 of more than 70 billions of dollars presuppose an inflation frozen into the national economy. How otherwise can such tax money be collected?

But in exacting such taxes, we are killing the very goose that lays the golden eggs. How? By robbing corporations of the seed capital they need with which to grow and to prosper. And by killing individual incentive.

A second and very important way that America has fostered inflation since 1933 is the promotion of deficit financing. It is so easy for the government to borrow money. It seems to be the painless manner in which to pay our bills.

The very trouble we are experiencing today with wages and prices started years ago. Deficit money is like a snowball sliding down a mountain. The billions of dollars thrown into the economy by red figures out of Washington are raising havoc with prices and wages.

Third, subsidizing prices—however logical it seems to be—builds an inflation. Furthermore, with a huge federal debt and a gigantic annual budget facing the country, we have an angry bull by the horns, and daren't let go. Which means just this: America must have a measure of prosperity and if farm prices must be supported to do this (as seems necessary), why then we must support the subsidy program—i.e. promote inflation.

Four, the world is embroiled in a bitter ideological conflict. It will challenge the very foundations of our free enterprise economic system. No one knows what changes in it will come. One thing is sure: a cold or a hot war will be awfully expensive.

And wars promote inflation as nothing else does. Before, during and after wars, inflation is ever present.

And so I suggest to all Americans with Federal Reserve notes hidden away (money in circulation totals $27,000,000,000!), with large idle checking accounts and with other dollar assets earning little or nothing, that they recognize the inflationary road the dollar has been travelling for 18 years. This road is still miles and miles ahead and, as the dollars walk their way down it, they will steadily lose their purchasing power. Yes, the dollar is travelling on a dreary road.

"Mrs. Filbert, Your Margarine is just tops!"

writes Mrs. Barbara Paul, 7 Concord Street, Natick, Mass.

"Thanks for your nice compliment, Mrs. Paul!" says Mrs. Filbert. "Mrs. Filbert's Margarine is my own recipe, so I love to get letters like yours.

"Here's what other housewives write me: Cleveland, Ohio: 'Mrs. Filbert, your margarine is much sweeter and smoother than other brands!'... Brattleboro, Vt.: 'I use your margarine for all my baking; it is so wonderful!'...

"Buy my Mrs. Filbert's Margarine today. 15,000 units of Vitamin A fortify every pound. It's as good for you as it tastes!"

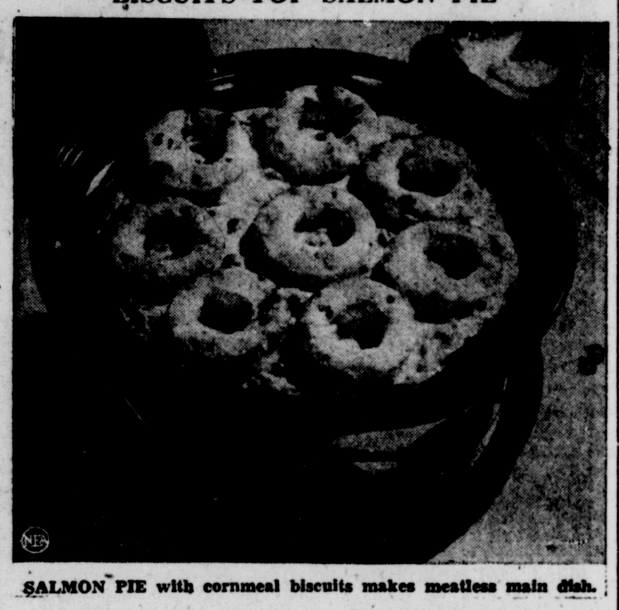
BISCUITS TOP SALMON PIE



SALMON PIE with cornmeal biscuits makes meatless main dish.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

Meatless days without regret and here's a delicious solution. Corn meal biscuits, with crisp texture and corn flavor get baked on top of a salmon pie. There's grated cheese in the biscuits, too.

Salmon Pie
(6 servings)

Base: Two cups milk, ¼ cup sifted flour, 2 cups flaked salmon (approximately 1 pound), 2 cups cooked peas, drained, ¼ cup chopped pimiento, 1 tablespoon minced onion, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 1 teaspoon salt.

Biscuits: One and one-half cups sifted enriched flour, ½ cup enriched corn meal, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ cup shortening, ½ cup grated American cheese, 2/3 to ¾ cup milk.

To make the base, scald 1½ cups of the milk. Blend the flour with the remaining ½ cup milk to form a paste. Add flour paste to scalded milk, stirring until thickened. Add the rest of the ingredients for the base. Place salmon mixture in greased baking dish (2 quart size).

For the biscuits, sift together dry ingredients into medium-sized bowl. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Add cheese. Add milk, mixing lightly only until mixture is dampened.

Turn out on lightly floured board and knead gently a few seconds. Roll out to ½-inch thickness; cut with floured biscuit cutter. Place biscuits on salmon mixture. Bake in a hot oven (450 Deg. F.) 12 to 15 minutes.

Tuna Bake
(6 servings)

Two-thirds cup milk, ½ cup quick rolled oats, uncooked, 1 can tuna fish (7 oz.), 1 cup finely chopped celery, 2 tablespoons chopped pimiento, 2 tablespoons mayonnaise, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 1 teaspoon salt, 3 beaten egg yolks, 3 stiff-beaten egg whites.

Scald milk. Add rolled oats and cook until thickened, stirring frequently. Drain tuna fish; flake finely. Add tuna fish, celery, pimiento, mayonnaise, lemon juice, Worcestershire sauce, salt and egg yolks to cooked oats; mix thoroughly.

Fold stiff-beaten egg whites into tuna fish mixture. Bake in a greased casserole (1½ quart size) in a slow oven (325 Deg. F.) 1 hour or until puffed and brown. Serve immediately. Top each serving with creamed peas if desired.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Orange juice, scrambled eggs, enriched toast, butter or fortified margarine, plum jam, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Cheese souffle, toasted and buttered English muffins, cabbage and grapefruit salad, chocolate brownies, tea, milk.

DINNER: Salmon pie with cheese corn meal biscuits, parsley potatoes, buttered beans, raw carrot sticks, pascal celery, apple brown betty, light cream, coffee, milk.

Meatless days without regret and here's a delicious solution. Corn meal biscuits, with crisp texture and corn flavor get baked on top of a salmon pie. There's grated cheese in the biscuits, too.

Salmon Pie
(6 servings)

Base: Two cups milk, ¼ cup sifted flour, 2 cups flaked salmon (approximately 1 pound), 2 cups cooked peas, drained, ¼ cup chopped pimiento, 1 tablespoon minced onion, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 1 teaspoon salt.

Biscuits: One and one-half cups sifted enriched flour, ½ cup enriched corn meal, 3 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ cup shortening, ½ cup grated American cheese, 2/3 to ¾ cup milk.

To make the base, scald 1½ cups of the milk. Blend the flour with the remaining ½ cup milk to form a paste. Add flour paste to scalded milk, stirring until thickened. Add the rest of the ingredients for the base. Place salmon mixture in greased baking dish (2 quart size).

For the biscuits, sift together dry ingredients into medium-sized bowl. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Add cheese. Add milk, mixing lightly only until mixture is dampened.

Turn out on lightly floured board and knead gently a few seconds. Roll out to ½-inch thickness; cut with floured biscuit cutter. Place biscuits on salmon mixture. Bake in a hot oven (450 Deg. F.) 12 to 15 minutes.

Tuna Bake
(6 servings)

Two-thirds cup milk, ½ cup quick rolled oats, uncooked, 1 can tuna fish (7 oz.), 1 cup finely chopped celery, 2 tablespoons chopped pimiento, 2 tablespoons mayonnaise, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 1 teaspoon salt, 3 beaten egg yolks, 3 stiff-beaten egg whites.

Scald milk. Add rolled oats and cook until thickened, stirring frequently. Drain tuna fish; flake finely. Add tuna fish, celery, pimiento, mayonnaise, lemon juice, Worcestershire sauce, salt and egg yolks to cooked oats; mix thoroughly.

Fold stiff-beaten egg whites into tuna fish mixture. Bake in a greased casserole (1½ quart size) in a slow oven (325 Deg. F.) 1 hour or until puffed and brown. Serve immediately. Top each serving with creamed peas if desired.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Orange juice, scrambled eggs, enriched toast, butter or fortified margarine, plum jam, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Cheese souffle, toasted and buttered English muffins, cabbage and grapefruit salad, chocolate brownies, tea, milk.

In Days Like These You'll Be Glad To Know...

A&P Actually Triples Your Opportunities To SAVE!

There are more than 300 shopping days in the year, but an average of only 104 Fridays and Saturdays. So by offering you savings every day, instead of savings on week-ends only ... A&P triples your opportunities to save money.

And here's something else you'll be glad to know: A&P guarantees all advertised prices (including those not subject to price ceilings) for a full week, even though market prices go up. Result? You can shop at A&P any day you choose ... and save every day you shop. Why not start today?

All prices shown here (including those of items not subject to price ceilings) are guaranteed Thurs., March 1st through Wed., March 7th and effective in this community and vicinity.

Customers' Corner

Not everybody has the same shopping problems.

That is why it's so helpful to us when we hear from all the different kinds of people who shop at A&P.

Many thousands of men and women in all walks of life have written to the Customer Relations Department expressing their opinions of A&P stores, food and service.

We're pleased to learn that we have so many satisfied customers. And we're pleased, too, that we have received so many worthwhile suggestions for making A&P a better place to shop.

Remember, our loyal employees always give your comments their most earnest consideration.

BRAND NEW in Kingston! The suds that makes washing simple!

No-Rinse Surf

gets your clothes so clean... clean... clean...

SEE HOW CLEAN! "I took a good close look at my wash, and got the surprise of my life. No-Rinse Surf really does get clothes dazzling clean—with half the work and time!"
—says MRS. ROBERT J. GRIFFIN
R. D. No. 1, NASSAU

FEEL HOW CLEAN! "I couldn't believe that No-Rinse Surf leaves clothes so soft and fluffy, till I tried it myself. It's a fact—I never felt a softer, fluffier wash in my life!"
—says MRS. JOHN C. NOLAN
R. D. No. 1, DE FREESTVILLE

SMELL HOW CLEAN! "Imagine—my clothes smelled fresh as a breeze, without rinsing! Nothing ever left my wash with such a sunny fragrance as No-Rinse Surf!"
—says MRS. JAMES A. GALLAGHER
800 Lancaster Street, ALBANY

you need never rinse again!

No soap gets clothes so soft—so sweet—so clean as new No-Rinse Surf! You've never seen anything like it! In just one tub of water, Surf soaks—whitens—gets clothes so clean you need not rinse!

That's right! With no rinsing—no bleaching or bluing—no soaking or scrubbing—clothes look clean, feel clean, smell clean. And they are clean—because No-Rinse Surf contains a miracle ingredient that floats dirt away—keeps it from getting back into clothes.

White clothes come so white—colors so bright—everything dries so sweet and soft and clean! And clothes iron like a dream!

Only washday product approved by U.S. Testing Co. for no rinsing!

Priests Here to Direct Catholic Charities Drive

Priests from each of the 386 parishes of the New York Archdiocese, who were named last week to direct the parish phase of the forthcoming 32nd annual appeal of New York Catholic Charities, will receive first hand reports on the current needs and problems of that organization at a series of meetings to be held next week in the Catholic Charities Center, 122 East 22nd street, Manhattan.

The Right Rev. Monsignor James J. Lynch, executive director of New York Catholic Charities, will brief the parish directors on general needs and then directors of Catholic Charities five principal divisions, — Health and Hospitals, Family Service, Child Care, Youth Activities and Youth Counseling Service,—will report on their 1950 activities and the new problems likely to arise in the coming year.

Immediately after the meetings, the parish directors will begin organizing their parishes and recruiting volunteers for the appeal solicitation which will be held from April 15th to 25th. Overall goal for the 1951 appeal has been announced at $2,376,196.

Active parish directors for churches in Ulster are:

The Rev. Louis A. Stryker of St. John the Evangelist, Saugerties; the Rev. Edmund V. Radford of St. Colman, East Kingston; the Rev. Francis J. Kleindienst of St. Andrew, Ellenville; the Rev. John P. Flynn of St. Mary, Ellenville; the Rev. Archibald H. E. Damm of St. Joseph, Glasco; the Rev. James F. Hanley of St. Mary, Marlborough; the Rev. John M. Nicholas of St. James, Milton; the Rev. Joseph Kozlowski, New Paltz; the Rev. John Sheehan, M. S. of St. Francis de Sales, Phoenicia; the Rev. Joseph J. Comyns, C.Ss.R., and the Rev. Joseph Wall, C. Ss. R. of Presentation of the Blessed Virgin Mary, Port Ewen; the Rev. Thomas Gaffney of St. Peter, Rosendale; the Rev. Raymond A. Hyland of St. Mary, Saugerties; the Rev. William H. Kennedy of St. Augustine, Highland.

Kingston: The Rev. Joseph J. O'Rourke of Holy Name of Jesus; the Rev. Joseph J. Sieczek of Immaculate Conception; the Rev. James V. Keating of St. Joseph; the Rev. Edward I. Farrelly of St. Mary; the Rev. Henry E. Herdegen of St. Peter; the Rev. James A. Dunnigan of St. Ann; and the Rev. James L. Riordan of St. John.

British India, Ceylon, Java, and the United Kingdom supply Canada with most of its tea, chiefly in unprepared form.

Taft Gets 'Nomination'

Baltimore, March 1 (AP)—Senator Taft (R-Ohio) was unofficially nominated for president last night and Governor McKledin of Maryland suggested it be made official. The Republican governor, taking note of dinner guests' greetings to the senator as the "next president of the United States," recalled former presidents Andrew Jackson, Abraham Lincoln and Woodrow Wilson were nominated here. "And they were all elected," the governor reminded Taft. "Have the next National Republican Convention here and we'll nominate you, too." Taft was attending a testimonial dinner here for Maryland's Republican Senator John Marshall Butler.

Says Alcohol Is Poison

Editor, The Freeman:

It is considered to be a matter of courtesy to acknowledge receipt of personal communications, I appreciate this opportunity of doing so, as my answer to the one recently received contains valuable information established through scientific research, to both physical and moral well-being. The letter referred to, contained a picture of a woman said to be, (by News foto) 104 years of age, a Mrs. Catherine B. Lyons of Westfield, N. J. As quoted below the picture, her formula for longevity is made up of "good food, walking, fresh air and—a bit of whiskey." Just how long ago the original for the picture was taken, News did not state. However, I am glad to have the name and address of this sprightly looking old lady. I shall be happy to send a card of congratulations (and a copy of my letter) wishing for her continued health through her tested formula. But in the interest of those who may think her formula a good one to follow, I should like to quote a few facts well known to some of us. (1) Alcohol, in any form is a depressant narcotic drug, not a stimulant. (2) The effects of alcohol are almost entirely, if not wholly explained by its toxic damage to the central neervous system, the brain and spinal cord. Because of this, it interferes with the relation of man to his fellowmen. The thing that distinguishes man from the brute, are these faculties which alcohol dulls and destroys. (3) It has a very limited food value, perhaps enough to add inches to one's girth, which makes no improvement to appearance or health. (4) The life-saving reflexes of the body are retarded from 5 to 10 per cent. It slows the very automatic nervous mechanism that we may need to protect ourselves from some forms of bodily danger. (5) There is no scientific evidence, that human health is improved as a result of the use of alcohol at any age.

We are living in days of scientific progress which says that alcohol in any form, or in any amount is a poison, and should be labeled as such. It is Public Enemy No. 1. Let us live today, not as some one of a century ago may suggest. In the light of facts known by all who are interested enough to read and think intelligently, we say,

It's smarter not to drink.

Must Reduce Fares

Albany, N. Y., March 1 (AP)—The Public Service Commission yesterday ordered the Westchester Electric Railroad Company to reduce fares for school children, effective March 12. The PSC set the fares at five cents in a single zone, and 10 cents for a two-zone ride. School children now pay the regular fare of 10 cents in one zone and 15 cents in two zones. The company's permit for existing fare rates expires March 31. The new school rates will expire on the same date. Hearings on future fares to be charged by the firm will be resumed Friday in New York city.

The starfish usually has five points, but some may have as many as 40.

Chinese Reds to Exhibit

Prague (AP)—China will exhibit at the Prague International Trade Fair for the first time this year, and the Chinese are taking no chances on being late. The fair is scheduled from May 30 to June 3, but a Chinese delegation from various ministries in the Communist-led government left Peiping in January.

Priests Here to Direct Catholic Charities Drive

Priests from each of the 386 parishes of the New York Archdiocese, who were named last week to direct the parish phase of the forthcoming 32nd annual appeal of New York Catholic Charities, will receive first hand reports on the current needs and problems of that organization at a series of meetings, to be held next week in the Catholic Charities Center, 122 East 22nd street, Manhattan.

The Right Rev. Monsignor James J. Lynch, executive director of New York Catholic Charities, will brief the parish directors on general needs and then directors of Catholic Charities five principal divisions, — Health and Hospitals, Family Service, Child Care, Youth Activities and Youth Counseling Service,—will report on their 1950 activities and the new problems likely to arise in the coming year.

Immediately after the meetings, the parish directors will begin organizing their parishes and recruiting volunteers for the appeal solicitation which will be held from April 15th to 25th. Overall goal for the 1951 appeal has been announced at $2,376,196.

Active parish directors for churches in Ulster are:

The Rev. Louis A. Stryker of St. John the Evangelist, Saugerties; the Rev. Edmund V. Radford of St. Colman, East Kingston; the Rev. Francis J. Kleindienst of St. Andrew, Ellenville; the Rev. John P. Flynn of St. Mary, Ellenville; the Rev. Archibald H. E. Damm of St. Joseph, Glasco; the Rev. James F. Hanley of St. Mary, Marlborough; the Rev. John M. Nicholas of St. James, Milton; the Rev. Joseph Kozlowski, New Paltz; the Rev. John Sheehan, M. S. of St. Francis de Sales, Phoenicia; the Rev. Joseph J. Comyns, C.Ss.R., and the Rev. Joseph Wall, C. Ss. R. of Presentation of the Blessed Virgin Mary, Port Ewen; the Rev. Thomas Gaffney of St. Peter, Rosendale; the Rev. Raymond A. Hyland of St. Mary, Saugerties; the Rev. William H. Kennedy of St. Augustine, Highland.

Kingston: The Rev. Joseph J. O'Rourke of Holy Name of Jesus; the Rev. Joseph J. Sieczek of Immaculate Conception; the Rev. James V. Keating of St. Joseph; the Rev. Edward I. Farrelly of St. Mary; the Rev. Henry E. Herdegen of St. Peter; the Rev. James A. Dunnigan of St. Ann; and the Rev. James L. Riordan of St. John.

British India, Ceylon, Java, and the United Kingdom supply Canada with most of its tea, chiefly in unprepared form.

Taft Gets 'Nomination'

Baltimore, March 1 (AP)—Senator Taft (R-Ohio) was unofficially nominated for president last night and Governor McKeldin of Maryland suggested it be made official. The Republican governor, taking note of dinner guests' greetings to the senator as the "next president of the United States," recalled former presidents Andrew Jackson, Abraham Lincoln and Woodrow Wilson were nominated here. "And they were all elected," the governor reminded Taft. "Have the next National Republican Convention here and we'll nominate you, too." Taft was attending a testimonial dinner here for Maryland's Republican Senator John Marshall Butler.

Says Alcohol Is Poison

Editor, The Freeman:

It is considered to be a matter of courtesy to acknowledge receipt of personal communications, I appreciate this opportunity of doing so, as my answer to the one recently received contains valuable information established through scientific research, to both physical and moral well-being. The letter referred to, contained a picture of a woman said to be, (by News foto) 104 years of age, a Mrs. Catherine B. Lyons of Westfield, N. J. As quoted below the picture, her formula for longevity is made up of "good food, walking, fresh air and—a bit of whiskey." Just how long ago the original for the picture was taken, News did not state. However, I am glad to have the name and address of this sprightly looking old lady. I shall be happy to send a card of congratulations (and a copy of my letter) wishing for her continued health through her tested formula. But in the interest of those who may think her formula a good one to follow, I should like to quote a few facts well known to some of us. (1) Alcohol, in any form is a depressant narcotic drug, not a stimulant. (2) The effects of alcohol are almost entirely, if not wholly explained by its toxic damage to the central neervous system, the brain and spinal cord. Because of this, it interferes with the relation of man to his fellowmen. The thing that distinguishes man from the brute, are these faculties which alcohol dulls and destroys. (3) It has a very limited food value, perhaps enough to add inches to one's girth, which makes no improvement to appearance or health. (4) The life-saving reflexes of the body are retarded from 5 to 10 per cent. It slows the very automatic nervous mechanism that we may need to protect ourselves from some forms of bodily danger. (5) There is no scientific evidence, that human health is improved as a result of the use of alcohol at any age.

We are living in days of scientific progress which says that alcohol in any form, or in any amount is a poison, and should be labeled as such. It is Public Enemy No. 1. Let us live today, not as some one of a century ago may suggest. In the light of facts known by all who are interested enough to read and think intelligently, we say,

It's smarter not to drink.

LILLIE S. SHULTIS
County and Local

Must Reduce Fares

Albany, N. Y., March 1 (AP)—The Public Service Commission yesterday ordered the Westchester Electric Railroad Company to reduce fares for school children, effective March 12. The PSC set the fares at five cents in a single zone, and 10 cents for a two-zone ride. School children now pay the regular fare of 10 cents in one zone and 15 cents in two zones. The company's permit for existing fare rates expires March 31. The new school rates will expire on the same date. Hearings on future fares to be charged by the firm will be resumed Friday in New York city.

The starfish usually has five points, but some may have as many as 40.

Chinese Reds to Exhibit

Prague (AP)—China will exhibit at the Prague International Trade Fair for the first time this year, and the Chinese are taking no chances on being late. The fair is scheduled from May 30 to June 3, but a Chinese delegation from various ministries in the Communist-led government left Peiping in January.

SOCIAL PARTY TONIGHT

KINGSTON AMERICAN LEGION POST 150

150 Persons Attend Dinner in Honor Of Charles Katz

Approximately 150 persons attended a testimonial dinner given by the Kingston Hebrew School in honor of Charles Katz, Sunday, Feb. 25. Joseph Epstein, president of Congregation Agudas Achim welcomed guests to the Agudas Achim social hall where the dinner was held.

Toastmaster for the evening was Abe Rosenthal, treasurer of the Kingston Hebrew School. Rabbi Herbert I. Bloom of Temple Emanuel delivered the invocation.

Speakers paying tribute to Mr. Katz for his 40 years of service and devotion to the Kingston Hebrew School were Raphael Klein, chairman of the education committee of the school; Dr. Samuel Katz, noted educator and principal of John Marshall High School in New York, and Mr. Katz's brother; Rabbi H. Z. Rappaport of Congregation Agudas Achim, a teacher at the school and Dr. Isaac N. Trainin, guest speaker and director of the Yeshiva University Foundation of New York.

During the dinner Herman Eaton, president of the Kingston Hebrew School, presented Mr. Katz with hand-illuminated resolutions, and a gift on behalf of the school. Meanwhile, Mrs. Morton Levine, president of the school's Ladies' Auxiliary, gave Mr. Katz a guest scroll of all present.

Vocal selections were sung by Miss Barbara Ewig, and Miss Phyllis Weiner accompanied by Miss Sherma Werner at the piano, and by Larry Jacobs accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Henry Singer.

Mr. Katz then addressed the gathering, and expressed his thanks.

Other guests attending the dinner from out-of-town were Dr. and Mrs. Bernard Cantor of Springfield, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. N. Sanders Wall of Boston; Mrs. Samuel Katz of New York; and Mrs. Charles Katz of Springfield, Mass.

Lenten Services

First Presbyterian

"The Man Who Came to Die" will be the subject of sermon by the Rev. Norman F. Langford of Philadelphia, at the first of three special Lenten services tonight at 8 o'clock in the First Presbyterian Church, Elmendorf street and Tremper avenue. The pastor, the Rev. William J. McVey, will preside. The following musical program, under the direction of Miss Edna Merrihew, organist and choir director, will be presented: Organ prelude, Andante by Guilmant; anthem, All in the April Evening by Ralston, to be sung by the youth and senior choirs; solo, Like As a Father by J. Prindle Scott, to be sung by William J. McVey, Jr., baritone; organ postlude, March of the Priests by Mendelssohn.

The Rev. Mr. Langford, noted author and leader, formerly minister in the United Church of Canada, holds the office of editor in chief for curriculum materials in the Board of Christian Education, Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. For the two succeeding services on March 8 and 15, the guest preachers respectively will be: the Rev. Dr. Raymond Irving Lindquist of Orange, N. J., who is well-known to many Kingston people, and the Rev. Dr. Harvey Bennett, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Atlantic City, N. J. These services are open to the public.

Proxy for Stricken Pastor

Centerville, Iowa (AP)—The Rev. C. L. Bartholomew, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church here, spent many weeks away from his church in Florida recuperating from a voice paralysis which resulted from an attack of bulbar poliomyelitis. His sermons were regularly heard by his congregation, however. He mailed them each week and they were read to the congregation by Max Ellis, an insurance man and a member of the church choir.

Jules Viglielmo, Ulster Park, Elected Footlighters' Head

Jules Viglielmo of Ulster Park has been elected president of their growing little theatre group, the Kingston Footlighters announced today. Mr. Viglielmo, the group stressed, takes over his new post with a diversified background of experience in theatre activities.

A teacher of mathematics and science at the Franklin Delano Roosevelt High School in Hyde Park, he directed the school's production of "For Love or Money" last spring, as well as this year's senior class presentation, "Arsenic and Old Lace." He has also taught dramatics in the adult school program, and has helped organize a chapter of the National Thespian Society at the high school in Hyde Park, where he is dramatic director for the extra-curricular program.

Mr. Viglielmo graduated from Union College with the class of '44 where he was associated with the Mountebanks group. Five years later he received his Master's degree in education there, at the same time taking active part in the Schenectady Civic Theatre. As a student at Kingston High School, where he graduated in 1940, he was president of the dramatic society, and appeared in several small productions before winning the coveted lead of Henry Aldrich in that year's senior class play. A Footlighter of long standing, he is probably best remembered for his Michael Barnes role in last season's hit, "The Male Animal," presented at the Woodstock Playhouse.

As his first official duty, President Viglielmo read a petition duly signed by the Footlighters, in praise of their retiring president, Ernest Grafe of Bloomington. The petition praised Mr. Grafe for his "untiring and unselfish efforts" which have led to a "constructive program of public service and endeavor," as well as for his "tact and wisdom" in what appeared to be the Footlighters' "crucial and most trying year."

"He has turned this crucial year," the petition continued, "into one of truly vigorous achievement and unparalleled accomplishment because he has placed the Footlighters ahead of his many other pursuits and responsibilities, sparing no time, no trouble, and on expense to build this club."

Golden Age Members Given Spring Favors

At a meeting of the Golden Age Club Friday, Feb. 23 at the Y.W.C.A., members were given spring favors by Major Helena Clearwater. In addition the eldest guest, aged 89, was presented with a nosegay. During the evening guests enjoyed a program of games, and tiny flags for Washington's Birthday were presented to guests aged 87, 86 and 85.

The refreshment committee for the meeting included Miss Mary Lord, Mrs. Viola Phillips, Mrs. Ann Van Wagenen, Mrs. Kate Winfield, Mrs. Frank Schwab, Mrs. Christine DuBois and Mrs. Elga Curtis.

Births

The city registrar recently recorded the following births:

Feb. 22—Lorraine Ann to Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Adam Turck, 761 Abeel street, and Coleen to Mr. and Mrs. Leo Phillip Fogarty, 229 Greenkill avenue.

Feb. 23—Kenneth John to Mr. and Mrs. Donald John Williams, 187 Hasbrouck avenue, and Kevin Edward to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Fischang, Lake Katrine.

Feb. 25—Karen to Mr. and Mrs. Olaf Olson, Highland; Sam John to Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Sarbello, Highland, and Laureen Ann to Mr. and Mrs. Robert Russell Beck, 29 Broadway.

Feb. 26—Vincent Ralph, 2nd, to Mr. and Mrs. V. R. Guido, Flatbush avenue extension, and Michael James to Mr. and Mrs. Michael A. Brown, Jr., 28 St. Mary's street.

Feb. 27—Amelia Evelyn to Mr. and Mrs. Albert Douglas Young, Rosendale.

Jules Viglielmo, Ulster Park, Elected Footlighters' Head

Jules Viglielmo of Ulster Park has been elected president of their growing little theatre group, the Kingston Footlighters announced today. Mr. Viglielmo, the group stressed, takes over his new post with a diversified background of experience in theatre activities.

A teacher of mathematics and science at the Franklin Delano Roosevelt High School in Hyde Park, he directed the school's production of "For Love or Money" last spring, as well as this year's senior class presentation, "Arsenic and Old Lace." He has also taught dramatics in the adult school program, and has helped organize a chapter of the National Thespian Society at the high school in Hyde Park, where he is dramatic director for the extra-curricular program.

Mr. Viglielmo graduated from Union College with the class of '44 where he was associated with the Mountebanks group. Five years later he received his Master's degree in education there, at the same time taking active part in the Schenectady Civic Theatre. As a student at Kingston High School, where he graduated in 1940, he was president of the dramatic society, and appeared in several small productions before winning the coveted lead of Henry Aldrich in that year's senior class play. A Footlighter of long standing, he is probably best remembered for his Michael Barnes role in last season's hit, "The Male Animal," presented at the Woodstock Playhouse.

As his first official duty, President Viglielmo read a petition duly signed by the Footlighters, in praise of their retiring president, Ernest Grafe of Bloomington. The petition praised Mr. Grafe for his "untiring and unselfish efforts" which have led to a "constructive program of public service and endeavor," as well as for his "tact and wisdom" in what appeared to be the Footlighters' "crucial and most trying year."

"He has turned this crucial year," the petition continued, "into one of truly vigorous achievement and unparalleled accomplishment because he has placed the Footlighters ahead of his many other pursuits and responsibilities, sparing no time, no trouble, and on expense to build this club."

Golden Age Members Given Spring Favors

At a meeting of the Golden Age Club Friday, Feb. 23 at the Y.W.C.A., members were given spring favors by Major Helena Clearwater. In addition the eldest guest, aged 89, was presented with a nosegay. During the evening guests enjoyed a program of games, and tiny flags for Washington's Birthday were presented to guests aged 87, 86 and 85.

The refreshment committee for the meeting included Miss Mary Lord, Mrs. Viola Phillips, Mrs. Ann Van Wagenen, Mrs. Kate Winfield, Mrs. Frank Schwab, Mrs. Christine DuBois and Mrs. Elga Curtis.

Miss Wilma McCord, Gardiner, Is Wed To David I. Klein

Miss Wilma McCord of Washington, D. C., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur McCord, Sr., of Gardiner, was married February 14 at 6:30 p. m. to David Irving Klein of Washington, son of Mrs. Anna Klein and the late Mr. Klein of New York. The ceremony was performed in the Mount Vernon Place Methodist Church by the Rev. Mr. Warren. The church was trimmed with white gladioli and candles.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Arthur McCord, Jr., wore a white lace gown over yellow satin. Her veil was fastened to a Juliet cap.

Miss Ginnette Herbert of Ottawa, Canada, was maid of honor. Miss Herbert wore a light blue lace gown and a matching Juliet cap. Kenneth Stevens of Washington was the couple's other attendant.

Following the ceremony a reception for 60 guests was held in the bride's home in Washington.

On their wedding trip the couple flew to Williamsburg, Va. The bride wore a teal blue suit, with brown accessories, and a white orchid corsage. Upon their return Mr. and Mrs. Klein will make their home in Washington.

The bride is a graduate of New Paltz High School and attended Moore's Institute, Philadelphia, Pa. The groom is employed with the United States Post Office in Washington.

150 Persons Attend Dinner in Honor Of Charles Katz

Approximately 150 persons attended a testimonial dinner given by the Kingston Hebrew School in honor of Charles Katz, Sunday, Feb. 25. Joseph Epstein, president of Congregation Agudas Achim welcomed guests to the Agudas Achim social hall where the dinner was held.

Toastmaster for the evening was Abe Rosenthal, treasurer of the Kingston Hebrew School. Rabbi Herbert I. Bloom of Temple Emanuel delivered the invocation.

Speakers paying tribute to Mr. Katz for his 40 years of service and devotion to the Kingston Hebrew School were Raphael Klein, chairman of the education committee of the school; Dr. Samuel Katz, noted educator and principal of John Marshall High School in New York, and Mr. Katz's brother; Rabbi H. Z. Rappaport of Congregation Agudas Achim, a teacher at the school and Dr. Isaa N. Trainin, guest speaker and director of the Yeshiva University Foundation of New York.

During the dinner Herman Eaton, president of the Kingston Hebrew School, presented Mr. Katz with hand-illuminated resolutions, and a gift on behalf of the school. Meanwhile, Mrs. Morton Levine, president of the school's Ladies' Auxiliary, gave Mr. Katz a guest scroll of all present.

Vocal selections were sung by Miss Barbara Ewig, and Miss Phyllis Weiner accompanied by Miss Sherma Werner at the piano, and by Larry Jacobs accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Henry Singer.

Mr. Katz then addressed the gathering, and expressed his thanks.

Other guests attending the dinner from out-of-town were Dr. and Mrs. Bernard Cantor of Springfield, Mass.; Mr. and Mrs. N. Sanders Wall of Boston; Mrs. Samuel Katz of New York; and Mrs. Charles Katz of Springfied, Mass.

Lenten Services

First Presbyterian

"The Man Who Came to Die" will be the subject of sermon by the Rev. Norman F. Langford of Philadelphia, at the first of three special Lenten services tonight at 8 o'clock in the First Presbyterian Church, Elmendorf street and Tremper avenue. The pastor, the Rev. William J. McVey, will preside. The following musical program, under the direction of Miss Edna Merrihew, organist and choir director, will be presented: Organ prelude, Andante by Guilmant; anthem, All in the April Evening by Ralston, to be sung by the youth and senior choirs; solo, Like As a Father by J. Prindle Scott, to be sung by William J. McVey, Jr., baritone; organ postlude, March of the Priests by Mendelssohn.

The Rev. Mr. Langford, noted author and leader, formerly minister in the United Church of Canada, holds the office of editor in chief for curriculum materials in the Board of Christian Education, Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. For the two succeeding services on March 8 and 15, the guest preachers respectively will be: the Rev. Dr. Raymond Irving Lindquist of Orange, N. J., who is well-known to many Kingston people, and the Rev. Dr. Harvey Bennett, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Atlantic City, N. J. These services are open to the public.

Proxy for Stricken Pastor

Centerville, Iowa (AP)—The Rev. C. L. Bartholomew, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church here, spent many weeks away from his church in Florida recuperating from a voice paralysis which resulted from an attack of bulbar poliomyelitis. His sermons were regularly heard by his congregation, however. He mailed them each week and they were read to the congregation by Max Ellis, an insurance man and a member of the church choir.

Jules Viglielmo, Ulster Park, Elected Footlighters' Head

Jules Viglielmo of Ulster Park has been elected president of their growing little theatre group, the Kingston Footlighters announced today. Mr. Viglielmo, the group stressed, takes over his new post with a diversified background of experience in theatre activities.

A teacher of mathematics and science at the Franklin Delano Roosevelt High School in Hyde Park, he directed the school's production of "For Love or Money" last spring, as well as this year's senior class presentation, "Arsenic and Old Lace." He has also taught dramatics in the adult school program, and has helped organize a chapter of the National Thespian Society at the high school in Hyde Park, where he is dramatic director for the extra-curricular program.

A Footlighter of long standing, he is probably best remembered for his Michael Barnes role in last season's hit, "The Male Animal," presented at the Woodstock Playhouse.

As his first official duty, President Viglielmo read a petition duly signed by the Footlighters, in praise of their retiring president, Ernest Grafe of Bloomington. The petition praised Mr. Grafe for his "untiring and unselfish efforts" which have led to a "constructive program of public service and endeavor," as well as for his "tact and wisdom" in what appeared to be the Footlighters' "crucial and most trying year."

"He has turned this crucial year," the petition continued, "into one of truly vigorous achievement and unparalleled accomplishment because he has placed the Footlighters ahead of his many other pursuits and responsibilities, sparing no time, no trouble, and on expense to build this club."

Good Taste Today

by Emily Post

(Author of "Etiquette," "Children Are People," etc.)

SHOWERS FOR OVERSEAS FRIEND

A question of today comes from the mother of a soldier: "My son is overseas with the Army, his wife is with him and about to become a mother. Some of her friends here wanted to know about giving a shower for her when she is so far away. They'd give her one if she were home. How could such a party be managed and should—they all want to know—the gifts be opened here or sent as they are, individually wrapped but all in one box?"

It is not only a very kind thought but will be most gratefully received. After everyone sees the things they can be put in one box and mailed without difficulty.

Office Name

Dear Mrs. Post: I'm being married this spring and continuing my job. Shall I have the office records changed to Mrs. John Newname or Mrs. Alice Newname? Someone told me my husband's name will have no place in my office. But I also know you've said "Mrs. Mary" is not correct. So what shall it be?

Answer: The tabu "Mrs. Mary" is merely a social one. It is not only proper, but necessary, for a woman who is in business or has a profession. If your husband has no connection with your business, it is most practical to continue calling yourself whatever name you are professionally known by.

Silver For Dessert

Dear Mrs. Post: Where in the table setting should the spoon or fork be placed for the dessert? I'm told that when there is no one waiting on table then all the silver for the entire meal, including coffee, may be put on the table when it is set. I've done this several times, with never very good results. Either people used the dessert forks instead of the main course one, or the spoon for something they should have used a fork for. I think maybe the extra silver only confuses them.

Answer: For this reason I have suggested separating the silver for the dessert by putting this fork and spoon horizontally above the top of the place. The coffee spoon belongs on the saucer of the cup.

How many sheets should the bride-to-be have in her trousseau? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. However, the list of the essential linens and personal clothes needed by the bride-to-be will be found in leaflet E-5. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to her in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Well-Known Writer, Lecturer, to Address Kerhonkson P.-T. A.

In keeping with a policy designed to present timely and informative speakers, the Kerhonkson Parent-Teacher Association will bring Dr. Alvin C. Goddard, renowned writer and lecturer to its March 7 meeting. Dr. Goddard will speak on "The United Nations and One World."

Dr. Goddard, the group feels, is particularly able to discuss world peace and the U.N., as for several years he was executive secretary of the World Peace Commission. He was also a member of the International Relations Commission of the State Department. At present, he is a member of the United Nations Section for Lecture Service and Educational Liaison. Among the many periodicals in which his articles have appeared are the Atlantic Monthly and the New York Times Magazine.

Those who heard Dr. Goddard when he spoke last June 26 at the Kerhonkson High School graduation, will remember him as "an extremely interesting speaker, who knew the facts and presented them in a down-to-earth fashion."

The meeting will be held in the Kerhonkson High School auditorium at 8 p. m. The executive committee of the Kerhonkson P.-T.A. invites all individuals, civic, and fraternal groups to attend.

20th Century Hears Of Father Flanagan And James W. Riley

Using Fulton and Will Ousler's book, "Father Flanagan of Boys' Town," as background material, Mrs. William Soper gave a resume of the life of kindly, generous, sympathetic, and understanding priest at the Monday afternoon meeting of the 20th Century Club, held at the home of Mrs. William Eltinge, 105 St. James street.

Born in Ireland in 1886, Mrs. Soper began, Edward Joseph Flanagan grew up in a religious and rural atmosphere; a thoughtful, sensitive child who loved the broadness of nature. At the age of 18 he graduated with high honors from Summer Hill College in Sligo. Later, when his sister Nellie returned to Ireland from America to visit her parents, she persuaded them to let young Edward go back to America with her to complete his education.

Contracts Disease

But once in New York, Mrs. Soper said, he contracted tuberculosis, and moved to Omaha's healthier climate where his brother Patrick, a priest, lived. When Edward's health improved, he was sent by the bishop to Rome for further study, only to suffer a relapse. Nevertheless his determination remained, and he was ordained into the priesthood in 1912 at the University of Innsbruck, Tyrol.

Meanwhile, the pathetic figures in city slums had always impressed him, the speaker continued, and it was to these underprivileged creatures that he wished to devote his life.

First Project

For his first rehabilitation project, Father Flanagan rented and renovated a dilapidated "Hotel for Lost Men." But as he struggled on, he became convinced "the reconstruction of a man . . . salvaging of the soul . . . was like any other repair job on earth. It had to be begun on time, before decay had eaten too deep, before the clay had hardened into some unreviseable shape. It had to begin when the man was still a boy."

At first, Mrs. Soper explained, there were only five boys assigned to his care by the juvenile court in December, 1917. Steadily increasing, the number had risen to 50 by the end of January. Gradually, savings and contributions made it possible to purchase Overlook Farm, 11 miles from Omaha. Later, in 1922, a Catholic, a Protestant, and two Jews raised $215,000; enough for an adequate five story main building. Through concert engagements the home's famous Boys' Choir gave much publicity to the project, until today it has expanded into a regular incorporated village occupying 900 acres and caring for 1,000 boys aged from six to 16.

Boys' Town Descriptions

Mrs. Soper also described the large auditorium, the swimming pool, and the dormitories. Each student, she said, is placed in one of three general programs: College preparatory, vocational, or farming. The trades school program is considered one of the finest in the nation; a place where boys may learn ceramics, printing, sheet-metal working, baking, carpentering, barbering, tailoring, electrical skills, radio, automotive work, and shoe repairing. Graduates, she said, have little trouble finding work.

Father Flanagan, the speaker concluded, died May 15, 1948, in Germany, where at the request of the Army of the United States he was establishing an organization to rehabilitate war orphans, as he had done earlier in Japan and the Philippines. Boys' Town is now his monument; a tribute to the man who believed "there were no bad boys;" who believed any boy could be saved for himself and the community if he was given the proper understanding, training, food, shelter, security, and love.

Riley's Life

Second speaker of the afternoon, Mrs. Herman Schwenk, then gave an illustrated account of the life and work of James Whitcomb Riley, known more familiarly as the Hoosier poet, and the barefoot boy of Indiana. Judging from his work, Mrs. Schwenk said, the poet, who lived from 1853 to 1916, had a deep love of family life, a home, and children, although he never married. His mother was a heroine, his father a practical, industrious man, but with little seeming sympathy for his son's nature. Failing in arithmetic, the poet left school at an early age, and tried to help in his father's law office. Unhappy with that work he later became a book salesman, a sign painter, and a member of a theatrical troop. Still later, after he began to write verses and songs, he became popular in newspapers and magazines, and on the lecture platform.

The speaker then read some of his poems picturing his love of children, home life, and home folks, coupled with his descriptions of the long, bright summer, and memories of the past.

Popular Poet

Riley's birthday, Mrs. Schwenk explained, has become a state holiday in Indiana, while probably no other poet since Longfellow has been so loved by school children, with the popular reprint of his works showing no sign of slackening. Some of his books have reached the 17th edition.

Contemporary historians of American poetry, the speaker continued, tend to grow uneasy when the Hoosier poet is mentioned, although it has been written that fear of sentiment is merely "fear of giving way to feeling" in people inwardly unsure of themselves. Riley, Mrs. Schwenk explained, was a master of sentiment, and William Phelps has stated that no one need apologize for him. His poetry contains the principle of life, she said, and lives because it deserves to live. Nothing, the speaker felt, can destroy his work, whether it is time, or "the nibbling tooth of criticism."

The next meeting of the 20th Century Club will be held March 12 at Mrs. Schwenk's home, when members will discuss the advisability of sending our troops to Europe.

BYE-BYE BIKINI? — Passing from the beach scene, say Paris fashion forecasters, is the famous bare Bikini. In its place comes "cover-up" beachwear such as the black jersey sheath above. Atharhacton Lodge Entertains Assembly President Greene

Mrs. Ida S. Greene, Rebekah assembly president of the State of New York made her official visitation to Atharhacton Rebekah Lodge of Ulster District No. 1 Saturday. Mrs. Leah W. Jones, district deputy president, presided.

During Mrs. Greene's visitation a banquet was served to 112 members and friends at the Reformed Church of the Comforter hall. Table decorations included jonquils and greens.

Following the banquet the group adjourned to Mechanics' hall, 14 Henry street, for a special meeting in honor of the assembly president. The hall was decorated with winter scenery.

Among the dignitaries present were Assembly Warden Carrie Hazelton of Coeymans; Grand Patriarch Sidney Johnson, of this city; District Deputy Gertrude Bartlett, and part of her staff from Ulster District No. 2; Past Assembly Chaplain Lucille Owens of Utica; Past Assembly Musician Florence Gippard of Saugerties; and Past Assembly Marshall Ethel Jones of this city. Out of town guests from Brooklyn, Canada, Poughkeepsie, and Hunter attended the visitation, as well as large delegations from the following Ulster District No. 1 lodges: Tiskilwa of Phoenicia, Agapae of Bearsville, Queen of the Catskill Mountains of West Saugerties, and Queen Ulster of Saugerties.

Entertainment included a reading by the Saugerties lodge, a song by the Bearsville lodge, several humorous songs by the West Saugerties lodge, and a drill by Atharhacton lodge. Light refreshments were served after the meeting.

Successful Bidder

The Guaranty Trust Co. of New York was the successful bidder at a sale of $211,000 in city bonds conducted yesterday by City Treasurer Oscar A. Goodsell. The rate was 1.20 and the premiums $284.85. Of the total, $97,000 was for street improvement, $42,000 for equipment, $45,000 for the incinerator addition and, $27,000 for sewer work.

SHOWERS FOR OVERSEAS FRIEND

A question of today comes from the mother of a soldier: "My son is overseas with the Army, his wife is with him and about to become a mother. Some of her friends here wanted to know about giving a shower for her when she is so far away. They'd give her one if she were home. How could such a party be managed and should—they all want to know—the gifts be opened here or sent as they are, individually wrapped but all in one box?"

It is not only a very kind thought but will be most gratefully received. After everyone sees the things they can be put in one box and mailed without difficulty.

Office Name

Dear Mrs. Post: I'm being married this spring and continuing my job. Shall I have the office records changed to Mrs. John Newname or Mrs. Alice Newname? Someone told me my husband's name will have no place in my office. But I also know you've said "Mrs. Mary" is not correct. So what shall it be?

Answer: The tabu "Mrs. Mary" is merely a social one. It is not only proper, but necessary, for a woman who is in business or has a profession. If your husband has no connection with your business, it is most practical to continue calling yourself whatever name you are professionally known by.

Silver For Dessert

Dear Mrs. Post: Where in the table setting should the spoon or fork be placed for the dessert? I'm told that when there is no one waiting on table then all the silver for the entire meal, including coffee, may be put on the table when it is set. I've done this several times, with never very good results. Either people used the dessert forks instead of the main course one, or the spoon for something they should have used a fork for. I think maybe the extra silver only confuses them.

Answer: For this reason I have suggested separating the silver for the dessert by putting this fork and spoon horizontally above the top of the place. The coffee spoon belongs on the saucer of the cup.

How many sheets should the bride-to-be have in her trousseau? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. However, the list of the essential linens and personal clothes needed by the bride-to-be will be found in leaflet E-5. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to her in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Well-Known Writer, Lecturer, to Address Kerhonkson P.-T. A.

In keeping with a policy designed to present timely and informative speakers, the Kerhonkson Parent-Teacher Association will bring Dr. Alvin C. Goddard, renowned writer and lecturer to its March 7 meeting. Dr. Goddard will speak on "The United Nations and One World."

Dr. Goddard, the group feels, is particularly able to discuss world peace and the U.N., as for several years he was executive secretary of the World Peace Commission. He was also a member of the International Relations Commission of the State Department. At present, he is a member of the United Nations Section for Lecture Service and Educational Liaison. Among the many periodicals in which his articles have appeared are the Atlantic Monthly and the New York Times Magazine.

Those who heard Dr. Goddard when he spoke last June 26 at the Kerhonkson High School graduation, will remember him as "an extremely interesting speaker, who knew the facts and presented them in a down-to-earth fashion."

The meeting will be held in the Kerhonkson High School auditorium at 8 p. m. The executive committee of the Kerhonkson P.-T.A. invites all individuals, civic, and fraternal groups to attend.

20th Century Hears Of Father Flanagan And James W. Riley

Using Fulton and Will Ousler's book, "Father Flanagan of Boys' Town," as background material, Mrs. William Soper gave a resume of the life of kindly, generous, sympathetic, and understanding priest at the Monday afternoon meeting of the 20th Century Club, held at the home of Mrs. William Eltinge, 105 St. James street.

Born in Ireland in 1886, Mrs. Soper began, Edward Joseph Flanagan grew up in a religious and rural atmosphere; a thoughtful, sensitive child who loved the broadness of nature. At the age of 18 he graduated with high honors from Summer Hill College in Sligo. Later, when his sister Nellie returned to Ireland from America to visit her parents, she persuaded them to let young Edward go back to America with her to complete his education.

Contracts Disease

But once in New York, Mrs. Soper said, he contracted tuberculosis, and moved to Omaha's healthier climate where his brother Patrick, a priest, lived. When Edward's health improved, he was sent by the bishop to Rome for further study, only to suffer a relapse. Nevertheless his determination remained, and he was ordained into the priesthood in 1912 at the University of Innsbruck, Tyrol.

Meanwhile, the pathetic figures in city slums had always impressed him, the speaker continued, and it was to these underprivileged creatures that he wished to devote his life.

First Project

For his first rehabilitation project, Father Flanagan rented and renovated a dilapidated "Hotel for Lost Men." But as he struggled on, he became convinced "the reconstruction of a man . . . salvaging of the soul . . . was like any other repair job on earth. It had to be begun on time, before decay had eaten too deep, before the clay had hardened into some unreviseable shape. It had to begin when the man was still a boy."

Unhappy with that work he later became a book salesman, a sign painter, and a member of a theatrical troop. Still later, after he began to write verses and songs, he became popular in newspapers and magazines, and on the lecture platform.

The speaker then read some of his poems picturing his love of children, home life, and home folks, coupled with his descriptions of the long, bright summer, and memories of the past.

Popular Poet

Riley's birthday, Mrs. Schwenk explained, has become a state holiday in Indiana, while probably no other poet since Longfellow has been so loved by school children, with the popular reprint of his works showing no sign of slackening. Some of his books have reached the 17th edition.

Contemporary historians of American poetry, the speaker continued, tend to grow uneasy when the Hoosier poet is mentioned, although it has been written that fear of sentiment is merely "fear of giving way to feeling" in people inwardly unsure of themselves. Riley, Mrs. Schwenk explained, was a master of sentiment, and William Phelps has stated that no one need apologize for him. His poetry contains the principle of life, she said, and lives because it deserves to live. Nothing, the speaker felt, can destroy his work, whether it is time, or "the nibbling tooth of criticism."

The next meeting of the 20th Century Club will be held March 12 at Mrs. Schwenk's home, when members will discuss the advisability of sending our troops to Europe.

BYE-BYE BIKINI? — Passing from the beach scene, say Paris fashion forecasters, is the famous bare Bikini. In its place comes "cover-up" beachwear such as the black jersey sheath above. Teamed with a long-sleeved jacket and a black raffia wig, the outfit is designed to bring back the milk-and-roses complexion of Gay Nineties. (NEA-Acme Staff Photographer Rene Henry.)

Atharhacton Lodge Entertains Assembly President Greene

Mrs. Ida S. Greene, Rebekah assembly president of the State of New York made her official visitation to Atharhacton Rebekah Lodge of Ulster District No. 1 Saturday. Mrs. Leah W. Jones, district deputy president, presided.

During Mrs. Greene's visitation a banquet was served to 112 members and friends at the Reformed Church of the Comforter hall. Table decorations included jonquils and greens.

Following the banquet the group adjourned to Mechanics' hall, 14 Henry street, for a special meeting in honor of the assembly president. The hall was decorated with winter scenery.

Among the dignitaries present were Assembly Warden Carrie Hazelton of Coeymans; Grand Patriarch Sidney Johnson, of this city; District Deputy Gertrude Bartlett, and part of her staff from Ulster District No. 2; Past Assembly Chaplain Lucille Owens of Utica; Past Assembly Musician Florence Gippard of Saugerties; and Past Assembly Marshall Ethel Jones of this city. Out of town guests from Brooklyn, Canada, Poughkeepsie, and Hunter attended the visitation, as well as large delegations from the following Ulster District No. 1 lodges: Tiskilwa of Phoenicia, Agapae of Bearsville, Queen of the Catskill Mountains of West Saugerties, and Queen Ulster of Saugerties.

Entertainment included a reading by the Saugerties lodge, a song by the Bearsville lodge, several humorous songs by the West Saugerties lodge, and a drill by Atharhacton lodge. Light refreshments were served after the meeting.

Successful Bidder

The Guaranty Trust Co. of New York was the successful bidder at a sale of $211,000 in city bonds conducted yesterday by City Treasurer Oscar A. Goodsell. The rate was 1.20 and the premiums $284.85. Of the total, $97,000 was for street improvement, $42,000 for equipment, $45,000 for the incinerator addition and $27,000 for sewer work.

Esopus Firemen Clip Schulers On Kozlowski's Deuce, 43-42

Yellow Jackets, Accord Also Notch Victories

A spectacular long set shot by Walt Kozlowski, Esopus forward, gave the Esopus Firemen a 43 to 42 victory over Schuler's Inn Wednesday night in the B Division of the Y.M.C.A. Basketball League.

Koziowski arched the long drive from about center court and the ball ripped the cords while never touching the rim.

Kozlowski's Frank Merriwell two-pointer came with the clock showing only seven seconds left in the game.

In other B Division games last night, the Yellow Jackets stung the Violets by 48 to 43 while the Accord Chevies battered Hurley by 65 to 38.

Lead Is Wasted

Esopus opened the final quarter of the game with a seven point bulge, 38 to 31 but the Firemen quickly saw the lead rubbed out as Schulers came in with three quick baskets and a free throw. With three minutes remaining in the game, both clubs were knotted at 39-all.

After about 60 seconds of each team controlling the ball, Bob Berger of the Firemen dropped in a deuce to give them a 41-39 edge. The lead again exchanged hands as "Beaver" McCardle arched in a one-pointer followed by Bill Edwards' deuce to give Schulers a 42-41 lead with 30 seconds left.

The Firemen, taking control of the ball held it until a Schuler player was charged with a foul. Instead of shooting for the foul point, the Firemen elected to take the ball at mid-court. Then Kozlowski came through with his game-winning shot to win the squeaker by 43 to 42.

DeCicco Scores 23

While winning the game, Kozlowski also emerged as top scorer for his club with 13 points. Clark Mains followed with 10. McCardle tossed in 18 for the losers while Houghtaling tallied 10.

Failing to hold a lead in the middle of the fourth quarter, the Violets went down to defeat at the hands of the Yellow Jackets by 48-43. DeCicco hit for 23 for the winners followed by Morrisey with 11. Burris and Dailey were high for the losers with 11 and 10 respectively.

The Accord Chevies retained their hold on seventh place with their 66 to 38 win over Hurley. Three of the winners hit the double figure bracket. Ebert led with 15 while Gaetjen, Mort Gazley and Wustrau followed with 14, 13 and 10 respectively. Sgroi was high for Hurley with 15.

Sooner Prexy Threatens Crackdown On Players Mixed in Betting Jobs

Would Bar All Such Athletes From Sports

Norman, Okla., March 1 (AP)—Dr. George L. Cross, University of Oklahoma president, today promised a rigid crackdown on Sooner athletes caught betting on sporting events.

Dr. Cross threatened to bar the athletes from future university competition after seeing published reports that parlay cards have been displayed in the athletic dormitory and players openly discuss betting both on basketball and football games.

"I don't know to what extent athletes bet on contests," the president said, "but I am going to suggest to Athletic Director Bud Wilkinson that any athlete caught betting on athletic events or using parlay cards be barred from future competition."

Wilkinson was out of town today and could not be reached for comment.

Paper Relates Bets

The Daily Oklahoman said today in a story by Reporter Glenn Wilson that betting among Oklahoma athletes is commonplace.

The newspaper said a prominent Sooner football player distributed parlay cards in the athletic dormitory during the 1950 season. Side bets also have been placed by many players on big games, the paper said.

"Sometimes the side bets are between squad members but on big games—both basketball and football—bets with outsiders also have been placed," the Daily Oklahoman story continued.

"Usually the bets aren't too much, ranging from $5 to $25, although at times someone will bet $100 on an important game.

"The football team of 1948 probably made the most money betting when it upset Missouri at Norman and North Carolina in the Sugar Bowl, entering both games as the underdog."

The newspaper quoted an unnamed athlete as saying betting isn't restricted to Oklahoma athletes "because many college athletes bet on games, including their own."

Cross' crackdown on betting came only a few hours after he officially cleared six Oklahoma basketball players of any connection with the eastern basketball fix scandal.

The president in a statement said there was no evidence a bribe was offered or accepted. He said Salvatore Sollazzo, accused of giving bribes to New York basketball players, apparently only made social overtures to four Oklahoma players.

St. Mary's In Finals

St. Mary's of Kingston has advanced to the finals of the upper New York sectional C.Y.O. basketball tournament and will meet the winner of the Orange and Rockland county eliminations tonight at the North Central High School gym in Newburgh.

The winner of tonight's game will travel to New York for the archdiocese finals.

The competition will be in the 120-pound class.

St. Mary's got off to an early lead to defeat Wappingers Falls, the Dutchess county champions, 23-15, this week at the Lincoln Center gym in Poughkeepsie.

Ronald Crispino was the individual scoring star, as St. Mary's grabbed a 13-4 halftime lead and battled the Wappingers cagers on even terms in the second half.

Crispino's 11 points led both clubs. Donald Baum, Robert Maines and Henry Cragan each scored four for the locals. Cucci's six topped Wappingers.

Army-Navy Game to Be Broadcast Saturday

As the climax to its series of Army basketball broadcasts, which it has presented during the 1950-51 season, WKNY will air the Army-Navy game direct from Annapolis, Md., on Saturday, March 3 at 2:25 p. m., it was announced today by Robert M. Peebles, general manager. He stated that the station was sending Dick McCarthy to Annapolis, home of the Naval Academy, to report the play-by-play.

Sectional interest in Army's basketball club this season has been high, partly because of Ed Weaver's high scoring. Weaver, son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Weaver, 112 Foxhall avenue is a second-year man at West Point.

Sooner Prexy Threatens Crackdown On Players Mixed in Betting Jobs

Would Bar All Such Athletes From Sports

Norman, Okla., March 1 (AP)—Dr. George L. Cross, University of Oklahoma president, today promised a rigid crackdown on Sooner athletes caught betting on sporting events.

Dr. Cross threatened to bar the athletes from future university competition after seeing published reports that parlay cards have been displayed in the athletic dormitory and players openly discuss betting both on basketball and football games.

"I don't know to what extent athletes bet on contests," the president said, "but I am going to suggest to Athletic Director Bud Wilkinson that any athlete caught betting on athletic events or using parlay cards be barred from future competition."

Wilkinson was out of town today and could not be reached for comment.

Paper Relates Bets

The Daily Oklahoman said today in a story by Reporter Glenn Wilson that betting among Oklahoma athletes is commonplace.

The newspaper said a prominent Sooner football player distributed parlay cards in the athletic dormitory during the 1950 season. Side bets also have been placed by many players on big games, the paper said.

"Sometimes the side bets are between squad members but on big games—both basketball and football—bets with outsiders also have been placed," the Daily Oklahoman story continued.

"Usually the bets aren't too much, ranging from $5 to $25, although at times someone will bet $100 on an important game.

"The football team of 1948 probably made the most money betting when it upset Missouri at Norman and North Carolina in the Sugar Bowl, entering both games as the underdog."

The newspaper quoted an unnamed athlete as saying betting isn't restricted to Oklahoma athletes "because many college athletes bet on games, including their own."

Cross' crackdown on betting came only a few hours after he officially cleared six Oklahoma basketball players of any connection with the eastern basketball fix scandal.

The president in a statement said there was no evidence a bribe was offered or accepted. He said Salvatore Sollazzo, accused of giving bribes to New York basketball players, apparently only made social overtures to four Oklahoma players.

St. Mary's In Finals

St. Mary's of Kingston has advanced to the finals of the upper New York sectional C.Y.O. basketball tournament and will meet the winner of the Orange and Rockland county eliminations tonight at the North Central High School gym in Newburgh.

The winner of tonight's game will travel to New York for the archdiocese finals.

The competition will be in the 120-pound class.

St. Mary's got off to an early lead to defeat Wappingers Falls, the Dutchess county champions, 23-15, this week at the Lincoln Center gym in Poughkeepsie.

Ronald Crispino was the individual scoring star, as St. Mary's grabbed a 13-4 halftime lead and battled the Wappingers cagers on even terms in the second half.

Crispino's 11 points led both clubs. Donald Baum, Robert Maines and Henry Cragan each scored four for the locals. Cucci's six topped Wappingers.

Army-Navy Game to Be Broadcast Saturday

As the climax to its series of Army basketball broadcasts, which it has presented during the 1950-51 season, WKNY will air the Army-Navy game direct from Annapolis, Md., on Saturday, March 3 at 2:25 p. m., it was announced today by Robert M. Peebles, general manager. He stated that the station was sending Dick McCarthy to Annapolis, home of the Naval Academy, to report the play-by-play.

Sectional interest in Army's basketball club this season has been high, partly because of Ed Weaver's high scoring. Weaver, son of Mr. and Mrs. John L. Weaver, 112 Foxhall avenue is a second-year man at West Point.

Esopus Firemen Clip Schulers On Kozlowski's Deuce, 43-42

Yellow Jackets, Accord Also Notch Victories

A spectacular long set shot by Walt Kozlowski, Esopus forward, gave the Esopus Firemen a 43 to 42 victory over Schuler's Inn Wednesday night in the B Division of the Y.M.C.A. Basketball League.

Kozlowski arched the long drive from about center court and the ball ripped the cords while never touching the rim.

Kozlowski's Frank Merriwell two-pointer came with the clock showing only seven seconds left in the game.

In other B Division games last night, the Yellow Jackets stung the Violets by 48 to 43 while the Accord Chevies battered Hurley by 66 to 38.

Lead Is Wasted

Esopus opened the final quarter of the game with a seven point bulge, 38 to 31 but the Firemen quickly saw the lead rubbed out as Schulers came in with three quick baskets and a free throw. With three minutes remaining in the game, both clubs were knotted at 39-all.

After about 60 seconds of each team controlling the ball, Bob Berger of the Firemen dropped in a deuce to give them a 41-39 edge. The lead again exchanged hands as "Beaver" McCardle arched in a one-pointer followed by Bill Edwards' deuce to give Schulers a 42-41 lead with 30 seconds left.

The Firemen, taking control of the ball held it until a Schuler player was charged with a foul. Instead of shooting for the foul point, the Firemen elected to take the ball at mid-court. Then Kozlowski came through with his game-winning shot to win the squeaker by 43 to 42.

DeCicco Scores 23

While winning the game, Kozlowski also emerged as top scorer for his club with 13 points. Clark Mains followed with 10. McCardle tossed in 18 for the losers while Houghtaling tallied 10.

Failing to hold a lead in the middle of the fourth quarter, the Violets went down to defeat at the hands of the Yellow Jackets by 48-43. DeCicco hit for 23 for the winners followed by Morrisey with 11. Burris and Dailey were high for the losers with 11 and 10 respectively.

The Accord Chevies retained their hold on seventh place with their 66 to 38 win over Hurley. Three of the winners hit the double figure bracket. Ebert led with 15 while Gaetjen, Mort Gazley and Wustrau followed with 14, 13 and 10 respectively. Sgroi was high for Hurley with 15.

Upsets Feature Opening Games Of C.Y.O. Basketball Tourney

Jake Smith Is High Scorer With 17 Points

St. Colman's of East Kingston and St. Mary's (B) teams copped opening games in the junior division while St. Peter's of Kingston scored an opening night victory in the senior division of the first annual county C.Y.O. basketball tournament Wednesday night at the municipal auditorium.

Both results in the junior division were regarded as upsets by officials of the tournament in reporting scores today.

St. Colman's, a decided underdog, led all the way in registering a 33 to 17 victory over the Immaculate Conception five of Kingston. Frank Tiano of the East Kingston quintet ripped the cords for 11 points to pace his club to victory. J. Turck was high for the losers with 10.

Deadlocked at 12-all at the end of the first half, St. Mary's (B) team came back strong in the second half to notch a 23 to 18 triumph over St. Joseph's of Glasco in the other upset decision.

J. Amato and A. Bouchard hit for six points for the winners while S. Misasi found the range for 12 to lead St. Joseph's.

Smith Hits 17

Led by Jake Smith who swished the cords for 17 points, St. Peter's of Kingston scored an easy 50 to 23 triumph over St. Joseph's of Glasco in the only senior division contest.

Smith flipped in six two-pointers and five foul shots for his 17 point tally.

Frank Sass followed for St. Peter's with 10 markers.

Al Thomas sparked the losers with seven.

Lemon Inks Pact

Cleveland, March 1 (AP)—Bob Lemon signed a Cleveland Indian contract just before the midnight holdout deadline that probably makes him the "highest paid pitcher in baseball." Marsh Samuels, Indian publicity man, said early today the star right hander okayed a figure "above Bob Feller's $50,000 salary." Feller, also a Cleveland pitcher, signed some time ago. General Manager Hank Greenberg announced the signing last night at the Indians' Tucson, Ariz., training base. Lemon agreed to terms via a long distance telephone call to his home at Long Beach, Calif. He will join the Indians today. A Cleveland official put the tag of "highest paid pitcher in baseball" on Lemon.

Bowling

Charlie Grunenwald led a high scoring session of the Central Rec Major wheel at those favorite Railroad avenue "sewers" Wednesday night with a hefty 673 blast.

Grunenwald, rolling on Alleys 7 and 8, fashioned a neat hat trick on a string of 215-213-245 for the 673 triple.

Others in the coveted 600 circle included Randy Kelder with 209-215-622; "Red" Sangi 202-231-611; Joe Amendola 222-200-606; Steve Fassbender 210-210-604; Harry Smith 200-237-604; and H. Myers 203-203-600.

Near-misses included Hod Spaulding with 231-217-599; Ken Joseph 201-207-597; Coke Costello 219-594; and Ken Williams 233-592.

Top pinfall in the Y Federation American League Wednesday night went to Herb Schussler who carved himself a tidy 636 three-timer on a string of 216-184-236.

Bill Hornbeck rolled 545; Herm Osmers 209-544; H. Pine 528; E. Tymeson 518; Frank Roe 217-511 and J. Phalen 511.

Schussler's 636 blast tied the former high triple set by Don Weeks.

Picking up steam along the way, Joe Watzka fire-balled a 572 series to pace the C.Y.O. League at the Bowlodrome planks Wednesday night.

Joe opened with 149, hit 179 in the middle game and topped his night's output with a sizzling 244 singleton.

Johnny Zech rolled 214-563; Joe Fautz 200-559; George Kearney 212-545; J. Sweeney 209-524; and D. Clausi 204-523.

A familiar name to local bowling circles, Marge Jansen found the pocket with consistency to pace the Colonial Women's Gold Division at the Bowlatorium Wednesday night with her 552 blast.

Mrs. Jansen, although not a power bowlerette, pounded out 157-205-190 to complete her 552 score.

Evelyn Gross held down the runnerup slot with 535 while one pin in third place was Rose Schatzel with 534.

Other 500s included Eleanor Singer with 214-526; Ada Markle 210-519; Dot Rawding 510; Pat Pearson, the Ulster Landing representative, 206-509; Evelyn Francis 506; and Doris Wolff 503.

Other notable efforts included Charlotte Lapine 497; Reta Frederick 495; Helen Zaccheo 494; Bertha Schaller 493; Helen Trowbridge 492; and Mary Wyant 491.

Frances Perry nosed out Angeline Brocco by seven pins to grab top honors in the Silver Division with her 468 triple on 142-186-140. Angeline Brocco was runnerup with 155-172-134 for 461.

Dot Geisler rolled 452; Marie Bechtold 441; Sally Kuehn 430.

The top mark in the Pioneer Women's circuit at the Bowlodrome went to Kay Roosa this week on the strength of her 477 series. Kay rolled 162-168-147.

V. Janeczek hit 450; L. Cameron 437; M. Goldstein 435; R. Janeczek 435; J. Carrado 434; and D. LaRocca 432.

Bernie Singer's led the Friendship League by a two-game margin, according to latest official figures furnished by secretary, Miriam Posner. They have a 40-23 record, with Fromer's Petroleum in second place at 38-25.

Upsets Feature Opening Games Of C.Y.O. Basketball Tourney

Jake Smith Is High Scorer With 17 Points

St. Colman's of East Kingston and St. Mary's (B) teams copped opening games in the junior division while St. Peter's of Kingston scored an opening night victory in the senior division of the first annual county C.Y.O. basketball tournament Wednesday night at the municipal auditorium.

Both results in the junior division were regarded as upsets by officials of the tournament in reporting scores today.

St. Colman's, a decided underdog, led all the way in registering a 33 to 17 victory over the Immaculate Conception five of Kingston. Frank Tiano of the East Kingston quintet ripped the cords for 11 points to pace his club to victory. J. Turck was high for the losers with 10.

Deadlocked at 12-all at the end of the first half, St. Mary's (B) team came back strong in the second half to notch a 23 to 18 triumph over St. Joseph's of Glasco in the other upset decision.

J. Amato and A. Bouchard hit for six points for the winners while S. Misasi found the range for 12 to lead St. Joseph's.

Smith Hits 17

Led by Jake Smith who swished the cords for 17 points, St. Peter's of Kingston scored an easy 50 to 23 triumph over St. Joseph's of Glasco in the only senior division contest.

Smith flipped in six two-pointers and five foul shots for his 17 point tally.

Frank Sass followed for St. Peter's with 10 markers.

Al Thomas sparked the losers with seven.

Lemon Inks Pact

Cleveland, March 1 (AP)—Bob Lemon signed a Cleveland Indian contract just before the midnight holdout deadline that probably makes him the "highest paid pitcher in baseball." Marsh Samuels, Indian publicity man, said early today the star right hander okayed a figure "above Bob Feller's $50,000 salary." Feller, also a Cleveland pitcher, signed some time ago. General Manager Hank Greenberg announced the signing last night at the Indians' Tucson, Ariz., training base. Lemon agreed to terms via a long distance telephone call to his home at Long Beach, Calif. He will join the Indians today. A Cleveland official put the tag of "highest paid pitcher in baseball" on Lemon.

Bowling

Charlie Grunenwald led a high scoring session of the Central Rec Major wheel at those favorite Railroad avenue "sewers" Wednesday night with a hefty 673 blast.

Grunenwald, rolling on Alleys 7 and 8, fashioned a neat hat trick on a string of 215-213-245 for the 673 triple.

Others in the coveted 600 circle included Randy Kelder with 209-215-622; "Red" Sangi 202-231-611; Joe Amendola 222-200-606; Steve Fassbender 210-210-604; Harry Smith 200-237-604; and H. Myers 203-203-600.

Near-misses included Hod Spaulding with 231-217-599; Ken Joseph 201-207-597; Coke Costello 219-594; and Ken Williams 233-592.

Top pinfall in the Y Federation American League Wednesday night went to Herb Schussler who carved himself a tidy 636 three-timer on a string of 216-184-236.

Bill Hornbeck rolled 545; Herm Osmers 209-544; H. Pine 528; E. Tymeson 518; Frank Roe 217-511 and J. Phalen 511.

Schussler's 636 blast tied the former high triple set by Don Weeks.

Picking up steam along the way, Joe Watzka fire-balled a 572 series to pace the C.Y.O. League at the Bowlodrome planks Wednesday night.

Joe opened with 149, hit 179 in the middle game and topped his night's output with a sizzling 244 singleton.

Johnny Zeeh rolled 214-563; Joe Fautz 200-559; George Kearney 212-545; J. Sweeney 209-524; and D. Clausi 204-523.

A familiar name to local bowling circles, Marge Jansen found the pocket with consistency to pace the Colonial Women's Gold Division at the Bowlatorium Wednesday night with her 552 blast.

Mrs. Jansen, although not a power bowlerette, pounded out 157-205-190 to complete her 552 score.

Evelyn Gross held down the runnerup slot with 535 while one pin in third place was Rose Schatzel with 534.

Other 500s included Eleanor Singer with 214-526; Ada Markle 210-519; Dot Rawding 510; Pat Pearson, the Ulster Landing representative, 206-509; Evelyn Francis 506; and Doris Wolff 503.

Other notable efforts included Charlotte Lapine 497; Reta Frederick 495; Helen Zaccheo 494; Bertha Schaller 493; Helen Trowbridge 492; and Mary Wyant 491.

Frances Perry nosed out Angeline Brocco by seven pins to grab top honors in the Silver Division with her 468 triple on 142-186-140. Angeline Brocco was runnerup with 155-172-134 for 461.

Dot Geisler rolled 452; Marie Bechtold 441; Sally Kuehn 430.

The top mark in the Pioneer Women's circuit at the Bowlodrome went to Kay Roosa this week on the strength of her 477 series. Kay rolled 162-168-147.

V. Janeczek hit 450; L. Cameron 437; M. Goldstein 435; R. Janeczek 435; J. Carrado 434; and D. LaRocca 432.

Bernie Singer's led the Friendship League by a two-game margin, according to latest official figures furnished by secretary, Miriam Posner. They have a 40-23 record, with Fromer's Petroleum in second place at 38-25.

Upsets Feature Opening Games Of C.Y.O. Basketball Tourney

Jake Smith Is High Scorer With 17 Points

St. Colman's of East Kingston and St. Mary's (B) teams copped opening games in the junior division while St. Peter's of Kingston scored an opening night victory in the senior division of the first annual county C.Y.O. basketball tournament Wednesday night at the municipal auditorium.

Both results in the junior division were regarded as upsets by officials of the tournament in reporting scores today.

St. Colman's, a decided underdog, led all the way in registering a 33 to 17 victory over the Immaculate Conception five of Kingston. Frank Tiano of the East Kingston quintet ripped the cords for 11 points to pace his club to victory. J. Turck was high for the losers with 10.

Deadlocked at 12-all at the end of the first half, St. Mary's (B) team came back strong in the second half to notch a 23 to 18 triumph over St. Joseph's of Glasco in the other upset decision.

J. Amato and A. Bouchard hit for six points for the winners while S. Misasi found the range for 12 to lead St. Joseph's.

Smith Hits 17

Led by Jake Smith who swished the cords for 17 points, St. Peter's of Kingston scored an easy 50 to 23 triumph over St. Joseph's of Glasco in the only senior division contest.

Smith flipped in six two-pointers and five foul shots for his 17 point tally.

Frank Sass followed for St. Peter's with 10 markers.

Al Thomas sparked the losers with seven.

Lemon Inks Pact

Cleveland, March 1 (AP)—Bob Lemon signed a Cleveland Indian contract just before the midnight holdout deadline that probably makes him the "highest paid pitcher in baseball." Marsh Samuels, Indian publicity man, said early today the star right hander okayed a figure "above Bob Feller's $50,000 salary." Feller, also a Cleveland pitcher, signed some time ago. General Manager Hank Greenberg announced the signing last night at the Indians' Tucson, Ariz., training base. Lemon agreed to terms via a long distance telephone call to his home at Long Beach, Calif. He will join the Indians today. A Cleveland official put the tag of "highest paid pitcher in baseball" on Lemon.

Bowling

Charlie Grunenwald led a high scoring session of the Central Rec Major wheel at those favorite Railroad avenue "sewers" Wednesday night with a hefty 673 blast.

Grunenwald, rolling on Alleys 7 and 8, fashioned a neat hat trick on a string of 215-213-245 for the 673 triple.

Others in the coveted 600 circle included Randy Kelder with 209-215-622; "Red" Sangi 202-231-611; Joe Amendola 222-200-606; Steve Fassbender 210-210-604; Harry Smith 200-237-604; and H. Myers 203-203-600.

Near-misses included Hod Spaulding with 231-217-599; Ken Joseph 201-207-597; Coke Costello 219-594; and Ken Williams 233-592.

Top pinfall in the Y Federation American League Wednesday night went to Herb Schussler who carved himself a tidy 636 three-timer on a string of 216-184-236.

Bill Hornbeck rolled 545; Herm Osmers 209-544; H. Pine 528; E. Tymeson 518; Frank Roe 217-511 and J. Phalen 511.

Schussler's 636 blast tied the former high triple set by Don Weeks.

Picking up steam along the way, Joe Watzka fire-balled a 572 series to pace the C.Y.O. League at the Bowlodrome planks Wednesday night.

Joe opened with 149, hit 179 in the middle game and topped his night's output with a sizzling 244 singleton.

Johnny Zeeh rolled 214-563; Joe Fautz 200-559; George Kearney 212-545; J. Sweeney 209-524; and D. Clausi 204-523.

A familiar name to local bowling circles, Marge Jansen found the pocket with consistency to pace the Colonial Women's Gold Division at the Bowlatorium Wednesday night with her 552 blast.

Mrs. Jansen, although not a power bowlerette, pounded out 157-205-190 to complete her 552 score.

Evelyn Gross held down the runnerup slot with 535 while one pin in third place was Rose Schatzel with 534.

Other 500s included Eleanor Singer with 214-526; Ada Markle 210-519; Dot Rawding 510; Pat Pearson, the Ulster Landing representative, 206-509; Evelyn Francis 506; and Doris Wolff 503.

Other notable efforts included Charlotte Lapine 497; Reta Frederick 495; Helen Zaccheo 494; Bertha Schaller 493; Helen Trowbridge 492; and Mary Wyant 491.

Dot Geisler rolled 452; Marie Bechtold 441; Sally Kuehn 430.

V. Janeczek hit 450; L. Cameron 437; M. Goldstein 435; R. Janeczek 435; J. Carrado 434; and D. LaRocca 432.

Bernie Singer's led the Friendship League by a two-game margin, according to latest official figures furnished by secretary, Miriam Posner. They have a 40-23 record, with Fromer's Petroleum in second place at 38-25.

Training Camp News in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Still Asks More

Sarasota, Fla., March 1 (AP)—All of the Boston Red Sox veterans except outfielder Dom DiMaggio, will be available today when Manager Steve O'Neill gives his non-batterymen their first spring workout.

DiMaggio is the only Red Socker unsigned, although he has been here for several days. He said he was ready to do so but intimated he wanted to talk with General Manager Joe Cronin, due here today, before actually committing himself for 1951.

Bucs Hear Rickey

San Bernardino, March 1 (AP)—General Manager Branch Rickey will greet the 1951 Pittsburgh Pirate aggregation today with a lecture — "why finish in last place?"

Rickey's program calls for a four-day course and it excludes newspapermen.

Manager Bill Meyer's opening day player workout was restricted to a few turns around the park to limber up. Photographers and newspapermen got the first call over the training routine.

Billy Has Designs

Phoenix, March 1 (AP) — Third sacker Billy Johnson plans to hold down the hot corner for the World Champion New York Yankees all by himself this season. Looking slimmer than in previous years he plans to demonstrate to Manager Casey Stengel that he can hit both right and lefthand pitching.

Reese in Good Shape

Vero Beach, Fla., March 1 (AP)—Shortstop Pee Wee Reese who got off to a poor start with the Brooklyn Dodgers a year ago, has reported in good shape. He is confident he will get away much better this season.

New Hearn Parley

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 1 (AP) — Jim Hearn, the holdout pitcher of the New York Giants, is expected to huddle again with President Horace Stoneham over his salary. Hearn, picked up on waivers last year from the St. Louis Cardinals, is reported seeking $20,000, 5,000 more than the Giants have offered.

Army Goes Musical

Male horseflies feed on plants, not horses.

Flyweight Champ Is Impressive in Golden Glove Show

New York, March 1 (AP)—The flyweight division hasn't enjoyed popularity in the United States and prize ring since Midget Wolgast and Small Montana were bowling over the little guys back in the nickel-hamburger days of the early '30s.

But a pocket-size youngster who might be capable of regenerating interest in the division is Sharkey Lewis a sinewy little porter from Pittsburgh.

Lewis won his second straight Eastern Golden Gloves Championship last night at Madison Square Garden, leaving a string of unconscious or nearly unconscious victims in his wake.

The tiny Negro with the dynamite-encased knuckles zoomed through the 112-pound division on a wave of knockouts, three altogether. He was the only competitor in the tournament of champions to store every foe away before schedule.

Now 21, the Pittsburgh slasher is ripe for pro ranks, if he chooses to enter a class that has been a notoriously poor money-maker.

Pound for pound, he was the most impressive of the gladiators from nearly a dozen states paraded before the eyes of 6,457 fans in the gloves semi-finals and finals.

Set for Western Champs

He'll get his big chance against the western champ from Chicago in the inter-city bouts at the Garden March 19.

In the semifinals Lewis stopped Guido Capri of Charlotte in 1:50 of the second round. In the finals he knocked out Puerto Rico's Prudencio Castro in 2:55 of the second.

Young Lewis was one of two defending champions crowned. The other was machinist Frank Ryff, New York featherweight, who outpointed rangy Tommy Maddox of Buffalo, N. Y., in an unpopular decision.

Other winners were:

118 pounds—Lou Perez, Hempstead, N. Y., air plant riveter.

135 pounds—Juan Curet, Puerto Rico electrician.

147 pounds—Randolph Sandy, New York vocational student.

160 pounds—Floyd Patterson, New York student.

175 pounds—Eldredge Thompson, marine corporal representing Washington, D. C.

LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, pursuant to Section 109, Article 6 of the Public Health Law, that public hearings will be held at the following specified places and times, to consider proposals for the official classification of and assignment of standards of quality and purity to all surface waters contained within the drainage areas tributary to Rondout Creek and Wallkill River within the State of New York, except the waters which are tributary to Rondout Creek above the Lackawack Dam at Lackawack, New York.

The aforesaid waters sought to be classified and for which standards of quality and purity are sought to be adopted either border upon or flow through the following municipalities:

County of Ulster, County of Orange, County of Sullivan;

City of Kingston; City of Middletown;

Towns of Ulster, Rosendale, Esopus, Marbletown, Hurley, Olive, Denning, Rochester, Wawarsing, Gardiner, Shawangunk, Crawford, Wallkill, Mamakating, Fallsburg, Montgomery, Neversink, Mount Hope, Wawayanda, Greenville, Minisink, Hamptonburg, Goshen, Chester, Warwick, New Paltz, Plattekill, Newburgh, New Windsor, Lloyd and Thompson.

Said hearings will be held as follows:

Kingston, N. Y. 10 A. M. Thursday, March 22, 1951 — Common Council Chambers, City Hall.

Middletown, N. Y. 10 A. M. Friday, March 30, 1951—Auditorium, Liberty Street Grade School, Liberty Street and Wickham Avenue.

The hearing at Kingston will be directed primarily to consideration of waters tributary to Rondout Creek. The hearing at Middletown will be directed primarily to consideration of waters tributary to Wallkill River.

Copies of the report on survey of waters within the aforesaid drainage basin which will form the basis for these hearings have been or will be distributed in advance of dates of hearings to Chairmen of County Boards of Supervisors of the aforementioned counties, to Mayors of the aforementioned cities and villages and to Supervisors of the aforementioned towns and may be examined in their offices.

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. FIANO

• Now Is the Time:

Since 1947 we've heard the butcher, the baker and the candlestick maker extolling the praises of the Canadian-American Baseball League.

On the streets, in the bowling alleys, in the barber shops and the cafe society salons, there has been a universal chant: "That's the league Kingston should be in . . . the Canadian-American League. It's solid, one of the best in the country, operated by reputable, established people. Kingston fans would go for that league."

Five years later and several thousand dollars wiser, the community finally has Can-Am baseball. It's going to open up right in our own backyard, Tuesday, May 1.

You hear much talk about the "$15,000 nut" the "Kingston Baseball Club"—remember the name—has to crack before the 1951 campaign can get under way on a sound, financial basis.

Is $15,000 an exorbitant sum? Of course not, if the community gets behind a project. If it proves successful, Kingston wouldn't be the first town in America to have operated a professional sports promotion on a co-operative basis.

Ever hear of Green Bay, Wisconsin? The midwestern town has a population of about 50,000, yet for the past decade has supported National League professional football in competition against Goliaths like New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston, Washington and others.

When the average American community makes up its mind to do something, it seldom flunks. Dave Popick's Committee of Ten has carved out a big job for itself, but we feel that, with the proper approach, they can raise the $15,000 before the season opens. If we are to survive in the Can-Am League the money must be raised sooner or later. We have a feeling Kingston will support the Can-Am League. When they see how it operates in contrast to the shoestring Colonial circuit, the adventures of 1948-49-50 will seem like a nightmare.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

Mr. and Mrs. George Flemings and Mrs. and Mrs. E. L. Davey deep-sea fishing off Daytona Beach. . . . One thing can be said in favor of that new golf club gadget that gives you seven-clubs-in-one for $44.50. It has an added time-saving device for the temperamental duffer. When he lobs one into the lake, it's not necessary to break up a whole set of clubs. One whack across the knee and he's out of business. Such outbursts will be rare this season, however. . . . Paul Taigo of Westchester has replaced Walter Thiel as professional at the Catskill Country Club. . . . Alex Gerlak and Tommy Danaher returning to their respective posts at Twaalfskill and Wiltwyck. . . . An unidentified correspondent sends along a copy of the Miami Herald fish and game section. Do you know what's big stuff down there? Shad fishing with rod and reel! Most people think of shad as strictly a commercial fisherman's catch. But did you know that rod and reel anglers have been finding shad a sport fish for years? At least since 1922 in Florida waters.

A communication inquires why the Smith Avenue Storage scores in the IBM Polio Sweepstakes were not published. Mary Bonacci won a $5 award for a high single game in the same sweeps. Here's a bowling ditty that every team captain and secretary can memorize to good advantage: "Don't let them know when your bowling is bad; Always play up the skill that you've had." . . . How about Jessie Burnett smashing 214 and 553 in her first venture in match game competition. Cecil Heacox, State Conservation Department biologist, who has made frequent appearances at local fish and game functions, is the 1950 winner of the $50 "unusual accomplishment award" offered annually by the Louis A. Wehle Fishing Contest of Rochester. Heacox was cited for outstanding contributions to conservation during the year 1950.

• Information Department:

"Smith Avenue was not last year's city champions. They were the winners of the Colonial Women's League title. Safford and Scudder won the city tournament and the Rowe Shoe Store team this year is the same lineup as Safford and Scudder last year. Incidentally, Safford and Scudder won the city tournament twice in a row and the year before Reinas won the tournament, making three times in a row that the team of which I was captain won the city tournament. . . . CL."

Al Widmar, 1950's most stubborn holdout, was the first Brownie to sign his contract this season. He must have realized that holding out on the Browns is a pretty futile way to spend a spring.

WHITFIELD

Whitfield, March 1—Private First Class Ronald D. Barley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Severyn J. Barley of Alexandria, Va., has finished training at Parris Island, S. C., with the U. S. Marine Corps and is now stationed at Camp Le-Jeuene, N. C. He enlisted in the Marine Corps in November, 1950. He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt Barley of this place.

Callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wood Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Wood of Shrub Oak and Mr. and Mrs. Warren Mowle and daughter, Betty of Bloomington.

Mr. and Mrs. John Capozzi spent Tuesday in Albany.

Miss Violet Barley of Kingston called at the home of Mrs. Ethel Gillispie Saturday afternoon.

Sandra Lee Kelder spent the week-end with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur G. Davis.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles McGuffy entertained Miss Ethel Gillispie and son, Ned at dinner Sunday.

E. J. Ross 35 Years With Central Hudson

Edward J. Ross of 150 Broadway, a serviceman for the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation, was honored today for 35 years' service to the utility company.

At a ceremony at which he presented Ross with an emblem, President Ernest R. Acker of the Central Hudson System said:

"On this anniversary it is a privilege to testify to your excellent record of loyal and dependable service and to express my personal appreciation of the contribution which you have made to the successful operation of the company's Kingston district.

"This is a particular pleasure because of the personal contact which I had with you during the period of my assignment in Kingston when you and the other members of the Kingston organization gave me such whole-hearted support. Throughout the period of your employment you have, through your ability, perseverance, cooperation and courtesy, won the respect and affection of all of your associates."

Training Camp News in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Still Asks More

Sarasota, Fla., March 1 (AP)—All of the Boston Red Sox veterans except outfielder Dom DiMaggio, will be available today when Manager Steve O'Neill gives his non-batterymen their first spring workout.

DiMaggio is the only Red Socker unsigned, although he has been here for several days. He said he was ready to do so but intimated he wanted to talk with General Manager Joe Cronin, due here today, before actually committing himself for 1951.

Bucs Hear Rickey

San Bernardino, March 1 (AP)—General Manager Branch Rickey will greet the 1951 Pittsburgh Pirate aggregation today with a lecture — "why finish in last place?"

Rickey's program calls for a four-day course and it excludes newspapermen.

Manager Bill Meyer's opening day player workout was restricted to a few turns around the park to limber up. Photographers and newspapermen got the first call over the training routine.

Billy Has Designs

Phoenix, March 1 (AP) — Third sacker Billy Johnson plans to hold down the hot corner for the World Champion New York Yankees all by himself this season. Looking slimmer than in previous years he plans to demonstrate to Manager Casey Stengel that he can hit both right and lefthand pitching.

Reese in Good Shape

Vero Beach, Fla., March 1 (AP)—Shortstop Pee Wee Reese who got off to a poor start with the Brooklyn Dodgers a year ago, has reported in good shape. He is confident he will get away much better this season.

New Hearn Parley

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 1 (AP) — Jim Hearn, the holdout pitcher of the New York Giants, is expected to huddle again with President Horace Stoneham over his salary. Hearn, picked up on waivers last year from the St. Louis Cardinals, is reported seeking $20,000, 5,000 more than the Giants have offered.

LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, pursuant to Section 109, Article 6 of the Public Health Law, that public hearings will be held at the following specified places and times, to consider proposals for the official classification of and assignment of standards of quality and purity to all surface waters contained within the drainage areas tributary to Rondout Creek and Wallkill River within the State of New York, except the waters which are tributary to Rondout Creek above the Lackawack Dam at Lackawack, New York.

The aforesaid waters sought to be classified and for which standards of quality and purity are sought to be adopted either border upon or flow through the following municipalities:

County of Ulster, County of Orange, County of Sullivan:

City of Kingston; City of Middletown;

Towns of Ulster, Rosendale, Esopus, Marbletown, Hurley, Olive, Denning, Rochester, Wawarsing, Gardiner, Shawangunk, Crawford, Wallkill, Mamakating, Fallsburg, Montgomery, Neversink, Mount Hope, Wawayanda, Greenville, Minisink, Hamptonburg, Goshen, Chester, Warwick, New Paltz, Plattekill, Newburgh, New Windsor, Lloyd and Thompson.

Said hearings will be held as follows:

Kingston, N. Y. 10 A. M. Thursday, March 22, 1951 — Common Council Chambers, City Hall.

Middletown, N. Y. 10 A. M. Friday, March 30, 1951—Auditorium, Liberty Street Grade School, Liberty Street and Wickham Avenue.

The hearing at Kingston will be directed primarily to consideration of waters tributary to Rondout Creek. The hearing at Middletown will be directed primarily to consideration of waters tributary to Wallkill River.

Copies of the report on survey of waters within the aforesaid drainage basin which will form the basis for these hearings have been or will be distributed in advance of dates of hearings to Chairmen of County Boards of Supervisors of the aforementioned counties, to Mayors of the aforementioned cities and villages and to Supervisors of the aforementioned towns and may be examined in their offices.

Flyweight Champ Is Impressive in Golden Glove Show

New York, March 1 (AP)—The flyweight division hasn't enjoyed popularity in the United States and prize ring since Midget Wolgast and Small Montana were bowling over the little guys back in the nickel-hamburger days of the early '30s.

But a pocket-size youngster who might be capable of regenerating interest in the division is Sharkey Lewis a sinewy little porter from Pittsburgh.

Lewis won his second straight Eastern Golden Gloves Championship last night at Madison Square Garden, leaving a string of unconscious or nearly unconscious victims in his wake.

The tiny Negro with the dynamite-encased knuckles zoomed through the 112-pound division on a wave of knockouts, three altogether. He was the only competitor in the tournament of champions to store every foe away before schedule.

Now 21, the Pittsburgh slasher is ripe for pro ranks, if he chooses to enter a class that has been a notoriously poor money-maker.

Pound for pound, he was the most impressive of the gladiators from nearly a dozen states paraded before the eyes of 6,457 fans in the gloves semi-finals and finals.

Set for Western Champs

He'll get his big chance against the western champ from Chicago in the inter-city bouts at the Garden March 19.

In the semifinals Lewis stopped Guido Capri of Charlotte in 1:50 of the second round. In the finals he knocked out Puerto Rico's Prudencio Castro in 2:55 of the second.

Young Lewis was one of two defending champions crowned. The other was machinist Frank Ryff, New York featherweight, who outpointed rangy Tommy Maddox of Buffalo, N. Y., in an unpopular decision.

The heavyweights gave a good show when Mike Maye of New York, his features bloody, fought back from near defeat to stop Don Lee, a big southpaw sailor from Lowell, Mass., in 53 seconds of the third round. Maye is a roofer by trade.

Other winners were:

118 pounds—Lou Perez, Hempstead, N. Y., air plant riveter.

135 pounds—Juan Curet, Puerto Rico electrician.

147 pounds—Randolph Sandy, New York vocational student.

160 pounds—Floyd Patterson, New York student.

175 pounds—Eldredge Thompson, marine corporal representing Washington, D. C.

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. FIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

• Now Is the Time:

Since 1947 we've heard the butcher, the baker and the candlestick maker extolling the praises of the Canadian-American Baseball League.

On the streets, in the bowling alleys, in the barber shops and the cafe society salons, there has been a universal chant: "That's the league Kingston should be in . . . the Canadian-American League. It's solid, one of the best in the country, operated by reputable, established people. Kingston fans would go for that league."

Five years later and several thousand dollars wiser, the community finally has Can-Am baseball. It's going to open up right in our own backyard, Tuesday, May 1.

You hear much talk about the "$15,000 nut" the "Kingston Baseball Club"—remember the name—has to crack before the 1951 campaign can get under way on a sound, financial basis.

Is $15,000 an exorbitant sum? Of course not, if the community gets behind a project. If it proves successful, Kingston wouldn't be the first town in America to have operated a professional sports promotion on a co-operative basis.

Ever hear of Green Bay, Wisconsin? The midwestern town has a population of about 50,000, yet for the past decade has supported National League professional football in competition against Goliaths like New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston, Washington and others.

When the average American community makes up its mind to do something, it seldom flunks. Dave Popick's Committee of Ten has carved out a big job for itself, but we feel that, with the proper approach, they can raise the $15,000 before the season opens. If we are to survive in the Can-Am League the money must be raised sooner or later. We have a feeling Kingston will support the Can-Am League. When they see how it operates in contrast to the shoestring Colonial circuit, the adventures of 1948-49-50 will seem like a nightmare.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

Mr. and Mrs. George Flemings and Mrs. and Mrs. E. L. Davey deep-sea fishing off Daytona Beach. . . . One thing can be said in favor of that new golf club gadget that gives you seven-clubs-in-one for $44.50. It has an added time-saving device for the temperamental duffer. When he lobs one into the lake, it's not necessary to break up a whole set of clubs. One whack across the knee and he's out of business. Such outbursts will be rare this season, however. . . . Paul Taigo of Westchester has replaced Walter Thiel as professional at the Catskill Country Club. . . . Alex Gerlak and Tommy Danaher returning to their respective posts at Twaalfskill and Wiltwyck. . . . An unidentified correspondent sends along a copy of the Miami Herald fish and game section. Do you know what's big stuff down there? Shad fishing with rod and reel! Most people think of shad as strictly a commercial fisherman's catch. But did you know that rod and reel anglers have been finding shad a sport fish for years? At least since 1922 in Florida waters.

A communication inquires why the Smith Avenue Storage scores in the IBM Polio Sweepstakes were not published. Mary Bonacci won a $5 award for a high single game in the same sweeps. Here's a bowling ditty that every team captain and secretary can memorize to good advantage: "Don't let them know when your bowling is bad; Always play up the skill that you've had." . . . How about Jessie Burnett smashing 214 and 553 in her first venture in match game competition. Cecil Heacox, State Conservation Department biologist, who has made frequent appearances at local fish and game functions, is the 1950 winner of the $50 "unusual accomplishment award" offered annually by the Louis A. Wehle Fishing Contest of Rochester. Heacox was cited for outstanding contributions to conservation during the year 1950.

• Information Department:

"Smith Avenue was not last year's city champions. They were the winners of the Colonial Women's League title. Safford and Scudder won the city tournament and the Rowe Shoe Store team this year is the same lineup as Safford and Scudder last year. Incidentally, Safford and Scudder won the city tournament twice in a row and the year before Reinas won the tournament, making three times in a row that the team of which I was captain won the city tournament. . . . CL."

Al Widmar, 1950's most stubborn holdout, was the first Brownie to sign his contract this season. He must have realized that holding out on the Browns is a pretty futile way to spend a spring.

WHITFIELD

Whitfield, March 1—Private First Class Ronald D. Barley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Severyn J. Barley of Alexandria, Va., has finished training at Parris Island, S. C., with the U. S. Marine Corps and is now stationed at Camp Le-Jeuene, N. C. He enlisted in the Marine Corps in November, 1950. He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt Barley of this place.

Callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wood Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Wood of Shrub Oak and Mr. and Mrs. Warren Mowle and daughter, Betty of Bloomington.

Mr. and Mrs. John Capozzi spent Tuesday in Albany.

Miss Violet Barley of Kingston called at the home of Mrs. Ethel Gillispie Saturday afternoon.

Sandra Lee Kelder spent the week-end with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur G. Davis.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles McGuffy entertained Miss Ethel Gillispie and son, Ned at dinner Sunday.

E. J. Ross 35 Years With Central Hudson

Edward J. Ross of 150 Broadway, a serviceman for the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation, was honored today for 35 years' service to the utility company.

At a ceremony at which he presented Ross with an emblem, President Ernest R. Acker of the Central Hudson System said:

"On this anniversary it is a privilege to testify to your excellent record of loyal and dependable service and to express my personal appreciation of the contribution which you have made to the successful operation of the company's Kingston district.

"This is a particular pleasure because of the personal contact which I had with you during the period of my assignment in Kingston when you and the other members of the Kingston organization gave me such whole-hearted support. Throughout the period of your employment you have, through your ability, perseverance, cooperation and courtesy, won the respect and affection of all of your associates."

Training Camp News in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Still Asks More

Sarasota, Fla., March 1 (AP)—All of the Boston Red Sox veterans except outfielder Dom DiMaggio, will be available today when Manager Steve O'Neill gives his non-batterymen their first spring workout.

DiMaggio is the only Red Socker unsigned, although he has been here for several days. He said he was ready to do so but intimated he wanted to talk with General Manager Joe Cronin, due here today, before actually committing himself for 1951.

Bucs Hear Rickey

San Bernardino, March 1 (AP)—General Manager Branch Rickey will greet the 1951 Pittsburgh Pirate aggregation today with a lecture — "why finish in last place?"

Rickey's program calls for a four-day course and it excludes newspapermen.

Manager Bill Meyer's opening day player workout was restricted to a few turns around the park to limber up. Photographers and newspapermen got the first call over the training routine.

Billy Has Designs

Phoenix, March 1 (AP) — Third sacker Billy Johnson plans to hold down the hot corner for the World Champion New York Yankees all by himself this season. Looking slimmer than in previous years he plans to demonstrate to Manager Casey Stengel that he can hit both right and lefthand pitching.

Reese in Good Shape

Vero Beach, Fla., March 1 (AP)—Shortstop Pee Wee Reese who got off to a poor start with the Brooklyn Dodgers a year ago, has reported in good shape. He is confident he will get away much better this season.

New Hearn Parley

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 1 (AP) — Jim Hearn, the holdout pitcher of the New York Giants, is expected to huddle again with President Horace Stoneham over his salary. Hearn, picked up on waivers last year from the St. Louis Cardinals, is reported seeking $20,000, 5,000 more than the Giants have offered.

Army Goes Musical

Prague (AP)—A contest for literary and musical works with military themes is being held in the Czechoslovak army.

Flyweight Champ Is Impressive in Golden Glove Show

New York, March 1 (AP)—The flyweight division hasn't enjoyed popularity in the United States and prize ring since Midget Wolgast and Small Montana were bowling over the little guys back in the nickel-hamburger days of the early '30s.

But a pocket-size youngster who might be capable of regenerating interest in the division is Sharkey Lewis a sinewy little porter from Pittsburgh.

Lewis won his second straight Eastern Golden Gloves Championship last night at Madison Square Garden, leaving a string of unconscious or nearly unconscious victims in his wake.

The tiny Negro with the dynamite-encased knuckles zoomed through the 112-pound division on a wave of knockouts, three altogether. He was the only competitor in the tournament of champions to store every foe away before schedule.

Now 21, the Pittsburgh slasher is ripe for pro ranks, if he chooses to enter a class that has been a notoriously poor money-maker.

Pound for pound, he was the most impressive of the gladiators from nearly a dozen states paraded before the eyes of 6,457 fans in the gloves semi-finals and finals.

Set for Western Champs

He'll get his big chance against the western champ from Chicago in the inter-city bouts at the Garden March 19.

In the semifinals Lewis stopped Guido Capri of Charlotte in 1:50 of the second round. In the finals he knocked out Puerto Rico's Prudencio Castro in 2:55 of the second.

Young Lewis was one of two defending champions crowned. The other was machinist Frank Ryff, New York featherweight, who outpointed rangy Tommy Maddox of Buffalo, N. Y., in an unpopular decision.

The heavyweights gave a good show when Mike Maye of New York, his features bloody, fought back from near defeat to stop Don Lee, a big southpaw sailor from Lowell, Mass., in 53 seconds of the third round. Maye is a roofer by trade.

Other winners were:

118 pounds—Lou Perez, Hempstead, N. Y., air plant riveter.

135 pounds—Juan Curet, Puerto Rico electrician.

147 pounds—Randolph Sandy, New York vocational student.

160 pounds—Floyd Patterson, New York student.

175 pounds—Eldredge Thompson, marine corporal representing Washington, D. C.

LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, pursuant to Section 109, Article 6 of the Public Health Law, that public hearings will be held at the following specified places and times, to consider proposals for the official classification of and assignment of standards of quality and purity to all surface waters contained within the drainage areas tributary to Rondout Creek and Wallkill River within the State of New York, except the waters which are tributary to Rondout Creek above the Lackawack Dam at Lackawack, New York.

The aforesaid waters sought to be classified and for which standards of quality and purity are sought to be adopted either border upon or flow through the following municipalities:

County of Ulster, County of Orange, County of Sullivan:

City of Kingston; City of Middletown;

Towns of Ulster, Rosendale, Esopus, Marbletown, Hurley, Olive, Denning, Rochester, Wawarsing, Gardiner, Shawangunk, Crawford, Wallkill, Marmakating, Fallsburg, Montgomery, Neversink, Mount Hope, Wawayanda, Greenville, Minisink, Hamptonburg, Goshen, Chester, Warwick, New Paltz, Plattekill, Newburgh, New Windsor, Lloyd and Thompson.

Said hearings will be held as follows:

Kingston, N. Y. 10 A. M. Thursday, March 22, 1951 — Common Council Chambers, City Hall.

Middletown, N. Y. 10 A. M. Friday, March 30, 1951—Auditorium, Liberty Street Grade School, Liberty Street and Wickham Avenue.

The hearing at Kingston will be directed primarily to consideration of waters tributary to Rondout Creek. The hearing at Middletown will be directed primarily to consideration of waters tributary to Wallkill River.

Copies of the report on survey of waters within the aforesaid drainage basin which will form the basis for these hearings have been or will be distributed in advance of dates of hearings to Chairmen of County Boards of Supervisors of the aforementioned counties, to Mayors of the aforementioned cities and villages and to Supervisors of the aforementioned towns and may be examined in their offices.

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

• Now Is the Time:

Since 1947 we've heard the butcher, the baker and the candlestick maker extolling the praises of the Canadian-American Baseball League.

On the streets, in the bowling alleys, in the barber shops and the cafe society salons, there has been a universal chant: "That's the league Kingston should be in . . . the Canadian-American League. It's solid, one of the best in the country, operated by reputable, established people. Kingston fans would go for that league."

Five years later and several thousand dollars wiser, the community finally has Can-Am baseball. It's going to open up right in our own backyard, Tuesday, May 1.

You hear much talk about the "$15,000 nut" the "Kingston Baseball Club"—remember the name—has to crack before the 1951 campaign can get under way on a sound, financial basis.

Is $15,000 an exorbitant sum? Of course not, if the community gets behind a project. If it proves successful, Kingston wouldn't be the first town in America to have operated a professional sports promotion on a co-operative basis.

Ever hear of Green Bay, Wisconsin? The midwestern town has a population of about 50,000, yet for the past decade has supported National League professional football in competition against Goliaths like New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston, Washington and others.

When the average American community makes up its mind to do something, it seldom flunks. Dave Popick's Committee of Ten has carved out a big job for itself, but we feel that, with the proper approach, they can raise the $15,000 before the season opens. If we are to survive in the Can-Am League the money must be raised sooner or later. We have a feeling Kingston will support the Can-Am League. When they see how it operates in contrast to the shoestring Colonial circuit, the adventures of 1948-49-50 will seem like a nightmare.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

Mr. and Mrs. George Flemings and Mrs. and Mrs. E. L. Davey deep-sea fishing off Daytona Beach. . . . One thing can be said in favor of that new golf club gadget that gives you seven-clubs-in-one for $44.50. It has an added time-saving device for the temperamental duffer. When he lobs one into the lake, it's not necessary to break up a whole set of clubs. One whack across the knee and he's out of business. Such outbursts will be rare this season, however. . . . Paul Taigo of Westchester has replaced Walter Thiel as professional at the Catskill Country Club. . . . Alex Gerlak and Tommy Danaher returning to their respective posts at Twaalfskill and Wiltwyck. . . . An unidentified correspondent sends along a copy of the Miami Herald fish and game section. Do you know what's big stuff down there? Shad fishing with rod and reel! Most people think of shad as strictly a commercial fisherman's catch. But did you know that rod and reel anglers have been finding shad a sport fish for years? At least since 1922 in Florida waters.

A communication inquires why the Smith Avenue Storage scores in the IBM Polio Sweepstakes were not published. Mary Bonacci won a $5 award for a high single game in the same sweeps. Here's a bowling ditty that every team captain and secretary can memorize to good advantage: "Don't let them know when your bowling is bad; Always play up the skill that you've had." . . . How about Jessie Burnett smashing 214 and 553 in her first venture in match game competition. Cecil Heacox, State Conservation Department biologist, who has made frequent appearances at local fish and game functions, is the 1950 winner of the $50 "unusual accomplishment award" offered annually by the Louis A. Wehle Fishing Contest of Rochester. Heacox was cited for outstanding contributions to conservation during the year 1950.

• Information Department:

"Smith Avenue was not last year's city champions. They were the winners of the Colonial Women's League title. Safford and Scudder won the city tournament and the Rowe Shoe Store team this year is the same lineup as Safford and Scudder last year. Incidentally, Safford and Scudder won the city tournament twice in a row and the year before Reinas won the tournament, making three times in a row that the team of which I was captain won the city tournament. . . . CL."

Al Widmar, 1950's most stubborn holdout, was the first Brownie to sign his contract this season. He must have realized that holding out on the Browns is a pretty futile way to spend a spring.

WHITFIELD

Whitfield, March 1—Private First Class Ronald D. Barley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Severyn J. Barley of Alexandria, Va., has finished training at Parris Island, S. C., with the U. S. Marine Corps and is now stationed at Camp LeJeune, N. C. He enlisted in the Marine Corps in November, 1950. He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt Barley of this place.

Callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wood Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Wood of Shrub Oak and Mr. and Mrs. Warren Mowle and daughter, Betty of Bloomington.

Mr. and Mrs. John Capozzi spent Tuesday in Albany.

Miss Violet Barley of Kingston called at the home of Mrs. Ethel Gillispie Saturday afternoon.

Sandra Lee Kelder spent the week-end with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur G. Davis.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles McGuffy entertained Miss Ethel Gillispie and son, Ned at dinner Sunday.

E. J. Ross 35 Years With Central Hudson

Edward J. Ross of 150 Broadway, a serviceman for the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation, was honored today for 35 years' service to the utility company.

At a ceremony at which he presented Ross with an emblem, President Ernest R. Acker of the Central Hudson System said:

"On this anniversary it is a privilege to testify to your excellent record of loyal and dependable service and to express my personal appreciation of the contribution which you have made to the successful operation of the company's Kingston district.

"This is a particular pleasure because of the personal contact which I had with you during the period of my assignment in Kingston when you and the other members of the Kingston organization gave me such whole-hearted support. Throughout the period of your employment you have, through your ability, perseverance, cooperation and courtesy, won the respect and affection of all of your associates."

Patient Declares Stay in Hospital Made Comfortable

A woman patient leaving the Kingston Hospital a day or two ago said, "I've had a wonderful time. Don't talk Asbury Park or Atlantic City to me! A stay in the Kingston Hospital gives you everything you can get in any hotel in the United States."

This is what was written by Miss Jane Van Etten, director of public relations for the hospital. Her press release continued as follows:

"A hospital, however, is not a hotel and a hotel is not a hospital. To be sure they have the same routine incoming and outgoing guests, the preparation of meals, room service and a large staff of workers connected with manifold activities. However, the similarity ends there. The hotel does not need a staff of highly trained nurses or is the hotel a veritable laboratory of skilled dietitians planning meals as carefully as a doctor makes out a prescription.

"One of the greatest differences lies in the equipment and its replacement. Furniture and furnishings in a hotel may last for years and the initial investment amortized over a long period of time. A hospital manager is faced with another problem. If a safer anaesthetic machine comes on the market, a better incubator or a more comfortable hospital bed, thousands of dollars of good equipment must be discarded as obsolete, and the safer, better, more efficient equipment purchased at once.

"How can hospital management possibly cope with the problem? The new equipment and the costly improvements must be procured.

"The Kingston Hospital has been very fortunate in its gifts from the Kingston Hospital Auxiliary, made possible largely by the legacy from Mrs. George Howells. These past weeks the store rooms of the hospital have been bulging wth mattresses, beds, bed-side stands, tables, chairs, lamps, etc., which gradually have been moved into the freshly renovated second floor semi-private and private rooms. Already the walls of the wards and porches have been made attractive with their soft green paint and soon new beds and furniture will replace the present stock. These changes could not have been made possible without the civic responsibility of the individual known as the 'donor.'

"The word 'donor' suggests a wealthy person. Yet everyone can be a donor with a contribution as small or as large as a donor can afford. Hospitals must have donors or they cannot go beyond the budget—cannot stand ready to meet possible emergencies or take proper care of the health and well being of their many patients.

"The other day a husband brought his wife some distance to the Kingston Hospital. 'Sure,' he said, 'we've got a hospital in our town, it isn't like this hospital. It doesn't have the swell rooms and the grand equipment that you have here.'

"That's a fine reputation for the Kingston Hospital."

Japanese Feel Optimistic

Tokyo, March 1 (AP)—The Japanese were cheered today by news that the United States would support their claims to a tiny group of islands off the northeast coast of Japan. The isles—the Habomai group—have been controlled by Russia since the end of World War 2. Special Ambassador John Foster Dulles told a Washington news conference yesterday the Russian seizure of the isles was improper. At the same time Dulles said the U. S. might refuse to recognize Russian control of the Kurile islands and the southern half of Sakhalin island, both formerly part of Japan's empire.

Pellet Pierces Window

Police were notified at 4:40 p. m., Wednesday that an air rifle pellet went through a window near the Kingston Hospital kitchen. Officers Walter Fitzgerald and Frank Sammons were assigned to investigate and said they had taken an air rifle from a boy but without definite indication that it was the one that fired the pellet. Detectives were later assigned. Several weeks ago a pellet went through a large window in the hospital's operating room.

Named Czar

Melton Chairman Of Uptown Group For Kingston Days

Jay Melton, manager of the local store of the Standard Furniture Company on Fair street, has been appointed chairman of the Uptown Retail Merchants Committee of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce. This announcement was made today by President Lawrence J. MacAvery. Other members of the committee are Byron S. Chatham, Edwin L. Davey, Joseph L. Kramer, Stuart S. Randall, Harry Reppert and George W. Schneider.

MacAvery stated that the appointment of a separate regional committee represents a change in chamber policy. Previously a city-wide committee had been appointed. This year it will be done on a regional basis and events sponsored by those committees will be self-supporting. Steps are being taken to set up committees in the downtown and central Broadway areas also. MacAvery continued, "unless the three regional business areas plan cooperatively, such events as Kingston Days may well become a promotion of a single area committee, which some claim it should be." Christmas decorating has been conducted on this basis for the past two years, assisted by the Chamber of Commerce staff.

Carnegie Graduates Form Local Club

Thirty graduates from the two Kingston classes of the Dale Carnegie Institute of Effective Public Speaking held their first meeting last night for the purpose of organizing a club to permit furtherance of speech training and speech practice for the members. Meeting at Schoentag's Restaurant, Route 9W North, the group devoted the first part of the session to a discussion of the proposed constitution and by-laws drawn up by Bernhardt S. Kramer and Victor Fletcher.

Acting President Charles S. Jones Jr., appointed Elizabeth Heitzman, Mary Brown and John Ceccaerelli to the club's program committee. Other temporary officers of the club are Roy Wulff, vice-president; Eva Maxwell, secretary; John Frain, assistant secretary, and Dennis Barnhart, treasurer.

After a recess and refreshments, each member of the club gave a two-minute prepared speech.

The club, for which a name has not yet been decided, plans to meet twice each month and the next scheduled meeting will be on March 13 at 7:15 p. m. All Dale Carnegie Institute graduates are invited to attend.

The two Dale Carnegie classes in the Kingston area were sponsored by the American Legion. Kingston Class No. 1 consisted of 40 members and graduated last summer. The 24 members of Class No. 2 graduated in New York February 7, 1951 and plans are in the making for a third group.

More Will Be Involved

New York, March 1 (AP)—Renewed grand jury activity spurred speculation today that more players and still another college might be drawn into the basketball scandal web. Rumors persisted that a referee who has officiated at Madison Square Garden games is sought for questioning. The term of grand jury investigating bribery and fixed games has been extended a month. Assistant District Attorney Vincent A. G. O'Connor, who was granted the extension, said "we are endeavoring to uncover all the details of the corruption of these athletes."

Publication Is Prevented

Buenos Aires, March 1 (AP)—A police investigation shuttered the printing plant of the leading anti-Peron newspaper La Presna today and halted indefinitely efforts to resume publication of the strike-bound critic of the government. As non-strikers made plans for efforts to get out Friday's issue of the paper, Federal Judge Roberto Durrieu last night again thwarted their efforts, this time ordering the building cleared until he completes an investigation of Tuesday's riot in which one non-striker was killed and 15 others injured.

No Clarification Given

Washington, March 1 (AP) — President Truman did nothing today to clarify his future political intentions. He was asked again about the ratification of the 22nd amendment which will prohibit future White House occupants from seeking third terms. His comment was the same as that he issued through his press secretary yesterday: The amendment, he said, does not affect Mr. Truman. But he didn't say what he meant by that.

Grand Union Cuts Steaks to 79 Cents

New York, March 1 (AP) — Grand Union Co., large eastern food store chain, today cut prices of sirloin steak 20 cents a pound and porterhouse 10 cents a pound, saying the reductions reflected lower wholesale prices.

The reductions, effective in the metropolitan and suburban areas, brought Grand Union's sirloin to 79 cents a pound and porterhouse to 89 cents. The chain cut lamb chops 10 cents a pound to 99 cents yesterday.

Wilkinson Gives Out New Order

Howard C. Shurter, director of county civil defense, said today he had received from Col. Lawrence Wilkinson, acting chairman and director of the New York State Civil Defense Commission, orders which limit distribution of the confidential yellow alert signal.

The order is aimed at minimizing confusion and disorder and to curtail avoidable loss of manpower to essential industry.

The signal means that an attack is likely. It is to be issued when information has been received indicating that "hostile aircraft are over or en route toward the North American continent."

The alert may be communicated to civilian defense directors members of staff that directors may designate, hospitals having capacity of 100 beds or more, institutions for incompetent persons and the infirm, public utilities, heads of departments in state, county and local governments and other persons, organizations and institutions as may be designated by the state commission.

In general, the alert is communicated to persons or organizations "having emergency responsibilities which cannot be safely deferred until the red alert." The regulation permits, but does not require transmission of the yellow alert.

The Joiners

News of Interest to Fraternal Organizations

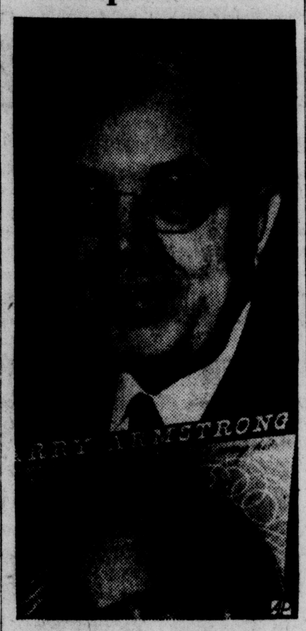
A regular meeting of Charles DeWitt Council, 91, J.O.U.A.M., will be held Friday at 8 p. m. at Mechanics' Hall, 14 Henry street. All members are requested to attend. A social hour with refreshments will follow the business session.

The regular meeting of Kingston Chapter, 155, O.E.S., will be held Friday night at Masonic Temple, 31 Albany avenue. The star degrees will be conferred on a class of candidates. The birthday of the chapter also will be celebrated. All Eastern Stars and Master Masons are cordially invited to attend.

Will Need Licenses

Washington, March 1 (AP)—The Commerce Department announced today that, beginning tomorrow, licenses will be required for the shipment of any article to the Soviet bloc. This was a further tightening of already strict controls of exports to Russia and its satellites.

Composer Dies



Harry Armstrong (above), who wrote the music for the famous song "Sweet Adeline," died in New York, Feb. 28, at the age of 72. He is shown holding a copy of the song, the lyrics for which were written by Richard Gerard who died in 1948.

Tavern Keepers Told Unity Key To Good Future

More than 300 men and women enjoyed the organization's 12th annual banquet Wednesday in The Barn and heard the Ulster County Hotel and Restaurant Liquor Dealers Association, Inc., praised for its efficient administration.

"Records show that Ulster county is outstanding in conforming to rules and regulations of the State Liquor Authority," said Deputy Commissioner George P. Butterly of New York, who urged the association to increase its membership.

His advice was to increase the roster for unified action against opposition to the sale of alcoholic beverages. "The drys are ever vigilant," he stressed, as he advised a vigorous program to match their efforts.

Henry Doell, another deputy commissioner from Albany, concurred with Butterly and complimented the county association for its progress in the past 12 years.

Need Unified Front

President George Broome of Saugerties thanked the association members for their cooperation and urged that they double their efforts to increase their number for a unified front.

Robert E. Teetsel of The Barn, a past president, who served for four years, in his remarks as master of ceremonies, also called for unity among tavern owners for strength in carrying on their projects.

President Broome in referring to the late Jasper Martalto said "his memory will live forever with us." He was one of the real active members of the association and one of the committee that ran a clambake last summer raising $750 for the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital.

Law Praises Cooperation

Other speakers praising the association for its effective program and cooperation with law enforcement authorities were District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn, Sheriff Cluett Schantz and Attorney Thomas Plunket, Ulster county Democratic party chairman.

Among other guests were Frank Martocci, attorney for the association; and members of the Ulster County Alcoholic Beverage Control Board—Ralph Finnegan, Allen Baker and Harry Howard. Larry Jensen was unable to attend.

County Judge John M. Cashin regretfully missed his first banquet of the organization in some years, and others unable to accept invitations were Senator Arthur H. Wicks and Assemblyman John F. Wadlin, both of whom had to attend a session of the State Legislature.

John Kelliher, state organizer, State Liquor Dealers Association, also was missing because he had important matters up for action in Albany.

Served on Committee

Last night's banquet was arranged by a committee under the chairmanship of Frank Carpino. Serving were Emile Jordan, Albert Jones and Bert Tresider for ticket distribution and on the floor committee were Anthony Saccoman, Ray Amell, Charles Hoppe, Thomas Provenzano, Floyd Scott and Joseph Wipper.

Officers of the association serving with President George Broome are Charles Hoppe, vice president; Peter Mancuso, secretary; Emile Jordan, financial secretary and Frank Carpino, secretary.

There was a special show featuring entertainers now appearing at The Barn, Miss Sally Saylin, pianist and singer and Arlette, a petite songstress direct from Paris, France. The Dunderberg Mountaineers favored with music during the dinner.

Moore Services Held

Tokyo, March 1 (AP)—Memorial services were held today for the late Maj. Gen. Bryant E. Moore. The U. S. Ninth Corps commander died Saturday of a heart attack after a helicopter crash during a Korean war front inspection tour. Mrs. Douglas MacArthur represented the United Nations commander at the services. Also present were Lt. Gen. George Stratemeyer, Far East Air Force commander, Maj. Gen. Charles A. Willoughby, MacArthur's chief of intelligence, Maj. Gen. Doyle O. Hickey, chief of staff of the Far East Command, leading diplomats and representatives of all branches of the service.

Buck Deer Dies

The deer which plunged through a window of the Wiltwyck Motors building on North Front street Tuesday night and was taken to Forsyth Park, died there yesterday afternoon. It was subsequently reported that the animal was a buck and not a doe.

Gross Makes Appearance

New York, March 1 (AP)—Former bookie Harry Gross made a second appearance before the rackets-probing Brooklyn grand jury yesterday, and it was indicated he was talking again. The former head of an alleged $20,000,000-a-year-gambling outfit was affable as he emerged from the grand jury room. His lawyer, Michael Kern, told newsmen: "As Gross' attorney  I told him not to perjure himself and not to be contemptuous. There is one thing certain — he will not refuse to answer questions put to him by the grand jury. He is not going to make himself liable to any citation for contempt."

Garage Burns Out

South River, N. J., March 1 (AP) —A $100,000 blaze burned out a garage of the White Motor Transportation Co. last night and destroyed or damaged five trailer-trucks and other equipment. Four fire companies battled the fire for an hour and a half before bringing it under control. Three firemen were overcome by smoke and one, Edward Gilewski of South River, was detained overnight at St. Peter's Hospital in nearby New Brunswick. Fire officials said the fire apparently started at the rear of the garage.

Patient Declares Stay in Hospital Made Comfortable

A woman patient leaving the Kingston Hospital a day or two ago said, "I've had a wonderful time. Don't talk Asbury Park or Atlantic City to me! A stay in the Kingston Hospital gives you everything you can get in any hotel in the United States."

This is what was written by Miss Jane Van Etten, director of public relations for the hospital. Her press release continued as follows:

"A hospital, however, is not a hotel and a hotel is not a hospital. To be sure they have the same routine incoming and outgoing guests, the preparation of meals, room service and a large staff of workers connected with manifold activities. However, the similarity ends there. The hotel does not need a staff of highly trained nurses or is the hotel a veritable laboratory of skilled dietitians planning meals as carefully as a doctor makes out a prescription.

"One of the greatest differences lies in the equipment and its replacement. Furniture and furnishings in a hotel may last for years and the initial investment amortized over a long period of time. A hospital manager is faced with another problem. If a safer anaesthetic machine comes on the market, a better incubator or a more comfortable hospital bed, thousands of dollars of good equipment must be discarded as obsolete, and the safer, better, more efficient equipment purchased at once.

"How can hospital management possibly cope with the problem? The new equipment and the costly improvements must be procured.

"The Kingston Hospital has been very fortunate in its gifts from the Kingston Hospital Auxiliary, made possible largely by the legacy from Mrs. George Howells. These past weeks the store rooms of the hospital have been bulging wth mattresses, beds, bed-side stands, tables, chairs, lamps, etc., which gradually have been moved into the freshly renovated second floor semi-private and private rooms. Already the walls of the wards and porches have been made attractive with their soft green paint and soon new beds and furniture will replace the present stock. John Kelliher, state organizer, State Liquor Dealers Association, also was missing because he had important matters up for action in Albany.

Served on Committee

Last night's banquet was arranged by a committee under the chairmanship of Frank Carpino. Serving were Emile Jordan, Albert Jones and Bert Tresider for ticket distribution and on the floor committee were Anthony Saccoman, Ray Amell, Charles Hoppe, Thomas Provenzano, Floyd Scott and Joseph Wipper.

Officers of the association serving with President George Broome are Charles Hoppe, vice president; Peter Mancuso, secretary; Emile Jordan, financial secretary and Frank Carpino, secretary.

There was a special show featuring entertainers now appearing at The Barn, Miss Sally Saylin, pianist and singer and Arlette, a petite songstress direct from Paris, France. The Dunderberg Mountaineers favored with music during the dinner.

Moore Services Held

Tokyo, March 1 (AP)—Memorial services were held today for the late Maj. Gen. Bryant E. Moore. The U. S. Ninth Corps commander died Saturday of a heart attack after a helicopter crash during a Korean war front inspection tour. Mrs. Douglas MacArthur represented the United Nations commander at the services. Also present were Lt. Gen. George Stratemeyer, Far East Air Force commander, Maj. Gen. Charles A. Willoughby, MacArthur's chief of intelligence, Maj. Gen. Doyle O. Hickey, chief of staff of the Far East Command, leading diplomats and representatives of all branches of the service.

Buck Deer Dies

The deer which plunged through a window of the Wiltwyck Motors building on North Front street Tuesday night and was taken to Forsyth Park, died there yesterday afternoon. It was subsequently reported that the animal was a buck and not a doe.

Gross Makes Appearance

New York, March 1 (AP)—Former bookie Harry Gross made a second appearance before the rackets-probing Brooklyn grand jury yesterday, and it was indicated he was talking again. The former head of an alleged $20,000,000-a-year-gambling outfit was affable as he emerged from the grand jury room. His lawyer, Michael Kern, told newsmen: "As Gross' attorney  I told him not to perjure himself and not to be contemptuous. There is one thing certain—he will not refuse to answer questions put to him by the grand jury. He is not going to make himself liable to any citation for contempt."

Garage Burns Out

South River, N. J., March 1 (AP)—A $100,000 blaze burned out a garage of the White Motor Transportation Co. last night and destroyed or damaged five trailer-trucks and other equipment. Four fire companies battled the fire for an hour and a half before bringing it under control. Three firemen were overcome by smoke and one, Edward Gilewski of South River, was detained overnight at St. Peter's Hospital in nearby New Brunswick. Fire officials said the fire apparently started at the rear of the garage.

Patient Declares Stay in Hospital Made Comfortable

A woman patient leaving the Kingston Hospital a day or two ago said, "I've had a wonderful time. Don't talk Asbury Park or Atlantic City to me! A stay in the Kingston Hospital gives you everything you can get in any hotel in the United States."

This is what was written by Miss Jane Van Etten, director of public relations for the hospital. Her press release continued as follows:

"A hospital, however, is not a hotel and a hotel is not a hospital. To be sure they have the same routine incoming and outgoing guests, the preparation of meals, room service and a large staff of workers connected with manifold activities. However, the similarity ends there. The hotel does not need a staff of highly trained nurses or is the hotel a veritable laboratory of skilled dietitians planning meals as carefully as a doctor makes out a prescription.

"One of the greatest differences lies in the equipment and its replacement. Furniture and furnishings in a hotel may last for years and the initial investment amortized over a long period of time. A hospital manager is faced with another problem. If a safer anaesthetic machine comes on the market, a better incubator or a more comfortable hospital bed, thousands of dollars of good equipment must be discarded as obsolete, and the safer, better, more efficient equipment purchased at once.

"How can hospital management possibly cope with the problem? The new equipment and the costly improvements must be procured.

"The Kingston Hospital has been very fortunate in its gifts from the Kingston Hospital Auxiliary, made possible largely by the legacy from Mrs. George Howells. These past weeks the store rooms of the hospital have been bulging wth mattresses, beds, bed-side stands, tables, chairs, lamps, etc., which gradually have been moved into the freshly renovated second floor semi-private and private rooms. Already the walls of the wards and porches have been made attractive with their soft green paint and soon new beds and furniture will replace the present stock. These changes could not have been made possible without the civic responsibility of the individual known as the 'donor.'

"The word 'donor' suggests a wealthy person. Yet everyone can be a donor with a contribution as small or as large as a donor can afford. Hospitals must have donors or they cannot go beyond the budget—cannot stand ready to meet possible emergencies or take proper care of the health and well being of their many patients.

"The other day a husband brought his wife some distance to the Kingston Hospital. 'Sure,' he said, 'we've got a hospital in our town, it isn't like this hospital. It doesn't have the swell rooms and the grand equipment that you have here.'

"That's a fine reputation for the Kingston Hospital."

Japanese Feel Optimistic

Tokyo, March 1 (AP)—The Japanese were cheered today by news that the United States would support their claims to a tiny group of islands off the northeast coast of Japan. The isles—the Habomai group—have been controlled by Russia since the end of World War 2. Special Ambassador John Foster Dulles told a Washington news conference yesterday the Russian seizure of the isles was improper. At the same time Dulles said the U. S. might refuse to recognize Russian control of the Kurile islands and the southern half of Sakhalin island, both formerly part of Japan's empire.

Pellet Pierces Window

Police were notified at 4:40 p. m., Wednesday that an air rifle pellet went through a window near the Kingston Hospital kitchen. Officers Walter Fitzgerald and Frank Sammons were assigned to investigate and said they had taken an air rifle from a boy but without definite indication that it was the one that fired the pellet. Detectives were later assigned. Several weeks ago a pellet went through a large window in the hospital's operating room.

Named Czar

Melton Chairman Of Uptown Group For Kingston Days

Jay Melton, manager of the local store of the Standard Furniture Company on Fair street, has been appointed chairman of the Uptown Retail Merchants Committee of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce. This announcement was made today by President Lawrence J. MacAvery. Other members of the committee are Byron S. Chatham, Edwin L. Davey, Joseph L. Kramer, Stuart S. Randall, Harry Reppert and George W. Schneider.

MacAvery stated that the appointment of a separate regional committee represents a change in chamber policy. Previously a city-wide committee had been appointed. This year it will be done on a regional basis and events sponsored by those committees will be self-supporting. Steps are being taken to set up committees in the downtown and central Broadway areas also, MacAvery continued, "unless the three regional business areas plan cooperatively, such events as Kingston Days may well become a promotion of a single area committee, which some claim it should be." Christmas decorating has been conducted on this basis for the past two years, assisted by the Chamber of Commerce staff.

Carnegie Graduates Form Local Club

Thirty graduates from the two Kingston classes of the Dale Carnegie Institute of Effective Public Speaking held their first meeting last night for the purpose of organizing a club to permit furtherance of speech training and speech practice for the members. Meeting at Schoentag's Restaurant, Route 9W North, the group devoted the first part of the session to a discussion of the proposed constitution and by-laws drawn up by Bernhardt S. Kramer and Victor Fletcher.

Acting President Charles S. Jones Jr., appointed Elizabeth Heitzman, Mary Brown and John Ceccaerelli to the club's program committee. Other temporary officers of the club are Roy Wulff, vice-president; Eva Maxwell, secretary; John Frain, assistant secretary, and Dennis Barnhart, treasurer.

After a recess and refreshments, each member of the club gave a two-minute prepared speech.

The club, for which a name has not yet been decided, plans to meet twice each month and the next scheduled meeting will be on March 13 at 7:15 p. m. All Dale Carnegie Institute graduates are invited to attend.

The two Dale Carnegie classes in the Kingston area were sponsored by the American Legion. Kingston Class No. 1 consisted of 40 members and graduated last summer. The 24 members of Class No. 2 graduated in New York February 7, 1951 and plans are in the making for a third group.

More Will Be Involved

New York, March 1 (AP)—Renewed grand jury activity spurred speculation today that more players and still another college might be drawn into the basketball scandal web. Rumors persisted that a referee who has officiated at Madison Square Garden games is sought for questioning. The term of grand jury investigating bribery and fixed games has been extended a month. Assistant District Attorney Vincent A. G. O'Connor, who was granted the extension, said "we are endeavoring to uncover all the details of the corruption of these athletes."

Publication Is Prevented

Buenos Aires, March 1 (AP)—A police investigation shuttered the printing plant of the leading anti-Peron newspaper La Presna today and halted indefinitely efforts to resume publication of the strike-bound critic of the government. As non-strikers made plans for efforts to get out Friday's issue of the paper, Federal Judge Roberto Durrieu last night again thwarted their efforts, this time ordering the building cleared until he completes an investigation of Tuesday's riot in which one non-striker was killed and 15 others injured.

No Clarification Given

Washington, March 1 (AP) — President Truman did nothing today to clarify his future political intentions. He was asked again about the ratification of the 22nd amendment which will prohibit future White House occupants from seeking third terms. His comment was the same as that he issued through his press secretary yesterday: The amendment, he said, does not affect Mr. Truman. But he didn't say what he meant by that.

Grand Union Cuts Steaks to 79 Cents

New York, March 1 (AP) — Grand Union Co., large eastern food store chain, today cut prices of sirloin steak 20 cents a pound and porterhouse 10 cents a pound, saying the reductions reflected lower wholesale prices.

The reductions, effective in the metropolitan and suburban areas, brought Grand Union's sirloin to 79 cents a pound and porterhouse to 89 cents. The chain cut lamb chops 10 cents a pound to 99 cents yesterday.

Wilkinson Gives Out New Order

Howard C. Shurter, director of county civil defense, said today he had received from Col. Lawrence Wilkinson, acting chairman and director of the New York State Civil Defense Commission, orders which limit distribution of the confidential yellow alert signal.

The order is aimed at minimizing confusion and disorder and to curtail avoidable loss of manpower to essential industry.

The signal means that an attack is likely. It is to be issued when information has been received indicating that "hostile aircraft are over or en route toward the North American continent."

The alert may be communicated to civilian defense directors members of staff that directors may designate, hospitals having capacity of 100 beds or more, institutions for incompetent persons and the infirm, public utilities, heads of departments in state, county and local governments and other persons, organizations and institutions as may be designated by the state commission.

In general, the alert is communicated to persons or organizations "having emergency responsibilities which cannot be safely deferred until the red alert." The regulation permits, but does not require transmission of the yellow alert.

The Joiners

News of Interest to Fraternal Organizations

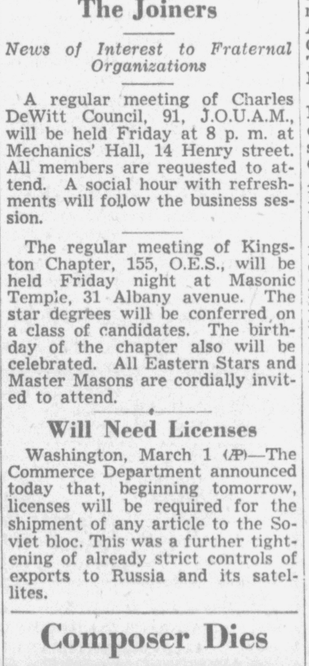
A regular meeting of Charles DeWitt Council, 91, J.O.U.A.M., will be held Friday at 8 p. m. at Mechanics' Hall, 14 Henry street. All members are requested to attend. A social hour with refreshments will follow the business session.

The regular meeting of Kingston Chapter, 155, O.E.S., will be held Friday night at Masonic Temple, 31 Albany avenue. The star degrees will be conferred on a class of candidates. The birthday of the chapter also will be celebrated. All Eastern Stars and Master Masons are cordially invited to attend.

Will Need Licenses

Washington, March 1 (AP)—The Commerce Department announced today that, beginning tomorrow, licenses will be required for the shipment of any article to the Soviet bloc. This was a further tightening of already strict controls of exports to Russia and its satellites.

Composer Dies



Harry Armstrong (above), who wrote the music for the famous song "Sweet Adeline," died in New York, Feb. 28, at the age of 72. He is shown holding a copy of the song, the lyrics for which were written by Richard Gerard who died in 1948.

Tavern Keepers Told Unity Key To Good Future

More than 300 men and women enjoyed the organization's 12th annual banquet Wednesday in The Barn and heard the Ulster County Hotel and Restaurant Liquor Dealers Association, Inc., praised for its efficient administration.

"Records show that Ulster county is outstanding in conforming to rules and regulations of the State Liquor Authority," said Deputy Commissioner George P. Butterly of New York, who urged the association to increase its membership.

His advice was to increase the roster for unified action against opposition to the sale of alcoholic beverages. "The drys are ever vigilant," he stressed, as he advised a vigorous program to match their efforts.

Henry Doell, another deputy commissioner from Albany, concurred with Butterly and complimented the county association for its progress in the past 12 years.

Need Unified Front

President George Broome of Saugerties thanked the association members for their cooperation and urged that they double their efforts to increase their number for a unified front.

Robert E. Teetsel of The Barn, a past president, who served for four years, in his remarks as master of ceremonies, also called for unity among tavern owners for strength in carrying on their projects.

President Broome in referring to the late Jasper Martalto said "his memory will live forever with us." He was one of the real active members of the association and one of the committee that ran a clambake last summer raising $750 for the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital.

Law Praises Cooperation

Other speakers praising the association for its effective program and cooperation with law enforcement authorities were District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn, Sheriff Cluett Schantz and Attorney Thomas Plunket, Ulster county Democratic party chairman.

Among other guests were Frank Martocci, attorney for the association; and members of the Ulster County Alcoholic Beverage Control Board—Ralph Finnegan, Allen Baker and Harry Howard. Larry Jensen was unable to attend.

County Judge John M. Cashin regretfully missed his first banquet of the organization in some years, and others unable to accept invitations were Senator Arthur H. Wicks and Assemblyman John F. Wadlin, both of whom had to attend a session of the State Legislature.

John Kelliher, state organizer, State Liquor Dealers Association, also was missing because he had important matters up for action in Albany.

Last night's banquet was arranged by a committee under the chairmanship of Frank Carpino. Serving were Emile Jordan, Albert Jones and Bert Tresider for ticket distribution and on the floor committee were Anthony Saccoman, Ray Amell, Charles Hoppe, Thomas Provenzano, Floyd Scott and Joseph Wipper.
